MILLINGTON ITEMS.

Miss Phillips returned home Monday from Perry Hall, Md.

Miss May Green spent Sunday and Monday in Sudlersville.

Miss Emily Massey is visiting in Chestertown and Baltimore.

Mr. J. P. Ahern and family have returned from Rehoboth, Del.

Misses Maggie and Etta Jones returned from Ocean Grove last Wednesday.

The Millington cornet band is getting on nicely under the leadership of Prof. Godwin.

Miss Vic Power returned Wednesday from Philadelphia, where she has been spending the summer.

Mrs. Frank Greenwood and son, William, of Chestertown, spent Tuesday with Miss Anna Meginniss.

The Gospel Tent was moved up to Masseys last Monday and services are being held there by Rev. H. S. Dulaney.

The Millington Messenger, edited by our able pastor, Rev. Henry S. Dulaney, of the M. E. Church, is a newsy little paper and should have a place in every home of Millington and vicinity. The rates are within the reach of all. Read the special offer on page 4 of the last issue.

Mrs. M. E. Blackiston, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, died very suddenly last Wednesday morning about 3 o'clock, of heart failure. Mrs. Blackiston had been in ill health for several months. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. M. E. B. Mallalieu, at whose home she died. She was a sister of the late H. M. Stuart, of Chestertown, and a consistent member of the M. E. Church.

ROCK HALL NEWS.

Mrs. Ella Galbraithe, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Usilton.

A man from Havre de Grace is here putting the slate roof on the new M. E. Church.

Mr. James Rodney bruised his limb some way while oystering, and he is now compelled to use crutches to be able to get about.

Mr. Joseph Downey, one of our enterprising lumber dealers, is now equipped with a planing mill and other devices for the furtherance of his business and the best advantages of his patrons.

The rural mail carriers leave this office now in the morning instead of after the arrival of the Chestertown stage at 4 P. M. This schedule went into effect on Monday last and will continue until further notice.

Mr. Benj F. Urie is having a cosy dwelling erected on the lot which he recently bought and which adjoins the lands of Mrs. Sarah E. Hardesty and others. Mr. Wesley Stevens is doing the work and Mr. Joseph Downey is furnishing the material.

Capt. George F. Satterfield, of the police schooner Anna B. Smith, is building a house on a part of what was formerly his father's lot. It will be of modern style, with bay window on the south. Messrs. Judefind & Ayres are doing the work and Elmer E. Leary is furnishing the material.

Sickness has been in a number of families and the most of it has been fevers. Weldon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. I. Ashley, has been one of the worst sufferers from typhoid fever, but at this writing he is somewhat improved. Mrs. Wilbur Miller has had a relapse of the same malady, and Raymond Miller is now a sufferer from the same disease. Messrs. J. M. Taylor, J. E. Middleton, S. T. Wheat and Bayard Ashley have all been confined to their rooms with fevers, but are able now to be about again.

Rock Hall Council No. 149, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold their fifth anniversary on October 18th, and the following committee of arrangements has been appointed: Elwood P. Kendall, chairman; George P. Orr, vice-chairman; Chas. N. Satterfield, secretary; John H. Taylor, Clarence E. Moffett, William Hynson, George E. Coleman, Edward H. Apsley and Jethro T. Woolford. They are now hard at work making the necessary provision for the feeding and entertainment of the large crowd that is expected to attend. Some of the most prominent men in the order are expected to be present and make addresses. Music will be furnished by the famous Rock Hall orchestra, and after the speech making dancing will be indulged in by those who like to trip the light fantastic.

On Tuesday evening a Council of the Daughters of America was instituted at Fairlee by State Councilor Anna T. Wallace, State Vice-Councilor Mrs. Marie I. Connors, State Council Secretary Mrs. May W. LeBrun, Mrs. Georgia Mezger, P. C., No. 55, and Chas. N. Satterfield, Deputy State Councilor. This Council has the promise of becoming one of the strongest on the Shore, and the Councilor was especially commended on the way in which she presided: it is certain that the growth and welfare of the Council will be well looked after by her. After the institution the following officers were elected and afterwards installed by State Councilor Mrs. Wallace: Councilor, Miss Caroline Smyth; associate councilor, Mrs. Agnes Lewis; vice-councilor, Mrs. Ida Anderson; associate vice-councilor, Mrs. Rosie Leaverton; jr. past councilor, John L. Lewis; associate jr. past councilor, Chas. B. Lamb; recording secretary, Miss Hattie Lewis; financial secretary, Miss Eliz. Lewis; treasurer, Frank Leaverton; conductor, Elizabeth Jenkins; warden, Mrs. S. D. Leaverton; inside sentinel, Mrs. Gibson; outside sentinel, S. D. Leaverton; trustees, Miss Caroline Smyth, J. L. Lewis, C. B. Lamb. The regular meetings of the council will be on Thursday of each week.

AN unprofitable tomato crop is now staring our farmers in the face. The small yield is the trouble, caused by long summer drought. The average yield in the county, will not be five tons per acre, when it requires about ten tons to make the crop profitable.

MR. JOSIAH MASSEY expresses the opinion that Kent county—or rather the farmers of Kent County—would be better off to-day if they had not planted a peach tree nor a tomato vine.

THE Democratic Club at Rock Hall, B. H. Coburn, President, held a big meeting Thursday evening. S. S. Field, Esq., of Baltimore, addressed the audience.
