VOL. 60. CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, AUGUST 21, 1897. NO. 16

We are Going to Klondyke Prepared to Get Gold, Do You Want to go?

All rivers and creeks having their source in the Rocky Mountains, are gold bearing; the gold being deposited in the beds, bars and banks.

It is a well known fact that all the gold about ($3,000,000,) which has been secured in the Klondyke region, has been dug from the old beds of the Creeks, and washed by hand. The largest nuggets and best gold being under water in the beds and bars of the river is only accessable to those having suitable machinery.

The Alaska Mining, Dredging and Steamboat Company is fitting up an expedition to get this gold, and will send lumber, machinery, provisions, etc. to St. Michaels, where they will build their boat and be ready to start up the River in the Spring, as soon as the ice breaks up.

The boat will contain the entire plant, and will be of such light draft as to insure navigation to the very head of the shallow creeks and will be in charge of our expert mining and mechanical engineers who have invented and arranged this special plant, complete in every detail, and which will enable them to handle a large amount of auriferous sand and gravel, at a very small cost. The boat will have a crew of ten men selected from the stockholders who may wish to go. At a meeting of the stockholders, the names of all such will be placed in a bag shaken up, and ten drawn out; these will form the crew. The expedition will be fully equipped for both placer and quartz mining, to build dams for turning the river from its bed, to buy up the stake claims, to carry passengers and freight and to take advantage of every opportunity offered. It will be the only expedition of its kind in Klondyke.

We want $50,000 in cash.

And in order to raise it quickly, and to give every one a chance to make money with us, this stock will be sold at $1.00 per Share, full paid and non-assessable, not more than 50 shares will be sold to any one party.

There are companies claiming that they own valuable claims, etc. in the Klondyke they have fine offices and pay high salaries to their officials; if they have such valuable claims, why do they want to sell stock? Such companies hurt an honest enterprise.

All the money paid into the Alaska Mining, Dredging and Steamboat Company will be used in fitting out the expedition; we have no fancy offices; nor high salaried officials. After the expedition is ready, no more stock will be sold at any price, and instead of selling stock, when we have our claims in Alaska, we expect to pay large dividends. Our stockholders who stay at home will make just as much money as those who go; for we expect to bring back at least $2,000,000 this next year to be divided as dividends, besides our claims which we will then have, will be worth many times as much.

$2,000,000 seems a large amount, but when it is considered that a crew of twelve men with our plant can do more work than five hundred men by hand, and that with our plant, we get the largest and richest nuggets from the beds and bars of the rivers, (which the miners cannot get, as it is under water,) shows conclusively that our estimate is conservative.

A chance like this comes but once in a life time, so it should be acted upon without delay. No more stock will be sold after the amount actually needed is raised.

A CARD.

CHESTERTOWN, August 16, 1897.
MESSRS. EDITORS OF THE NEWS:
Gentlemen:—Please say through the columns of your valuable paper that I requested the magistrate not to convict vict those boys at the time of the trial. I would not willingly harm anyone, but for the protection of the families occupying the houses, and the peace and quiet of the day, I will reluctantly be compelled to have every boy arrested who makes a loafing and lounging place, or boot-black stand, of the corner on Sunday; and we are sure the good people of our good old town will rightly appreciate and approve our motive.

REPUBLICAN POLITICS.

A Ticket Named — Some Surprises — New Leaders Show Their Hand.

The adjourned Republican convention met in Stam's Hall Tuesday afternoon, Senator Charles T. Westcott in the chair and Mr. Joseph W. Harper, secretary. But few delegates were absent, their places being filled by the delegations. The first split came in the manner of voting, Mr. J. Henry Hurtt moving to vote by districts and Mr. J. C. Kendall offering a substitute to vote by ballot. Zack Dunn claimed that there were men there who could not write and therefore it would be best to vote open, but the Kendall men won by a vote of 49 to 20.

Fred. Nichols—"I move we now proceed to the election of candidates."

Zack Dunn—"How do we proceed, from the bottom or from the top?"

Senator Westcott—"They're all at the top, Zack."

Mr. Hurtt—"I nominate Capt. Wm. D. Burchinal for clerk."

