From the Round Table.

THE HEAVENLY SECRET.

Mr. George Cooper sends us this stately and sustained poem of the grave theme of immortality:

Does this dark and soundless river
Stretch so wide—
The homeward-rolling tide
Over which have crossed
Our loved and early lost,
That their unsealed eyes may never see
The further side,
Where still amid this coil and misery
We hide?
Is the realm of their transition
Close at hand
To this our living land?
Nearer than we dream?
Can they catch the gleam
And see our deeds?
And looking deeper than our eyes may seek,
Our needs?
Do they mingle in our gladness?
Do they grieve
When ways of good we leave?
Do they know each thought and hope?
While we in shadows grope,
Can they hear the Future's high behest,
Yet lack the power
To lead us from our ill or to arrest
The hour?
When they find us bowed in sorrow
Do they sigh?
Or when earth passes by
For them, do they forget
The cares that here beset
Their well beloved? Or do they wait
(O be it thus)
And watch beside the golden gate
For us?
We are yearing for their secret:
Though we call
No answers ever fall
Upon our dullard ears
To quell our nameless fears.
Yet God is over all, whate'er may be,
And trusting so,
Patience, my heart! a little while, and we Shall know.

POWER OF A GOOD MAN'S LIFE.—The beauty of a holy life, says Chalmers, constitutes the most eloquent and effective persuasive to religion, which one human being can address to another. We have many ways of doing good to our fellow-creatures, but none so efficacious as leading a virtuous, upright, and well-ordered life. There is an energy of moral suasion in a good man's life, passing the highest efforts of the orator's genius. The seen but silent beauty of holiness speaks more eloquently of God and duty than the tongues of men and angels. Let parents remember this. The best inheritance a parent can bequeath to a child is a virtuous example, a legacy of hallowed remembrances and associations. The beauty of holiness beaming through the life of a loved relative or friend, is more effectual to strengthen such as do stand in virtue's ways, and raise up those that are bowed down, than precept, command, entreaty, or warning. Christianity itself, I believe, owes by far the greater part of its moral power, not to the precepts or parables of Christ, but to his own character. The beauty of that holiness which is enshrined in the four brief biographies of the man of Nazareth, has done more, and will do more to regenerate the world and bring in an everlasting righteousness, than all the other agencies put together. It has done more to spread his religion in the world, than all that has ever been written on the evidences of Christianity.

GOD'S PROMISE OF SUPPORT.—When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shall not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. Isa., xliii, 2. What a diversity of afflictions in this trial world! Waters, Streams, Floods, Flames, Fires. The Christian is here fore-warned that he will encounter these in some one of their innumerable passes, whether it be the loss of health, loss of wealth, loss of friends, baffled schemes, or blighted hopes.

But, blessed thought, these trials have their limits. The floods will not overflow, the fires will not burn, the flames will not consume. God will stay this rough wind. He will say, "Thus far shalt thou go, and no farther." And better still, Jesus will be in all these trials, and prove sufficient for them all. "O, sirs," says Thomas Brookes, "there is in a crucified Jesus something proportionable to all the straits, wants, necessities, and trials of his poor people."

OUR DAILY BREAD.—How shall we earn our bread is a grave question; yet it is a sweet and inviting question. Let us not shirk it as is usually done. It is the most important and practical question which is put to man. Let us not answer it hastily. Let us not be content to get our bread in some gross, careless and busy manner.—Some men go a hunting, some a-fishing, some-a-gaming, some to war; but none have so pleasant a time as they who in earnest seek to earn their bread. It is true actually as it is true really; it is true materially as it is true spiritually, that they who seek honestly and sincerely, with all their hearts and lives and strength, to earn their bread, do earn it, and it is sure to be very sweet to them. A very little bread, a very few crumbs are enough, if it be of the right quality, for it is infinitely nutritious. Let each man, then, earn at least a crumb of bread for his body before he dies, and know the taste of it—that it is identical with the bread of life, and that they both go down at one swallow.—Thoreau.

A PHILOSOPHER says that "a man without money is poor, but a man with nothing but money is still poorer."

