Willie Olife, Lloyd Kennedy, Chas. and Earl Nickerson, of Kennedyville, killed 16 wild geese last week in Mrs. Will Pote's field. Mr. Pote being sick was not able to help with the sport, but enjoyed eating a pair of the fine birds.

A dairyman who has individual drinking cups in his cow stables tells us that during the recent drought it became necessary to shut the water off and turn his cows out to water. They promptly dropped from 40 to 35 gallons. When rains came and the water was again turned in the milk yield jumped to 45 gallons. It seems there is more than one way of getting water in your milk.

A special train came to Chestertown Tuesday loaded with rails and other equipment for the building of a siding from the main line of the local railroad to the E. S. Adkins lumberyard. A. S. Turner & Sons will join in this enterprise by also erecting a 12,000 gallon gasoline tank and running a pipe line to his garage on High street. Under this plan Mr. Turner hopes to sell gasoline cheap.

Owing to the terrible condition of the road over which Carrier Charles M. Hadaway has to travel he did not finish his route Tuesday until 7.30 p. m. He got in a rut and broke a piece of his car which detained him also. He left two passengers, Judge J. Henry Thompson and Walter Kendall of Rock Hall, in Chestertown, expecting to return home not later than 3 p. m. These gentlemen waited patiently until 7 p. m. when they engaged a seat home shortly afterward. Mr. Kendall had driven from Piney Neck and left his team at Wagner's Shops, Edesville. We have not heard whether the horse remained there or not. These men were invited to a beef steak supper but were afraid to leave for fear that Mr. Hadaway might arrive at any minute. The Judge and Walter each blamed the other with being the "hoodoo."

Rural carrier D. B. Kendall while delivering mail on his route during the heavy snow storm on Monday was in collision with another car. While none of the occupants were hurt, both cars were badly damaged and Mr. Kendall was compelled to lay off one day for repairs to his car. Tuesday morning while delivering mail in Broad Neck section, Carrier Fred S. Russell's car became disabled and he wat compelled to send to Chestertown for assistance. The roads in that section are in the worst condition they have been in for sometime and travel is not only difficult but hazardous.

M. Sklut, who buys large quantities of furs during the season, says that he has already paid one man in Delaware $13,000 for muskrat hides and other furs.

The League of Women Voters of the 4th and 7th districts sent canned fruits, jellies and pickles to the Woman's Fair in December to the amount of $8.50 which was to be credited in the apportionment of league expenses. Miss Lavinia Engle, the State League Manager, will be in Chestertown on February 6th, at 2.30 p. m., at the Business Men's Room. Deaths

Mrs. Fannie Dennis fell asleep in the arms of her loving and dutiful daughter, Mrs. Frances D. Culp, on Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, at her home on Washington avenue, aged 68. She had been in poor health for some months but was able to be about the house. The deceased was a good woman, gentle, kind and lovable. She was God's handmaiden, one who loved her religion and lived it every day. "She has gone to be with Christ which is far better." She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Culp, a son, Frank P. Dennis, of Philadelphia, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Rumble, who lives with Mrs. Culp. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. at the home on Washington avenue, Rev. N. O. Gibson officiating. The interment will take place in Philadelphia on Monday; C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

William H. Lambert, Jr., well-known citizen of Chestertown, died at his home on Maple avenue, Tuesday night at 10 o'clock, after an illness of ten weeks, aged 62 years. He leaves a widow, and the following children: Misses Laura, Eunice and Isabelle Lambert, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Ruth L. Faulkner, of Baltimore, and Henry Lambert, of Philadelphia. He leaves four sisters, Mrs. Alice Burchinal, Mrs. Lula Brown, Mrs. Emma Miller, Mrs. Anna G. Ellegood, and one brother, Edward Lambert, of Easton. The deceased was for many years prominent in politics in the county, having served as deputy county treasurer, clerk to county commissioners and deputy postmaster of Chestertown. For the past two years he had been employed as superintendent of the Md., Del. & Va. Railway, interests here. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at one o'clock from his late residence, conducted by the Revs. Omar E. Jones and N. O. Gibson. The bearers were M. A. Toulson, Wm. H. Lambert, of Edw., Dr. H. L. Dodd, Henry Brown, Merrick Clements and Edw. Lambert; interment in Chester Cemetery. Undertaker Charles L. Dodd.

Mrs. Barbara M. Vogt, wife of Elmer T. Vogt, and daughter of Mrs. Thomas B. Elliott, of Chestertown, died Thursday at Maryland General Hospital, aged 30. She leaves a husband and two children, Edward, aged 9 and Dorothy Virginia, 17 months old. She was a lovable, sweet girl, and made friends wherever she went. The body will be brought to Chestertown today and funeral held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. N. O. Gibson officiating, interment in Chester Cemetery.

POULTRY

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY is one of the largest crops of our state to-day. It is now almost as valuable as Maryland's Wheat Crop.

If then, as an industry it is one of our best producers, it would seem that we should use modern methods of production and growing.

We have given careful thought to this branch of our trade and have selected for your inspection the latest machines and accessories for poultry production.

We offer for your consideration and inspection, the

BUCKEYE INCUBATORS AND BROODERS

We carry these in various sizes suitable for the needs of large or small growers.

BUCKEYE Machines are so well-known that we feel it is only necessary for us to say to you that we have them on our floors and are ready to serve you.

Come and see them or ask for catalogue by mail.