Fred. Nichols—"In behalf of the 1800 colored voters of Kent county I arise to second the nomination of Capt. Burchinal. In doing so I feel that it is but a faint recognition of his services to the Republican party. We, the colored constituents of the party, take special pride in him because well do we know that were it not for the principles of the party sustained and upheld by that distinguished gentleman, we would not be here this afternoon, etc. We propose to send him out with an enthusiasm that will land him in the clerk's office."

Harrison Jenkins also lauded the Captain and Mr. F. H. Harper moved that his nomination be made unanimous, which was done.

At this stage of the proceedings there came on the scene new leaders, and one was seen to draw his coat and make ready for the battle. The old men of the party seemed to take little interest in affairs and allowed new blood to step in and dictate the course of events. For register of wills the new leaders named Mr. Bartus Trew, of Pomona district, he being put in nomination by James H. Baker, Esq., who said—"Mr. Trew is a man who has served the party from Lincoln's time to the present day. He has served you when you couldn't find a man who would go to the front. He is one of our foremost men and his influence is felt on every election day."

Zack Dunn seconded his nomination and in doing so spoke of his long service, long forbearance, etc.

Mr. S. F. Smith nominated Judge J. Wesley Wright. Fred. Nichols in seconding this nomination soared into the sky of oratory and pictured Mr. Wright's faithfulness to Republicanism in glowing colors. Fred. remarked in opening, "I hope you will not think I want to run this convention."

Zack said, "You run it all you can."

Mr. Dempsey, of the first district, placed Mr. Thos. A. Jacobs in nomination and Oliver Dickinson, a colored delegate of the same district, made a good speech in seconding the nomination. The vote resulted as follows:

Bartus Trew	19½
Thomas A. Jacobs	12
J. W. Wright	3½

The nomination of Mr. Trew was made unanimous.

Three names were placed in nomination for the House of Delegates, viz., Samuel Mallalieu, F. H. Harper, L. B. Russell, the sixth district "reserving their man for later developments." The vote was announced as follows:

Mallalieu	9½
Harper	30¾
Russell	29

For treasurer the young leaders showed their highest card when Mr. H. Morris Bramble was placed in nomination in opposition to two well known Republicans who have always been close to the old party workers, Messrs. Chas. England and George Thomas Williams. Mr. England was dropped after the second ballot, haying received but 6¼ votes. The third ballot resulted in the nomination of Mr. Bramble who got 24¼ votes, Williams 10½.

Again in the sheriffalty nomination the new men played a trump card and nominated Mr. Wm. A. Crew, of Betterton. These were placed in nomination:

Willard H. Scotten	5
William A. Crew	20½
S. Frank Smith	3½
Thomas Willis	5½

Messrs. Vickers and Owens were renominated for commissioners and Mr. Henry Tonkin for surveyor. Thus closed one of the most remarkable conventions in the history of the party. The convention was orderly and was kept well in hand by the new leaders. The following is the ticket:

Clerk—William D. Burchinal.
Register—Bartus Trew.
Treasurer—H. Morris Bramble.
Sheriff—William A. Crew.
Legislature—Samuel Mallalieu, F. H. Harper, L. B. Russell.
Commissioners—Thomas J. Vickers, George W. Owens.
Surveyor—Henry Tonkin.

Some well known Republicans were dropped and a thud was heard. Among these were Thos. A. Jacobs, S. F. Smith, Willard Scotten, George T. Williams, Jno. W. Wright, Samuel Mallalieu and others.

Mr. Jos. Kendall was an important factor in naming the ticket. It is rumored that he has an eye on that police boat while his son looks with jealous eye on the State House at Annapolis in the event of Mr. Russell's election.

The report circulated that there was a disturbance between Zack Dunn and Mr. Urie on Court street Tuesday is without foundation. It seems that before the convention Zack Dunn came to Mr. Urie with a suggestion that in the interest of harmony there should be a change in the candidacy of some of the parties. The vehemence of Zack's gestures lead the onlookers to suppose he was angry. Both Mr. Urie and Zack disclaim that there was the slightest friction between them.

HAVOC AMONG HOGS!

Cholera Enters the Farm Yards About Lankford and Pomona—300 Dead—Dogs Kill Six Near Lynch's.

