THE FARMER AND HIS WIFE

By Mrs. Evelyn Harris, of Kent County, in Baltimore Sun.

Is sitting under a Ford much harder than sitting under a cow? Yet the fellow who sits under a Ford in a heated garage has his wages set high enough to enable him to make a fairly decent living. In many instances he gets just the same per hour as the fellow gets per day who makes his living sitting under a cow. Which is needed more in Baltimore

If there is a surplus of milk and the physicians and dietitians have decided that milk is needed to make the under-nourished school children in the schools more efficient (and thus save money on education), why can't this surplus be turned right on those who need it, so the fellow milking cows may continue to be able to earn his 12 cents an hour?
