NOTED MEN AT DAIRY SHOW

Noted men from many countries will attend the National Dairy Exposition at Syracuse, October 5 to 13, according to County Agent, H. B. Derrick. He said 40 foreign countries will be represented, on invitation of the late President Harding to sessions of the World's Dairy Congress, which will be held at the same time. The full program of the congress includes about 200 addresses on all phases of dairying.

The names of the speakers indicate the interest sessions of the congress will have for visitors, Mr. Derrick said, giving a chance to hear of dairying in every country as well as the opportunity to see a wonderful cross-section of the finest dairying of the United States at the dairy show.

One thousand one hundred and fifty of the finest dairy cattle in the country have been entered at the show. Farm boys and girls have entered 125 calves from calf clubs, indicating this department will be one of the most interesting.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Robert G. Nicholson, proprietor of the Chestertown Ice Plant, had a narrow escape from fatal injury when his automobile was struck by an engine on the Pennsylvania road at the crossing near Culp's mill. Mr. Nicholson made an effort to cross the tracks on the edge of town before the train which was coming from the milk station, could reach the crossing The automobile was carried up the track by the engine for a distance of twenty feet and then turned over, damaging it considerably. Mr. Nicholson was thrown against the steering gear and his side was injured, He has written Engineer Reed exonerating him from any blame and thanking him for his alertness.

Two cars collided at Urieville bridge Saturday. The road was very slippery after the big rain and neither car was going fast. A Dodge roadster belonging to Judge Adkins and driven by a colored man was en route to Elkton while a Ford car driven by an employe of a Can Co. was coming toward town. The latter car was turned over and rolled down the bank while the Dodge car was turned completely around. Both cars were damaged but neither of the drivers were seriously hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Dunn have gotten into the city courts; The News of Wednesday says, "James B. Dunn, well-known as a horse owner and gentleman farmer of Chestertown, voluntarily appeared before Justice Cadden in the Western Police Court this morning to face his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Dunn, who had sworn out a warrant for his arrest. Mrs. Dunn, who met her husband in court today for the first time since she left Chestertown, three months ago, told the judge that she would need her father and brother as witnesses, and that they could not be present until Oct. 25. The case was continued until that date. Although the case was not formally presented today. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn talked to Justice Cadden about their tangled domestic affairs. He is fifty-three years old and married Mrs. Dunn, who is twenty-eight years old, about 17 months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn said they had filed suits for divorce.

The case of E. Thomas Messey vs. The Provident Trust Company, of Philadelphia, executor of the will of Ella M. Copperfield, removed from Kent County, was tried at Elkton this week. The are for managing farm, etc., for ten years, $3,030 and interest. For plaintiff, Hope H. Barroll, L. Wethered Barroll and Joshua Clayton; for defendant, S. Scott Beck, Redmund C. Stewart and Henry L. Constable. Mrs. Copperfield, who was the only child of the late G. Oldham Massey, engaged her uncle, E. Thos. Massey, to manage for her the farm in the Second district of Cecil county She never paid for his services, and the suit was to recover from her estate the amount claimed. The jury returned a verdict for Mr. Massey.

USES EIGHT TONS OF SUGAR IN ONE DAY

The New York Canning Co., Located Near Betterton, Contracted for 600 Acres of Tomatoes—A Big Crop Raised by Farmers—Cannery Big Asset to Kent.

The cannery near Betterton run by the New York Canning Company is one of Kent's big assets. The management are business men of wide experience, good judgment, liberal to labor and courteous. They employ all the local help they can get and import the balance.

This cannery contracted with the farmers of near Betterton for 300 acres of tomatoes at 25 cents per basket and 300 additional acres the output of which they trucked and for which they paid 22½ cents per basket. This means about $50,000 to Kent farmers.

This cannery not only put up a fine brand of canned tomatoes but make a catsup that is in great demand. To give an idea of what is consumed in the manufacture of this catsup we mention just two ingredients—eight tons of sugar and forty sacks of onions—used in one day. During the rush last week this factory used 9,000 baskets per day. They paid to local help in one week $3,000 and to foreign help $500.

KENT WINS FIRST PLACE

County Agent Derrick and Demonstrator, Miss Susan Hill, accompanied Misses Julia Williams and Anne Matthews, Stanley Sutton and Walter Morris, Jr., to "Camp Vail," Springfield, Mass., last week. They were there in attendance upon the Eastern States Exposition of Boys and Girls Club Work. There were 200 in the camp from ten States. The boys put on a demonstration of production of clean milk. They also entered a contest for judging dairy cattle and as a county came out first. The individual medal went to Connecticut boy, but Walter Morris, Jr., won second place and Stanley Sutton third. Master Sutton also came fourth in judging swine. It was a wonderful exhibition.

COST OF PRODUCING CORN

Mrs. Evalyn Harris presents the following interesting figures on corn production She says:

Below are some figures for producing corn. One column is based on regular $1 a day wages, with extra for cutting and husking, and the other based on 40 cents an hour. A credit must be allowed for the fodder which is conceded by all farmers to whom I talked to be the same as cost of cutting and hauling it. In one instance $5 an acre, and at higher wages, at $7 an acre. In other words, if a man is willing to cut the corn, and haul away the fodder, he can have it.

When we deduct 16 2-3 cents from $1.22 2-3 we get as our cost for corn, delivered to the market, just $1.06, when the corn is ready to sell, but who can tell what the selling price will be when the farmer is realy to sell?

Corn production—average 30 bushels per acre:

	Regular Wages	40 Cents an Hour
Preparing ground	$5.00	$8.00
Fertilizer	4.00	4.00
Lime and manure	2.50	5.50
Seed corn	.50	.50
Planting and replanting	1.40	2.00
Cultivating	3.13	6.88
Thinning	.70	1.40
Cutting	4.00	5.33
Husking and hauling 30 bushels	2.00	5.50
Shelling and delivery.	1.50	3.00
Freight and commission	2.40	2.40
Hauling fodder	1.00	1.60
Interest on land	4.20	4.20
Insurance	.25	.25
Taxes	.75	.75
Interest on money for growing crop	.90	1.40
Interest on money in horses and impl.	.60	.60
Depreciation	2.00	2.00
	$36.83	$55.91
Cost of producing a bushel of corn	$1.22 2-3	$1.86 1-3

The receipts of Bond Chapel supper Wednesday evening were $274.

H. B. W. Mitchell, Esq., of Centreville, has been named trustee in the receivership case of David Clements.

Walter T. Wright's fine herd of graded and pure bred Guernsey cattle have been examined this week and for the third year in succession passed the test. They were given a certificate of a clean bill of health.
