The Kent News.

CHESTERTOWN:

SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 18, 1866.

For Comptroller of the Treasury:

COL. WILLIAM J. LEONARD,

OF WORCESTER COUNTY.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The National Union Convention assembled at Philadelphia on Tuesday. Gen. John A. Dix, of New York, was chosen temporary chairman, and made a short and admirable address appropriate to the occasion. Delegations were present from all the States and most of the Territories. A committee on permanent organization was appointed, and the convention adjourned till Wednesday.

On the assembling of the convention at noon on Wednesday, the Committee on Organization reported the name of Senator Doolittle, of Wisconsin, as President, and one Vice President and Secretary from each State and Territory—the Vice President from Maryland being Gen. George Vickers, of Kent, and the Secretary Dr. W. W. Watkins, of Howard county. On taking the chair, Senator Doolittle made an able and patriotic address, which was received with unbounded applause by the immense audience. He said the convention was greater in numbers and in weight of character and brain than had ever before assembled on this continent. A committee on Resolutions and Address, consisting of two from each State and Territory, with Hon. Edgar Cowan, of Pennsylvania as chairman, was appointed by the President. The members of the committee from Maryland are Hon. Reverdy Johnson and Hon. John W. Crisfield.—The chairman of the committee stated that they would not be prepared to report before the next morning, and the convention accordingly adjourned till Thursday. The address and resolutions had not come to hand at the time of our going to press, but they will be given in our next issue.

THE RADICAL STATE CONVENTION.—This body, which met in Baltimore on Wednesday last, nominated Col. Robt. Bruce, of Allegany county, for Comptroller. The convention was slimly attended, a number of the counties not being represented.—The delegates from this county were Thos. E. Norris, A. L. Corey and R. T. Turner. A long series of resolutions, presented by C. C. Fulton, of the Baltimore American, were adopted, one of which declares it to be the duty of the judges of election to exclude from voting any registered persons whom they may deem to be disqualified. The resolutions are very abusive of President Johnson and Governor Swann, and stigmatize as traitors all who do not endorse the radical programme.

Ten delegates from the State at large and ten from each congressional district were appointed to attend the Convention of Southern Loyalists to be held in Philadelphsa on the 3d of September. Among the number is J. E. Weer, of this county.

A RAILROAD IN QUEEN ANNE'S.—Since the close of the war, a spirit for improvements has manifested itself in the Eastern Shore counties, and all, we believe, with the exception of Queen Anne's have taken steps for the construction of branch roads connecting with the Philadelphia and Delaware road. There is, however, an effort being make in this county now, to connect us with the Northern cities.—Two lines are proposed:—one from a point on the proposed Kent county road, near Galena, thro' Crumpton and Church Hill to Centreville; the other from Massey's X Roads through Millington, to Centreville. The distance of the former line is about twenty miles, and the latter about twenty three miles. The estimated cost of building the road, is about $170,000. The State appropriation is $112,000, and by a law of the last Legislature, the county is authorized to levy a tax of $50,000, by consent of the voters thereof, for internal improvements. These appropriations will leave a balance to be raised by stock subscriptions of $118,000. Gentlemen from the upper part of the county assert that the First District will take $50,000, which will leave but a small balance to be taken by other portions of the county.—Could this enterprize be accomplished, Queen Anne's would commence a new career, and our agriculturists would find their lands greatly enhanced in value in consequence of their facilities for market. —Md. Citizen.

James Riddle, Esq., has been nominated for Governor, and John L. McKim, Esq., for Congress, by the Republicans of Delaware.

A Washington despatch says that President Johnson is about to issue a proclamation re-establishing the habeas corpus in all the rebellious States, and practically terminating the military occupation.

There were six or seven cases of cholera in Richmond on Wednesday. Two hundred and fifty deaths occurred in New York last week from cholera.

SUDDEN DEATH OF CALEB W. SPRY, ESQ.—We regret to announce the death of this universally respected gentleman, which occurred at eight o'clock on Thursday morning, at his residence near Chesterville, in this county. He was taken with a violent pain in the back of the head at noon on Wednesday, supposed to be a paralytic, which produced a state of unconsciousness in a few minutes, in which condition he remained up to the time of his death. Mr. Spry was in Chestertown on Tuesday last, attending to business as usual, and apparently in the enjoyment of his customary health. The deceased was one of our most highly respected citizens. He was the possessor of an ample fortune, and was very kind and charitable to the poor. He had filled various public offices, but had more frequently declined being a candidate, preferring the retiracy of private life. In his death the community has sustained a loss which will be felt for a long time to come.

