CIRCUS COMING.

During a recent interview with Sig Sautelle whose new big 25-cent shows will be seen in Chestertown, Monday, Sept. 10th, a reporter for this paper gleaned the following facts: This season there are over 200 men and women and as many horses, ponies and donkeys with the circus. The street parade is a dazzling wealth of wonders and is more than a mile in length, while the performance proves a world of amazement in three hours. In every department, the shows are larger, grander and better than ever before. In fact they comprise a grandly great circus with entirely new faces and features. There is nothing threadbare or even soiled from ticket wagon back and all who attend the performances in Chestertown, Monday, Sept. 10th, will be right royally entertained.

A RECITAL of unusual interest will be given Monday evening, Sept. 3d, in the spacious rooms of the Hotel Rigbie, Betterton, Md. The reader and impersonator, Jeanette T. Broomell, of Philadelphia, cannot be too highly praised for her inimitable impersonation of child-life. She will be heard at her best on this occasion. Helen B. Reed, harpist, whose reputation as an artist throughout a great section of this country is beyond dispute, will assist, and also Louis A. Stremple, baritone, of Albany, N. Y. The latter will sing solos fitting the occasion and those calculated to please all tastes. Mr. Stremple will be assisted by the solo pianist, Anna Mae Mealy, of Baltimore, Md., who will render several piano solos. This array of talent positively assures a most interesting even'g.