AN ARGUMENT AGAINST THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

In the letter of Hon. O. H. Browning, Secretary of the Interior, in defence of the restoration policy of President Johnson, an extract from which was given by us last week, we find the following strong argument against the pending amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

"The States," he says, "may exist and perform all their functions without the Union or the federal government. The Union and the federal government cannot exist without the States, and they must be States of equality—equal in dignity, equal in rights, equal in power, equal in the control, absolute and unconditional, of all things pertaining to their internal and local policy and interests. Another blow which the proposed amendment aims at the government which our fathers founded, is in the change of the basis of representation. This would be of very pernicious effect. Aggregate population is the true basis of representation. No matter how the elective franchise be disposed of, whether exercised by few or many, all classes of the community are represented. The interests of all classes of people in the same community are so interwoven and commingled that they cannot be separated, and whoever wields the representative power must do it for the good or ill of all, perhaps not precisely in the same degree, but he cannot use it so as largely to benefit one class without to some extent benefitting all, or to injure and oppress one class without to a greater or less extent injuring and oppressing all. There are always, even in this country, where the right of suffrage is most widely extended, large numbers who do not vote at all, whose interests, nevertheless, are cared for, and whose numbers, being computed in the apportionment of representation, widen the foundations of the representative assemblies. Such are all persons under 21 years of age, females of all ages, and unnaturalized foreigners. Why are they not permitted to vote? And, not being permitted, why are they counted in fixing the ratio of representation? They are not allowed to vote because they are not supposed to be sufficiently instructed in political economy and governmental affairs to be entrusted with the elective franchise. They are computed in fixing the ratio, because they are part of the same community with those who do vote, having interests in common with them, and their influence ought to be felt in shaping the laws by which their rights of life, liberty and property are to be determined; and although they do not vote, their influence is felt and their interests are cared for, precisely because they are counted in fixing the relative weight of the communities to which they belong in the legislative assemblies, although their voices are not directly heard in determining who shall represent them."

A FIRE EXTINGUISHING CARTRIDGE.—The latest invention in France is a sort of cartridge, containing ingredients which are capable of extinguishing fire. This is effected by the sudden development of a large quantity of hydrochloric acid gas. The scientific principle has long been known, but it has never been put into a practical form. The cartridges resemble brown paper parcels, and are of two sizes. No. 1 is about eight inches long and two and a-half inches wide, and is intended to be thrown by the hand into the heart of the fire. A string is also attached by which it may be projected as from a sling. The cartridge is slightly explosive, so as to scatter the substance producing the extinguishing gas. No 2, or the second-sized cartridges, are simply thrown (the cover being torn off) into the water of the engines, which they saturate with a substance producing hydrochloric acid gas as soon as the water touches the fire. Experiments have proved that one-tenth of the water that would have been necessary to extinguish a fire is only requisite when the cartridges are mixed with it, and that the saving of time is in the same ratio. They are very inexpensive.

A CHEMIST'S DISCOVERY.—An Austrian chemist, M. Leinelbrock, has discovered a way of enclosing electricity in small glass capsules, which will explode under the slightest shock. The capsule is enclosed in a steel cone, so that if shot from a rifle it will enter the flesh, and the explosion which follows is sufficient to kill a man. Experiments have been made on oxen and horses with perfect success, these animals having fallen down as if struck with lightning.

DUTCH GAP CANAL.—The Richmond Whig says: "Gen. Butler little dreamed when he was digging Dutch Gap that he was conferring a benefit on the commerce of Richmond. The canal—that is, Dutch Gap—is now much navigated by sail vessels and steam tugs."

A Radical spread-eagle orator of New York State wanted the wings of a bird to fly to every town and county, to every village and hamlet, in the broad land; but he wilted when a naughty boy in the crowd sang out:—"Dry up, you——old fool; you'd get shot for a goose before you flew a mile."

THERE is a shop kept by a lady in New York, in a window of which appear these words: "No reasonable offer refused."

WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT.