"PRIZE FLOUR."—Mr. Wm. F. Baker, who has been for some time past supplying our market with meal and flour, has donated to the building committee of the M. P. Sabbath School of this town, a barrel of superior family flour, which he is willing to guarantee has never been surpassed in quality by any brand ever made in, or brought to this county. The gift, however, is accompanied with the condition that the committee shall realize from its sale the sum of fifty dollars. It will be offered for sale in parcels at the market house on Tuesday morning next.

CAMP MEETING.—The Camp Meeting of the Methodist Protestant Church, will commence on Wednesday next, August 22d, at the M. E. camp ground in Baker's woods, about three miles from Chestertown. The indications are that the encampment will be the largest ever held by this denomination on the Peninsula. Many of the ablest ministers of the Conference are expected to be present.

REGISTRATION.—The total number of persons registered in Baltimore city up to Wednesday last, (four days' sittings,) was 5,039. The American thinks these large figures, and says that "at this rate the registered vote of the city promises to reach 30,000 before the close of the work of the Registers." Should it reach even one-third that number, the doom of radicalism in that city will be sealed.

The Easton Journal states that there have been 142 registered in the Easton district of Talbot county, and a proporate number in the other districts.

Terrible Tragedy in Somerset County, Md.

A correspondent of the Balt. American, writing from Salisbury on the 13th inst., gives the following details of a terrible tragedy in Somerset county:

I write to inform you of a terrible tragedy that occurred yesterday at the burial of a young man named Hatton, in Rockawalking, Somerset county, Md. After the funeral the remains were conveyed to the private burial grounds of Josephus Humphreys, and when the relatives and friends had assembled, a very worthy young man named John Humphreys, from Princess Anne, escorted a relative, who had recently married a man by the name of Isaac James Cooper, to the grave.—Her husband stopped them and threatened to shoot him if he proceeded one step further; whereupon a brother of the lady, named Purnell Johnson, a very worthy citizen, said, "If you want to shoot any one, shoot me." Cooper instantly drew a revolver and shot P. Johnson through the heart. Mr. Josiah Ellingsworth, one of the most respectable as well as peaceable citizens of the State, attempted to restrain Cooper from further violence, whereupon he (Cooper) turned upon and shot him through the back, killing him in about five minutes. Another of the bystanders knocked Cooper down with a chair and tied him securely, with the assistance of the people present. This is the most frightful homicide that has ever occurred in this county. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper had separated, and the latter had been living with her brothers for the last three or four months, and had applied for a divorce from her husband for alleged ill-treatment.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR PADDLE WHEELS.—The system of propelling vessels by means of the reaction of water is being extensively experimented upon in various parts of the world, and is but the revival of a plan proposed many years ago. By this process the water is sucked in by means of force pumps, and is then forced out in a number of small streams at the sides and stern of the vessel. These streams, striking the water on which the vessel floats, cause a sort of reaction which propels the vessel. Boats propelled in this manner are in use in several parts of Europe, one in particular being employed as a ferry boat on the Clyde, in Scotland. The system, however, although long known, has never been very generally adopted. The advocates of it claim that by it vessels can attain a much higher power with a less consumption of coal than is possible with paddles or screws; that the steering is easier and more certain, and that the shake of the vessel caused by the movements of the large engine, always necessary for a paddle-wheel or screw steamer, is avoided. In the new system the force pumps for moving the water get their power from several small steam engines.—Philadelphia Ledger.

It is announced that the property of ex-Gov. Wise has been restored to him. It is situated near Drummondtown, on the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

IRREGULAR REGISTRATION OF VOTERS A NULLITY.

