Kent News

SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1923

Now is the time for a "Clean Up" campaign. What could be better than a reputation for cleanliness. There are some places in town which are a disgrace to owners and occupants. Much can be done by co-operative effort. If persons cannot always go out and pick up they can at least refuse to scatter papers and trash for the winds to pick up. The garbage men have their routes, but they cannot be expected to rake the hedges and fences against which much of the trash rests. Make Clean-up Day a real one and not merely an imaginary one. There is real heroic work for Commissioners and health officers to do if properly directed.

If Kent county farmers adhere to the present-day methods of farming, and continue to sow large acreages of wheat. within the next decade the biggest producers will be active members of the greatest marketing association the world has ever known! This production is based upon steps that are being taken by farmers of the Middle West to pool the production of wheat, fix the price of the product and operate their own fleet of grain carrying vessels, dealing directly with large consumers of foreign countries. Eleven states already have enrolled under the new association which plans a world merger to control not only the output of the United States, but to govern, to a great extent, prices of wheat throughout the world. As a large wheat producing community, Kent county will. naturally, sooner or later become identified with the movement, unless the tendency toward dairying and diversified crop production reaches such proportions that wheat acreages are materially reduced. Quietly, without blasts of publicity, there is being formed the largest combination of producers of foodstuffs that the wirld has seen.

Intoxicating liquors, even under seal, cannot lawfully be brought in American on foreign ships within three miles of the shores of the United States, the Supreme Court held Monday in a decision which declared, however, that outside the three-mile limit American vessels can legally sell intoxicants to passengers The right of foreign ships to do so had not been questioned. The opinion, rendered in 10 cases brought by foreign and two by American steamship companies, was delivered by Justice Van Devanter, without expressing his views. Justice McReynolds dissented. Justice Southerland in a dissenting opinion agreed with the majority of the Court in reference to American ships, but declared that foreign vessels had the right to bring liquors into American ports under restrictions adequately guarding against leakage ashore.

The effect of the decision was to affirm that of Federal Judge Hand in New York, in so far as it sustained the opinion of Attorney General Daughtrty that intoxicants could not legally be brought into American ports, and to reverse it with regard to the right of American vessels to have liquor aboard on the high seas and in foreign ports.

THE TIME TO CHANGE LAW

The News published last week the result of the new assessment in Kent county. Many of our taxpayers did not see any necessity for this assessment. However, this work has been done and those who did it performed their work in a faithful manner. The Commissioners are not to blame for this expenditure.

The trouble is with the law, which required every county in Maryland to be re-assessed at least once in every five years and authorized the State Tax Commission to order a re-assessment. for which the county itself must pay. whenever the Tax Commission sees fit. This law may be alright from the standpoint of the State, but it works an unnecessary hardship upon Kent and other counties of Maryland, where, in many instances there is no appreciable increase in property values in a five year period.

This law should be repealed or amended at the next session of the General Assembly. It stands to reason that the Board of County Commissioners of Kent or any other county in Maryland, is in a better position to know when a re-assessment of county property is advisable and that the County Commissioners and not the State Tax Commission.

Taxpayers of Kent county, upon whom the burden falls, should bear this matter in mind and see to it that their representatives in the next Legislature make the desired changes in the State tax laws.

OUTSPOKEN FOR LEAGUE

One of the most hopeful signs in the political skies is the editorial utterance by the staid Philadelphia Public Ledger in its issue of April 28th, commenting on Lord Robert Cecil's visit to America in behalf of the League of Nations. The Ledger, an old line Republican newspaper, is beginning to see the light.

The most significant note is found in next to the last paragraph:

"The great general purpose of the League is to prevent war. America is not afraid of any nation, but she is afraid of war. In all the earth there is but one agency that promises to close forever the gate of the fiery furnace. This is the League, that refuses to die and to which fifty-three nations have pledged themselves."

Democrats who call themselves Democrats should by all means vote for Jackson for Mayor of Baltimore next Tuesday. Harry Preston accepted all the favors he could get from the party. Then when there were no more to get he left it and is now trying to wreck it. Shame on such an ingrate. Every vote cast for Preston by A Democrat is one more for Broening and at this writing it looks as if Preston will surely elect the Republican candidate. Baltimore will be better ruled under either the regular candidates than under Preston. Preston helped to defeat Williams, Lewis and John Walter Smith, and yet he calls himself a Democrat!

Governor Ritchie has announced appointment of a committee to give immediate and thorough study to the problems of the farmer and endeavor to work out a program for the State to adopt. by legislation or otherwise. for development of agriculture and allied interests. The committee is made up of representatives of State or county organizations interested in various phases of agriculture. horticulture and breeding. Its appointment is in pursuance of a resolution at the conference on agriculture called by Governor Ritchie in Annapolis, January 26. Kent county is represented by Mrs. O. H. Medders, President of Federation of Rural Women; D. W. Ingersoll. President Farmers' Association.

WHY WAS IT PERMITTED?

There is something seriously wrong about a prison system when a member of a grand jury can go into a state penitentiary, make a purchase of narcotic drugs from a convict and witness the operation of a still in one of the cells. This was the recent experience, according to the Philadelphia Record, of a member of the April grand jury in the Eastern Penitentiary of Pennsylvaina.

MINUTE TALKS

By The Business Men's Association — 200 Members By May 15

The B. M. A. Baseball League opened its spring season last Tuesday. The Red Sox, under the management of P. M. Brooks, pranced on the field after listening to a straight-from-the-shoulder talk in secret session, Harry Jefferson's Red Sox were primed for two weeks of grueling contests, and the other six teams of the league are striving for the pennant through superior strategy and head work. Harry Graham, of the Purple Sox, proves a hot time into deep centre, bringing in four runs. The score of his team promises to be large. Pinch hitter, Howard Turner, is warming up for next week's heavy work. It looks as though the "Pep, Patience and Persistence" will carry the final colors. G. E. Leary of Rock Hall, and Joe George, of Sudlersville, have been brought in as pinch hitters and the boys from the bush leagues bid fair to show the old timers some classy base running. If any of the regulars can't make good, a sufficient number of rookins will be drafted to carry on. The remaining teams are as follows:

White Sox—M. W. Thomas, Mgr.
Green Sox—Dr. H. P. Copeland.
Gray Sox—W. B. Copper.
Black Sox—James B. Metcalfe.
Purple Sox—Harry R. Graham.
Blue Sox—Lawrenct G. Brown.

Each new member secured for the Association will count as one run. Each player will report daily to his manager and the score will be tabulated and publically posted. Watch for announcements on the Lyceum Theatre screen and the bulletin boards. Each player is strongly urged to report to his manager at the end of each day the total individual score. Get on your toes, men; put over this campaign with a bang and make the B. M. A. League the finest on the Shore. We expect every man to do his duty.

The Association is designing a new letter head upon which will be printed the names of all members. To these not already members and we believe it is only a question of time when you will be—it is respectfully suggested that you come in with us during this campaign so that we may print the full list at one time. This is your Association. Help the teams to boost their score and attend the May meeting as members.

There is no need now to explain the Association to the people. Advertising literature has gone out at regular intervals to a mailing list of 500 and, what is much more to the point, the actual work of the Association speaks for itself. The Association belongs to the whole community —the practical, progressive, prosperity making nature of its activities cannot be denied.

Don't stand on the sidelines and merely root; don't throw pep bottles at the umpires—jump in and make a place on one of the teams. Every member is a player.
