Othoson Homestead Burned

Was Old Landmark At Sassafras, Garage Destroyed.

The home of Perry C. Othoson, an old landmark in the town of Sassafras, Md., six miles from Middletown, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin, at 2 o'clock Friday morning. A garage in the rear of the house was also destroyed.

Mr. Othoson and his son Earl were alone in the house. Mrs. Othoson was away visiting relatives. The two men were awakened shortly before two o'clock by dense clouds of smoke pouring into the room where they were sleeping. Hastily donning their clothes, they groped their way to the stairs and escaped from the burning house.

A brisk wind was blowing and the flames rapidly spread throughout the home, the structure soon being a mass of fire. Neighbors, attracted by the glare of the fire, rushed to aid the two men. They formed a bucket brigade. Others turned their attention to saving some of the furniture, but only a few pieces on the lower floor were saved.

The Middletown Fire Company, six miles away, was summoned, in an effort to save the old home. The heavy machine, however, was unable to make headway on the dirt road between Warwick and Sassafras, and after becoming stalled in the loose roadbed several times, was compelled to return to Middletown.

Embers from the burning structure were blown for some distance by the wind, and the garage roof soon broke into flames. Despite efforts were made to save this building, but the fire got beyond the control of the brigade. An automobile which had been placed in the garage was saved.

The home, a large brick structure, has been in possession of the Othoson family for many years. It was looked upon as one of the landmarks of the town. A mill adjoining the property was destroyed by fire several years ago.

Resolutions of Respect

At a meeting of the Emmanuel Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary Chestertown Parish, Diocese of Easton, Jan. 7, 1923, the following resolution was passed:

Whereas it has pleased our Heavenly Father to call home to her Eternal Rest and Everlasting Reward our dear friend and fellow worker, Mrs. Mary Emory Hines, and

Whereas we are deeply grieved and filled with a keen sense of our great loss in the "going home" of one who has always been so active and interested in every department of diocesan and parish life, we desire to place on record this testimony of our great esteem, affection and appreciation.

Be it also resolved, that these resolutions be entered on the minutes of the Auxiliary and a copy be sent to the members of Mrs. Hines' family, with the expression of our sincere sympathy and deep regret.

May the God of Peace grant her eternal rest and let perpetual light shine upon her.

IN MEMORIAM

In remembrance of our dear mother, Emma Fowler, who departed this life six months ago July 19, 1922.

Six months have passed since that sad day
When our dear mother was called away;
She was always patient, loving and kind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Tenderly, kind and true;
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
From a world of pain and sorrow
To a land of peace and rest,
God has taken you, dear mother,
Where you found eternal rest.

By her son, Edward Fowler and Wife.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE DEFEATED LOYOLA

Once again Washington College and Loyola made basketball fandom of Baltimore sit up and take notice when they clashed Saturday night at the Fourth Regiment Armory in a breath-taking contest that was always in the balance until the final whistle blew, with the Eastern Shoremen on the long end of a 26-to-21 count.

Despite the closeness of the score there was something about the play which made the Chestertown lads seem more in command of the situation than they did a year ago. In the first place, Washington jumped into the lead right at the start when Carrington and Dumschott got goals from the court and remained continually out in front, although Loyola twice crept up to within two points of Kibler's "Flying Pentagon." In the second place, Washington scored just twice as many goals from the court as its opponent, the visitors getting 12 and the locals 6. Cummings, for Loyola, made nine shots from the foul circle, while Carroll for the Maroon and Black, got two out of three.

The contest early resolved itself into a battle between each attack and the opposition's five-man defense. Loyola has been employing this style of defense for some time, but it was something new to see the Sha team adopt the same measures. The Washington players said they had only recently selected this method of keeping the foe from under their basket, their coach having given the order just prior to starting on the sensational trip through Virginia.

How well it has been working is seen from the fact that in the six games played and won by Washington in six days no combination has been able to score more than 25 points. Loyola got only one fair shot at the basket from within the 15-foot mark.

Play Saturday night was lightning fast from the start, and it was far different from that which tried conclusions with Gallaudet at the same hall the Saturday before. The visitors were somewhat surprised at the stiffness of the opposition. Jim Lacy Cummings and Captain Kelly played great ball. Cummings did good work from the foul circle and rang up a pair from the court. Lacy was everywhere and he, too, snared a pair of double counters.

Dumschott, with four goals from the court and a dashing floor game, was, perhaps, the particular bright star of the contest, but his edge, if any, over Captain Gordy, Carroll, Fiore and Carrington was very slight. Carroll, however, was ill and did not quite equal the game he played last winter.

Maryland certainly has three crack quints in Washington, Loyola and Mount St. Mary's, and after witnessing Saturday's battle local fans have only regret for the fact that all three do not play all of their games in this city. Line-up and summary: Washington—Dumschott, f.; Carroll, f.; Gordy, c.; Fiore, g.; Carrington, g. Loyola—Barrett, f.; Lacy, f.; Cummings, c.; Menton, g.; Kelly, g.

Substitutes—Coughlin for Barrett, Barrett for Coughlin, Johnston for Carrington, (Carrington out on personal fouls). Washington scoring: Goals from court—Dumschott 4, Gordy 3, Carroll 2, Carrington 2, Fiore. Foul goals—Carroll 2 out of 3. Loyola scoring: Goals from court—Lacy 2, Cummings 2, Barrett, Kelley. Foul goals—Cummings, 9 out of 15. Referee—McDevitt. Umpire—Voith. Time—20-minute halves.—Baltimore Sun.

Enlarge Quarters

The Church Hill Bank, with quarters in Guest's Opera House, which they own, is making extensive alterations and improvements. The room formerly occupied by a store is being transformed into a director's room. Adjoining this there has been a pool room, which is now being torn away so that the space may be used for store purposes in the future. On the whole, this bank has made splendid progress during the last few years, and the need for increased space fortunately can be well supplied, as the building in which they are located is of such size as permits expansion.—Record.

Howard N. Baldwin, of Chestertonw, and John W. Macklem, of Havre de Grace, who left here about three weeks ago for Florida, in an automobile, report having a most delightful trip and reached their destination without accident. They also state that with the exception of the State of Georgia, the roads were excellent. Messrs. Baldwin and Macklen took along a camping outfit and intend living in the great outdoors while basking in the sunshine of the southland.

I have heard it said that the first thing to consider when going into business of any kind you must get a good location.

I have always said that if you have the goods and the PRICES the location was not all.

Well all that I have to say is that I am satisfied with my location of course you know what I mean.

When any one enters my place for the first time this is what they say, "well, I never expected to see any thing like this." I am sure that you would say the same thing if you would call.