BELIEVING that the people of this Town and County are often driven to the necessity of going to the city to obtain many articles which ought to be furnished in Chestertown, I therefore have made it my business to examine and buy upon the best terms in Philadelphia and New York, the largest stock ever offered in Chestertown in my line. All kinds of the most fashionable and can and will sell them lower in many instances than they can be bought in the city at retail, having purchased from the factories, and living and rents being much less. All goods warranted as represented when sold, and will be redeemed whenever differing from representation. NOTIONS.—Fine French and American Toys, the prettiest and most in quantity ever before seen in this market, fresh from the maker's hands. Pocket Books, pen-knives, best scissors, razors, combs and brushes, ink stands, and almost any such thing you can think of. Nothing but an examination can give you any idea of the extent of the stock.—Call and look at THE LARGE JEWELRY STORE in Chestertown.

FAMILY, SABBATH SCHOOL and CHURCH ORGANS, for sale.

REPAIRING.—Long experience in this department, and a first-rate stock of the best materials, enables me to assure the public that they shall have their work well done, and on the most moderate terms. All work warranted. Jewelry repaired while the customer waits if desired. J. V. SMITH.

Chestertown, Nov. 3, 1866.

SHOULD UNDERSTAND that Taxes are due on the FIRST OF JULY, and not, as many seem to think, on the 1st of January. I desire to collect all the taxes in my District before the first of January next, so that I may be prepared to pay promptly all levies when demanded. It cannot be expected that I should wait with tax-payers until the first of January, as at that time all levies upon me are due.

For the convenience of tax-payers, I will be (until further notice,) at CHESTERVILLE every Saturday, from 9 o'clock, A. M., to 12 M., and in MILLINGTON on the same days, from 1 to 6, P. M.; at home and GALENA the balance of the week.

JONATHAN WILSON, COL'D, versus John Bordley and Ann Bordley, his wife, Henry Gilbert and Susan Jane Gilbert, his wife; John W. Johnson and Rachel F. Johnson, his wife; Richard Wilson, Wm. Wilson, and Ann Wilson, his wife; and Ann Elizabeth Chambers.

On the Equity Side of the Circuit Court for Kent County, October 12, 1866.

THE object of this suit is to procure a Decree for the sale of certain Real Estate situate in Quaker Neck, in Kent County, Maryland, and which is held by the parties Complainant and Defendant to this cause as tenants in common, so as to distribute the proceeds of said sale amongst the parties entitled according to their several just proportions.

The Bill states that the said parties are seized as tenants in common, in fee, of a parcel or tract of land, under a certain deed from one Robert Wilson, colored, to them, bearing date about the 22nd day of September, 1866, duly recorded among the land records of Kent county, containing fifteen and three quarter acres of land, more or less. That a certain Robert Wilson, was also lately seized as tenant in common with the aforesaid parties, in the said tract or parcel of land, but by deed of the twenty-second day of September last aforesaid, which has been duly recorded among the aforesaid land records, conveyed all his undivided interest in and to the said tracts or parcel of land, and also in and to the ten acres hereinafter mentioned, to the complainant in this cause, so that now two undivided seven parts of the said lands belong to the complainant, and the five undivided seven parts belong to the said Annie Bordley, Susan Jane Gilbert, Rachel Frances Johnson, Richard Wilson, and Ann Wilson.

The Bill further states that the said parties complainant and defendants, were also seized as tenants in common in fee of a certain other tract or parcel of land in said County, containing ten acres, which descended from one Robert Wilson, colored, to the complainants, Ann Bordley, Susan Jane Gilbert, Rachel F. Johnson, Richard Wilson, Ann Wilson, and Robert Wilson, the children of the said Robert Wilson and Ann Elizabeth Chambers, the only child of Eliza Chambers, his daughter; that the said Robert Wilson, by the deed aforesaid, conveyed all his interest in the same to the complainant, so that he is now entitled to and seized of two undivided eight parts thereof, and the remaining six undivided parts belong to the said defendants in this cause.

That it would be for the interest of all the parties to have the same sold, and the proceeds thereof divided among them according to their several just proportions, and that the said William Wilson and Ann Wilson reside out of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon adjudged and ordered that the complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Kent county, once in each of three successive weeks, give notice to the said absent defendants, of the substance of this Bill, and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 20th day of February next, to answer the premises, and show cause if any they have, why a Decree ought not to pass as prayed.