Hog cholera has been playing sad havoc among the swine of farmers about Lankford the past week. Mr. Tylden Brice had a fine pen of twenty fattening hogs last week, but to-day has but two left, while pigs numbering sixty or seventy he scattered about the fields dead or dying. The sight is indeed horrible. Mr. I. F. Walbert has nine out of forty, while Mr. Richard Bryan has but one hog left. Mr. I. R. Leaverton has lost a score or more, while Mr. Walter Strong counts his loss by the dozen. He hauled out seven fine hogs Wednesday morning and many of his shotes were dying. They are sick but a short time, the disease being most fatal to the pigs, while in the case of the hogs they live sometimes for a week or ten days. They first show no appetite, then they become very weak and refuse to come when called. Then it is not long before the buzzards are preying on them. The disease is a fearful nightmare to many farmers, as they go to bed at night with fine shotes and hogs in plenty in their barn yards, apparently well and hearty, when lo, and behold! next morning the fine animals are found struck with the scourge—some are dead and others dying. We were told this week of an effective remedy used on Kent Island, where the disease now prevails, namely:

To one bucket slop put one tablespoonful of spirits of turpentine. Give to hogs, sick or well.

It will do no harm to try this simple remedy.

The farmers in Quaker Neck are also losing heavily by hog cholera.

Mr. August Money, tenant on Mr. T. E. Hayes' farm, near Lynch's Station, has lost ten or twelve shotes recently from attacks by dogs. Last Friday and Saturday nights he heard a noise among his hogs, and upon investigation found two dogs after them, but was unable to get a shot. The half eaten carcasses were found in the field.

SOCIAL MATTERS.

A Young Man Presented a Farm for a Birthday Gift.

Mr. Jack Westcott, son of Senator Charles T. Westcott, was 21 years old last Tuesday. His father presented him with a deed to the fine farm tenanted by Capt. Cornelius Hadaway on Chester river. Mrs. Westcott added her recognition of the important day by arranging a delightful straw-ride, the objective point being the farm. With four horses to a large wagon, lanterns, bells and horns the party left town, and upon reaching the farm, found the lawn ablaze with beautiful lights, etc. Refreshments were served and a most delightful evening enjoyed under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. W. and Miss Guion. Those who enjoyed the straw-ride were: Misses Grace Whaland, Carrie and Laura Mitkewicz, Sallie and Isabel Beck, Lucy Hines, Nannie Brice, Beulah Hayes, Marie and Eunice Westcott, Messrs. Carle and Jack Westcott, Henry Deaver, Joseph Brice, Frank Simpers, Spencer Hurtt, Mr. Miller and Mr. Fraser.

A social hop was given at the residence of Mr. Bates Hendrix in Broad Neck on Tuesday, 13th inst., in honor of his daughter, Miss Katie. Among those present were Misses Nora Hendrix, Nellie Sanders, Lillie Ahart, and Carrie Shears, of Baltimore; Misses Hope and Mary Walls, of Worton; Carrie and Nan Ford, Jennie and Nan Duling, of Quaker Neck; Eliza Gladhill, of Queen Anne's; Hettie Hadaway, Maud Thompson, Flora Taylor, Messrs. Claud Brown, Jas. Deford, Walter Toulson, Thomas Toulson, Harry McIllway, Budd and Daniel Potts, Vickers Beck, Wm. Fenhagen and Wilbur Hendrix, of Queen Anne's; Jas. Smith, Nelson Crouch, Clarence Edwards, Cotton Thompson and others.

Miss Katie Trew entertained a number of friends at her home in Quaker Neck Thursday evening. One young gentleman's horse became restless during the late hours of the night and trotted off to town. His owner found his team in good condition.

The steam yacht Sunset has been in demand this week carrying parties on short excursions. Wednesday evening a company went to Crumpton and Thursday evening a party of ladies went to Quaker Neck Wharf.

Peach Notes.

At Lynch's on Tuesday morning buyers paid from 50c. to $1.25 per basket. Three cars were loaded at these prices. Mr. Samuel Wallen, of Queen Anne's, carried twenty-seven baskets of Reeves to Millington on Monday and got $27. At Worton Station, Betterton and elsewere the price ranged from 70c. to $1.10.

AN IDEA of the number of peaches that will be hauled from the Peninsula over the Delaware road this year can be gotten from these facts. Heretofore as many as 1300 to 1500 cars were in use or were sidetracked on the various sidings throughout the State during the peach season. This year there are about 150 cars available, and all these will probably not be needed to carry the crop. No extra crews have been employed and it is likely that none will be. The regular freight trains will handle the whole supply.