The duties which were imposed upon the registers of voters by the act of the last session of the Legislature have in many parts of the State been executed in such manner as to be legal nullities. It is a well known and undisputed principle of law, we believe, that when a body of men are specially clothed with a power to inquire about any matter of right, they are bound to conform strictly to the terms of the law which invests them with power, and when they depart from the substance of their authority, or from the form of executing their duty, when that form has been set forth by the Legislature, their action is altogether nugatory and void.—The sixteenth and seventeenth sections of the registration law require that books shall be prepared for the officers of registration, arranged with proper columns, in which shall be entered every matter connected with the qualification of the voter, as his name, age, oath, birthplace, length of residence, naturalization, cause of disqualification, names of witnesses by whom disqualification was proved, and if qualified, the world "qualified voter."

We understand that in a great majority of instances the registers last year neither regarded the forms of entries nor the execution of the duties required by law.—In some cases they would enter, "Failed to prove his loyalty;" "Believed to be disloyal;" "Disloyal by general reputation," and many other such vague and illegal entries. The law requires in every case where the party is disqualified that the cause of disqualification shall be entered in the seventh column, and the names of the witnesses by whom the disqualification was proved in the eighth column—and when the disqualification arises under the fourth section of the first article of the constitution, the law requires of the judges to particularize "Disloyalty under the fourth section of article first of the constitution." The terms of the law being so explicit, it follows that all those irregular entries which we have mentioned as samples of what the books of last year show, are illegal and void, and furnish no ground for excluding the voter. The same holds true of those cases in which the registers merely made the entry "Disloyal," not accompanying it by any explanation of what sort of disloyalty they meant—whether a disloyalty under the fourth section of the first article of the constitution, or some other sort of disloyalty; and as the law also requires the names of the witnesses as well as the fact of disloyalty to be entered, no record which omits to name the witnesses by whom the disloyalty was established, can hold good.

A careful scrutiny ought to be made of the books of last year by the voters in every election district, and in every instance in which the officers have failed to make up their record in a proper manner, persons who are entitled to vote ought to go before the registration officers, now in session in the different districts throughout the State, and have their names restored to the registry as lawful voters.

While some persons doubt the right of the registers of this year to reopen a case and to reverse the judgment of their predecessors, when regularly entered in the form prescribed, no matter how unjust that judgment may have been, yet it will not be seriously maintained by any intelligent persons that entries which have not been made in conformity to the requirements of the law are of any obligation.—Considering the negligent manner in which the registers performed their duties in some places, and the scandalous way in which they acted in other places, it is to be hoped that their books will be purged of all erroneous and unlawful entries, and all lawful voters be invested with their rights of citizenship.—Balt. Sun.

AMERICAN NATIONALITY AND IRISH NATIONALITY.—On Saturday evening George Francis Train delivered a lecture in Washington upon "the futnre prospects of Ireland." In the course of his remarks he said:

In order to get the rights of Ireland we must have our own country perfected first. In order to have Irish nationality we must first have American nationality. Perhaps you would like me to speak to the question as it stands. ["Yes," "yes."] Well, let me ask you to go back a little and remember that Abraham Lincoln said that "we must have a reconstructed country." He laid down the programme that the South could not be out of the Union.—President Johnson did the same. Every official act of the two Presidents plainly set forth that the South could not be out of the Union, and every official act of Congress said the same.

In 1776 the Irish helped to fight our battle on the question that "taxation without representation is robbery," and now we have taxed the South some fifty or sixty millions, and yet they have no representation in the country. Andrew Johnson said to the people of the Southern States: "Abolish slavery, repudiate your war debt, and repeal the act of secession." They did it all. Are they back, or is there any chance of their coming back? How, then, unless you vote to bring back our own States, can you have an Irish nationality? Assist us to have American nationality first. This reconstruction plan of Abraham Lincoln is nothing more nor less than the reconstruction plan of Andrew Johnson. He has not changed a single point. Where he stood at the commencement he stands now. I look upon him as the great head centre of constitutional liberty throughout the world.—[Great cheering.]

Frederick Schley, Esq., Collector of Internal Revenue in the Fourth District of Maryland, has been removed, and Somerset R. Waters, of Carroll county, appointed to fill the vacancy. Mr. Schley is an ultra radical.

The income returns of Jay Cooke, Esq., the well-known banker, made this year, upon his profits for 1865, was over $625,000. On this his tax will be something over $25,000.

SPEECH OF GOV. ORR, of S. Carolina.

