Mule Sale.—Mr. J. B. Richardson will have his sale of 30 fine mules in Chestertown to-day. They are 2 years old and are beauties. In an interview, the owner states that he had 296 mules at his home in Missouri. When the drought struck the State he did not know what to do with his stock. Finally, he was compelled to ship the 296 mules into the Indian Territory, where he bought corn fields at $1.50 per acre, and the mules were turned in to feed on tender stalks on which corn had failed to grow. Corn is now selling for 75 cents per bushel in Missouri, and for this reason the mules are being shipped East. Mr. R. had a piece kicked out of his left ear by a mule when a boy, and is an expert in handling them.

Local Notes.—Hog butchering has been the order of the day for the past week or so. Mr. Hayes on the Woodall farm killed a pen of twelve that averaged 400 pounds. Others near here butchered a good many very near as heavy. The "Hog Cholera" has been very bad in this neighborhood, some losing all. Mr. Jas. Walls lost 3 large hogs; Rev. Mr. Prettyman lost 6 or 7 large hogs, and Mr. John Briscoe, Vic Stradley, Mr. Todd and others lost their hogs.

Most of our farmers are done husking corn and will soon be discharging their hands. It will make a long winter for laboringmen as there will not be much work before Spring.

Again the health of our community is good.

The stores are brightning up for Xmas.

Our new store-keeper, J. W. Mulford, is doing well in his new business. He has taken the store occupied by the late Geo. C. Walls.

Thermometer registered here at 7 this A. M, 20°.

There is some talk of a recount of the votes cast at the last election. We think it is as well for both sides to let it alone. We hope the Legislature will make no change in the form and mode of voting as we thing the ticket voted at last election is the easiest one for a voter of any intelligence to vote that has been used for a number of years. The only improvement we can see is not to have the party name on it after the name of the candidate, but our Legislators know what is best.

R. Heston Hicks has the finest display of Christmas goods ever seen here. He should have the hearty support of the public.

Rock Hall Locals.

What a pity that the defeated candidates in the late election contest, cannot gracefully accept the result as returned by the officials. Will a contest benefit either party? Hardly, but it may prove expensive to the tax payers.

And now comes "McGrath" in his efforts to help the Baltimore Press get up oyster legislation. Wonder if their solicitude for the oyster is as great as their jealousy of the honest class of independent workmen along the shores of our tide-water counties?

Let the State look after the bed as it should, and the supply will not only be kept up, but considerably increased! That's it.

If the remainder of the season is as unfavorable to the tonging interests, as the past month has been, the oyster will be O. K. November proved the most blustrious of any November on record.

Capt. Satterfield again paid his respects to Huntingfield harbor on Saturday last and succeeded in "running in" several crews for violating the cull law. He has his eyes on others and intends to break up the dodging rule, so prevalent among violators if possible.

Capt. Wm. T. George has been housed up for the past month owing to general debility. His neighbors along Allen's Lane went in a body one day last week husked and housed his corn crop, and stacked the fodder for him. Mr. "Tom Wheat" also dropped in and cut up and salted the Captain's pork. For all of which, the Captain feels exceedingly grateful.

Sunday last was a glorious day and worshipers were out in large numbers at the churches. Rev. Mr. Talley, preached a special sermon to the Jr. O. U. A. M., who were present in a body as was also the Daughters of America. The reverend gentleman's last sermon Sunday week at Bozman, was delivered before the Jr. O. U. A. M., of that place. Mr. Talley seems well pleased with his new field of labor and the people here are favorably impressed with their new Pastor.

Now that our farmers have finished husking their corn crop, they find the yield not so good as was hoped for during the late summer.

The rain storm of Tuesday and the bluster of Wednesday interfered very much with the plans and anticipations of the Odd Fellows on the occasion of their supper and entertainment. There were quite a large audience of the families and friends of the Odd's. There was some disappointment in the expectant speakers, Grand Patriarch, J. E. Krob, being the only one to appear, at the last hour Mr. John M. Jones, Grand Scribe, being too indisposed to leave the City. Mr. Kroh made a fine address which was well received by all present.

Fairlee Notes.

The Fairlee Heptasophs will join the Chestertown Conclave in a body, holding their last meeting in Fairlee Monday night next. All members had better be present in order for removal.

The lecture, "Man and His Assets," to be delivered by the Rev. and Hon. Jonathan Willis, next Wednesday evening, in Salem Church, will be a literary treat, and it should be well attended. Proceeds for parsonage furniture.

Next Sunday will be talent return day at Salem Church. Pastor Arters gave out talent money to many children in the early part of the year, and he hopes they will be returned, not dug up, but with many accessions.

Thursday evening following Christmas day, the village Sunday school will render a very pleasing program, the first rehearsal for the occasion having been held last Wednesday evening. After rendition of program the pupils of the school will receive a fine collation.

The weather is materially affecting builders in their work, and a great deal remains unfinished.

There will be many removals in the village New Years Day.

Many think there is a political upheaval in the State of Maryland strewn with deplorable actions.

Buying Stock.—Mr. B. Kramer, of Rock Hall, shipped 492 geese last week from Kent county, besides lot of hogs, lambs and sheep. Mr. James P. Hatcherson has raised 61 for which Mr. Kramer paid him $1.30 each; Mr. Johnny Brice raised 27 geese and Mr. Thos. Parsons, of Broad Neck, sold 40 at $1 each. Mr. Kramer says this has been a bad year for lamb buyers as the price has steadily declined since Spring.