Peaches took a tumble in price the latter part of the present week. In Philadelphia the market broke and prices were low; in Baltimore white fruit sold as low as 40 cts. per basket for best grades while yellow brought from 40 to 80 cts. At our railroad stations the price dropped from 50 @ $1.25 to 35 @ 55 cts.

WHEAT REACHES $1.00!

Wheat still advances. It sold in Baltimore yesterday for $1 per bushel and local buyers were paying 97 cents. The unsold wheat in Kent will amount to thousands of bushels.

This is the highest price reached by wheat since Feb. 1892, and marks the realization to some extent of the farmer's fondest dream through years of depression and trouble.

Serious Accident.

Abe Cohen's 4-year-old child was run over in Sandy Bottom Tuesday by young Trusty, colored, and its skull fractured. The little one was sent to the hospital and the doctors hope to save its life.

THE Chestertown National Bank is about to take a step forward in the way of improving their bank building, on High street. A plate glass and steel front is to be one of the most striking features; the roof is to be raised and the building modernized. Messrs. Culp & Son have submitted plans, but the contract has not yet been given out.

*

THE new Queen Anne's railroad is meeting with success. The plans of the railroad company contemplate an energetic reaching out for new business. The first improvement will probably be to secure a larger and faster ferry steamer for use between Baltimore and Queenstown. Excursion business between Baltimore and Queenstown has grown to proportions scarcely expected. It is, therefore, deemed necessary to secure a large and swift passenger and express steamer for next season.

The steamer will have a capacity for 1,200 or 1,500 passengers, have greater open-deck space, and in every way be equipped for excursion business, and in addition will have sufficient speed to be able to make three round trips a day between Baltimore and Queenstown, instead of two. The steamer B. S. Ford, now running on the route, will, it is expected, find full employment as an extra boat and for handling freight. Plans are also well under way to build the northern extension, from Queenstown through Queen Anne's and Kent counties, to a point connecting with the Baltimore and Ohio or Pennsylvania Railroad near Elkton.

*

TRENCHARD BROS. have forty small boys at their factory making basket tops. It is a busy scene, there being about seventy-five or a hundred employes there working night and day. Tomato baskets are now in demand.

*

ANDREW KRAUSE, who escaped from Deputy Sheriff Davis, of Kent county, on Light street wharf August 3, was arrested Tuesday in Philadelphia by Detective Murray and will be delivered to Sheriff Casey. Krause was arrested on August 2 at Tolchester, charged with picking pockets. He was conveyed to Baltimore and committed by Justice Caulk to await the action of the Kent county authorities. While being taken to the boat by Deputy Sheriff Davis Krause made his escape.

*

A HORSE driven by Mr. Albert Smithman last Friday night shied at a cow lying in the road, near the railroad depot, overturning the buggy and throwing the occupants, Mr. Smithman and two young ladies, into the road. The carriage top was wrecked, but the occupants escaped unhurt. The team belonged to Mr. G. B. McWhorter.

READ the article in another column in reference to the advantages offered by the Kent County Savings Bank. This institution is now one of the safest banking houses of the State and is under the supervision of conservative business men. Parents could not do a wiser act than to advise their children to deposit there and get interest on their savings. Persons with money will find this bank a safe place to invest it at 3 per cent. County paper is discounted at 6 per cent. per annum and loans made on notes and real estate.

MILLINGTON NOTES.

A Fish Story, but a True One—A Barn Struck by Lightning and Other Notes.

On Sunday night lightning struck Mr. Joseph Higman's barn, at Higman's mill, near town, and burned it to the ground. The barn contained over a thousand bushels of wheat, nearly all of which was destroyed.

Colored Excursion.

At 10.30 A. M. on Sunday an excursion train from Philadelphia, containing eight carloads of colored folks, arrived in Millington to attend the colored camp meeting at Riley's, one mile from town. Everything passed off quietly, except that one man by the name of George Sewell, from Still Pond, was badly cut. The altercation took place in this way: Grant Potts, of Wilmington, was running a game of crap down in the woods, when Sewell walked up and took a hand. He won freely from Potts and Potts took him to be his Jonah and made a mad rush at him with a razor, finally succeeding in running him down and cutting him in several places. One cut on the right side of his body was about seven inches long and was cut clear into the ribs. Sewell was brought into Millington and Dr. Jacobs dressed his wounds, after which he was sent to his home near Still Pond.