Governor Orr, of South Carolina, addressed a meeting of conservative democrats, in Philadelphia, on Monday night. His remarks show distinctly and satisfactorily the present political condition of the States lately in rebellion, and that all the reasons urged for their continued exclusion from representation in Congress are mere pretexts for perpetuating the power of the Radicals. He said:

Ten years ago I stood before you with the late lamented Douglas, when we then gave to you our opinions of the principles of the democratic party. I would to God that he again stood before you. Since then great changes have occurred; a gulf has sprung up, but that gulf has been closed, and we have come here to form a union between the conservative men of the North and of the South. I will merely glance at a few points to show you that the professions made by the people of the South since they have laid down their arms are honest and whole-souled. The war began on the part of the South thro' the people believing that they had the right to secede. You did not agree to that. War resulted. The South was conquered, and the interpretation you gave to the Constitution has been established firmly as the legal one. That decision was pronounced on the field of battle by the highest tribunal, and the decree is incontrovertible. The nationality of our Government has been established. The South has surrendered the principles she believed in and is willing to accept your interpretation. No man would reopen the dreadful contest to see whether the decision was the right one, but all are willing to abide forever by it. By this war the people of the South have to a very large extent been stripped of their property. Their banks are gone and their credit is gone. In many localities the great standpoint of civil law has been lost. Thus the people of the South have far more need of a stable government than you have, and it is mad folly to charge that they will not fulfil their oaths to support their government. Although your public debt has been contracted in defeating the section of the country from which I come, yet I would feel that any repudiation of the debt would be a dishonor to my own integrity. This is my government, and it is to be my children's and grandchildren's government. As a participant in the rebellion I am for this government, and its honor is my honor. I desire it to stand forth before all the nations of the earth, in all the glory and pride and prosperity of a great nation of the world. Fellow-citizens, we have been knocking at the door for eight long months, asking Congress to represent us there. If we are not to be trusted now, when are we to be trusted? Is it just that we should be excluded from these privileges? No! For the right of representation is regarded as one of the most sacred rights in the country. Is it just or fair or generous that we should be excluded from legislation while taxes are imposed upon us without our consent? I am a delegate from South Carolina to the convention, and I hope they will be successful in forming a policy to stand against the mad policy of the radicals in Congress. When the convention adjourns and sends forth the results of its deliberations, I trust that all right-minded men shall be able to agree to their deeds.

THE cholera appears to baffle the attempts of the physicians in Brooklyn to keep it even in check, for it seems to be creeping all over the city. It has got into nearly all the public institutions. It first originated in the Twelfth ward, and was attributed in a great degree to the unclean condition of the streets, but now it has made its appearance in locations which have always been kept scrupulously clean.

A MUNIFICENT GIFT.—The Cecil Whig states that Jacob Tome, Esq., of Port Deposit, has proposed to the trustees of the M. E. Church of that town to build the congregation a new church, costing $25,000, or to donate that amount of money to the congregation for that purpose.

Near Chesterville, in this county, on Thursday morning last, CALEB W. SPRY, aged about 57 years.

Near Smithville, on the 11th instant, MARY MAGDALENE, infant and only daughter of James S. and the late Margaret A. Taylor, aged 8 months and 12 days.

Our dark eyed Mary's gone,
Gone from a world of pain,
That voice with sweetest tone
We'll never hear on earth again.
Sweet as the roses are
When first they bloom in spring,
She gave our home a cheer,
Which brightened every thing.
We'll meet our dark-eyed Mary dear,
Where the flowers ever bloom,
Where no death blight comes near
To harvest for the tomb.

She has gone home to her dear mother, and I am on the road to meet them. J. S. T.

NOTICE.

To all Whom it may Concern.

I DESIRE TAX-PAYERS to understand that Taxes are due on the first day of July, and not, as many seem to think, on the first of January. I also desire to collect all the taxes in my District before the first of January next, so that I may be prepared to pay promptly all levies when demanded. It cannot be expected that I should wait with tax-payers until the first of January, as at that time all levies upon me are due.
This notice is deemed sufficient to show the necessity of prompt payment, and parties need not flatter themselves with long indulgence, as I am determined to collect the taxes within a reasonable time, and will resort to the law in every case where it may be necessary.
I can be found at the Court House, Chestertown, every day.
