Everybody to His Own Liking, as Betsy Said When She Kissed the Cow.

A whole heap has been said and written because President Roosevelt last week chose to invite Booker Washington, an educated negro, President of a College, to dine with him at the White House table. Of course the President, as any other independent citizen, has a right to pick his company. It is stated that no one save the President's family was present at the dinner. Earlier in the week the President made announcement of his purpose to make a new departure as far as federal appointments in the South are concerned. This raised high the hopes of a certain class of men. The act of the President, however, is inviting a negro to sit at the table in the White House has thrown a damper upon the good feeling which had started. For, if the President invites one negro he may invite another, and he may send him or her amongst other white guests. But, as Betsy said when she kissed the cow, "Every one to his liking."

In a long editorial in the Louisville Courier Journal of the 22nd inst., Mr. Watterson, the distinguished editor thus philosophizes:

"One does not know precisely whether to laugh or to whistle," he says. "Assuredly, it is the part of wisdom in Democrats to say nothing and saw wood."

Mr. Watterson contends that every American citizen has the right to pick his own company. He goes on to argue that Mr. Roosevelt is only shown to be true to his political religion, and states that its foundation was to free the negro, to seat him in the high places of the land, and that for a great moral lesson it kept the seat of Jefferson Davis vacant until it could be filled by a gentleman of color."

Mr. Watterson mourns for Booker Washington and says that in the end he is "to pay the freight."

"Truly he says, "the President did Booker Washington an ill-turn." In his concluding paragraph Mr. Watterson says:

Looking at it from a partisan point of view, Democrats may take not a little confort to themselves. Whatever happens, this is not our funeral. Out in the cold, as we may be, shivering as we are, and hungry—yea verily, and thirsty—yes, as we stand around the White House and look in through the windows and see 'Teddy' and Booker hobnobbing over 'possum and potatoes, not one of us is disposed to envy either of them, or exclaim to either of them, 'Wouldn't it be bully to be him. We prefer to take our chances of the future.

We had better wait till our time comes. Somehow, the look ahead does not seem so hopeless nor the distance so long.

For there is here a radical infirmity of judgment—a plan of lack of common sense—and bless the Lord, we are not in it.

Indeed the shortcoming implied by it means a great call to us. Mistakes, like misfortunes, never come singly. They travel in groups and are cumulous. We Democrats have but to get together and to keep our powder dry to call all before us three years hence, because this young man is a broncho buster, and he is going to raise more of that stuff from the very hot place with the very short name to the square inch than was ever raised before in that particular neck of woods-Sursum corda.

There's a good time coming boys; wait a little longer."

Birthday Party.—Master Solomon Pippin, who resides with his aunts, Misses Anna and Fannie Hurtt, was given a delightful birthday party Wednesday evening by them, the occasion being the eight anniversary of his birth. Games were played by the little folks and each one seemed perfectly delighted and happy. After their games they were invited into the dining room, where refreshments were served them by several young ladies. Solomon was the recipient of many very pretty presents. The Misses Hurtt were assisted by Misses Mary Loper, Pauline Spear and Arminella Gambrill in entertaining the little folks. Among those present were: Annie Radzewski, Lillian Loper, Mary Wilson, Edna and Anna Duling, Bertha and Ella Hickey. Gladys Jacobs, Katherine Price, Emily, Edna and Esther Spear, Masters Solomon Pippin, Henry Tonkin, Ellsworth Gambrill, Ernest Radzewski, Homer Ailsworth, Paul Jacobs, Stewart Price, Lewin and Franklin Spear.

Married.—The wedding of Miss Mary Lesage, daughter of Mr. Wm. LeSage, of Millington, took place on Wednesday, October, 16th, to Mr. Frank C. Burnham, of Roxton Md., son of Mr. John B. Burnham. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James W. Hammesley, at the home of the bride's sister in Green Spring valley, at 12 o'clock noon. The wedding march was played by Miss Ethel Smith, niece of the bride. The bride wore a dress of mode trimmed white satin and laces and carried bride's roses. The groom was attired in a suit of black broad-cloth. After the ceremony a bridal dinner was served at the home of the bride's sister. After the dinner the young couple left for the home of the groom's parents, where a reception was held at 10 P. M. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McComas, Misses Jennie LeSage, Lizzie Burnham, Elva McComas, Ethel Smith and Messrs. John Burnham, James LeSage and Upton Burnham.

A sensational scene was witnessed in the court-room Thursday when Judge Advocate Lemly, angered at the bantering of Attorney-General Isidore Rayner, shouted: "In the words of the would-be Governor of Maryland I would say—" He never completed the sentence. Admiral Dewey, his eyes shining like stars on a frosty night, arose and with a flushed face sternly said: "Stop right there! Hold on! None of that! We will have none of that sort of thing. Get on with the case." Captain Lemly immediately changed his tactics.
