THE destructive Hessian fly has made its appearance in the upper parts of Frederick county.

THE Smyrna Times comes to us in the new form and looking as bright as a new pin. It is one of the best of the Peninsula papers.

THE largest sturgeon caught this year in the Susquehanna river was gilled by James Butchenhart, of Port Deposit, last week. The fish was 8 feet 8 inches long.

THE tomato industry in Elk Neck being pushed ahead this year by the introduction of patent tomato planters. This machine digs the hole, sets the plant in it, waters the roots and fills the dirt firmly about the stock. Two men can thus plant twelve acres a day.

AT a meeting of the trustees of the Queen Anne's last week William Jester was re-elected superintendent of the institution for one year and Mrs. Jester was appointed matron. The institution is in excellent condition, and the cost of the maintenance of the county poor and harmless insane does not exceed $1,500 a year. There are 43 inmates at the institution–9 white males, 16 white females and 12 colored females. Thos. H. Reed was reappointed superintendent of the insane department.

HON. THOMAS A. SMITH.

Caroline Democrats are alive to the interest of this county in the coming campaign, and will be without doubt represented in the State convention by delegates favorable to the nomination of Hon. Thomas A. Smith, who is a candidate for Comptroller. The local Democracy is solid for him. In an interview Thursday Mr. Smith said:

"I will be a candidate for Comptroller before the Democratic State convention. Many party and personal friends in Caroline and various parts of the State, including Western and Southern Maryland, have urged me to become a candidate. This I have concluded to do and hope to be again named for the Comptrollership. I may say just here that I have not heretofore actively sought a nomination, but have always preferred to work in the ranks. That was my wish when I was the party's nominee, and in 1897 when the State convention made me a candidate. The real strength of the party and its candidates in '97, when there was a party dissension, was not, in my opinion, fairly tested, and hence my desire to measure the issues before the people in 1899. I wish to add, however, that the success of the Democracy is to me a matter of far greater importance than personal ambition; and should the wisdom of the delegates from all parts of the State, in convention assembled, dictate the choice of another for the position I will enter the canvass with as much zeal as I could possibly were I the one selected, and his success and the success of the ticket will be as earnestly championed. I recognize the fact that the present effort to redeem the State and place it in its wanted position in the Democratic column should not in any way be hindered by undue clashing of personal or sectional interests. There is now every reason to hope that this spirit pervades the whole party, and that the breach separating many Democratic voters from their former friends has disappeared. With a good ticket, harmoniously nominated, the Democrats should easily win the election in November."

Mr. Smith's modest statement in reference to his candidacy for the comptrolership is what his many friends expected. Although in every way fitted for the office, and eminently deserving of it, having waged a gallant fight against heavy odds in the great contest of '97 bespeaks advance harmonious action, even if it be necessary to eliminate himself for the contest, the outcome of which is almost an assured victory for the Democrats. His many friends in the State, particularly those of the Eastern Shore, should, however, abate no effort to secure the elevation of so worthy a Democrat.

THE thirty-ninth commencement exercises of the Western Maryland College will be held June 10-14. Aluimn Hall will be opened during the week and some of the distinguished speakers announce to be present are Hons. A. P. Gorman, Llyod Lowndes, Alonzo Miles and Geo. L. Wellington.

The infinite variety of life all around us, from the tiniest insect up to man, the continual changes occurring in the life of the humblest individual, the mutability of nations, the fluctuation of opinion, the progress of civilizing influence, the advance in the means and methods of living — all these and a thousand other changes and vicissitudes would seem to chase away the very thought of monotony from every mind. But they do not. It is however only the inactive mind and the unobservant eye and the apathetic spirit that can for a moment imagine life monotonous. Ill-health of body or despair of soul may cover everything with the funeral pall of their own dark visions, but the monotony is in themselves alone, never in the outside world or in life as a whole.

MAYOR MALSTER'S HOME.

Mayor Master purchased a country residence at Catonsville, Md., on Monday. The price paid was $11,500 in fee. The property contains 11 1-5 acres, fronting 282 feet on the Frederick road, with a depth of 1,200 feet. It is improved by a dwelling, stable and outbuildings. The Mayor will occupy the residence as his summer home.

ICEMAKING PROCESS.

Frank West instituted suit in the Circuit Court yesterday against W. A. B. Hoke, Charles T. Westcott, Eli Scott Merryman and the Westcott-Merryman Ice Company, of Baltimore, to obtain a joint interest in a method of manufacturing ice devised by Mr. Merryman. The bill of complaint was filed by Rich & Bryan, attorneys,. It states that Mr. West furnished $1,500 for determining the value of Mr. Merryman's process under a contract that he should share equally in the profits. The process turned out to be practicable and profitable, but Mr. West alleges that he has been frozen out.
