Random Notes....

THE town council of Easton has subscribed $1,000 to the capital stock of the new furniture factory. This factory was burned last month, but enough money has been subscribed to build a larger and better plant. Here is an example for Chestertown. Will they profitby it?

DURING the past summer 100,000 new homes have been established on the Texas plains, and as many sheep have been forced into close quarters, so that the outlook for good stock prices will likely continue.

GROUND was broken Saturday at Port Deposit for the new Presbyterian church, which is to cost about $5,000 and for which the contract has been awarded. The building will be of Port Deposit granite, one story high, and will be located on the east side of Main street.

COMMANDER HOWARD, of the State Fishery Force, has made a trip down the bay and is not jubilant over the outlook for this season's catch of oysters. He stated that "oysters will be scarce," and that the principal catch will come from the lower bay.

A REMARKABLE snake story is told by Mr. Eugene Harris, who operates Mr. Thomas E. Gill's flour mill at Mantau Mills, Baltimore county. He says he killed 51 snakes with a shotgun in two shots—30 at one shot and 21 at another. They were huddled together in two schools, one in the water of the mill race and the other on the bank. They were all water snakes and varied in length from a few inches to two feet.

SAUTELLE'S SHOW arrived in Elkton on Thursday morning in a somewhat damaged condition. Several cages, containing monkeys, kangaroos and birds were jarred from the train near Rowlandsville, this county, while the show was on its way from Oxford, Pa., to Elkton. Some of the birds and monkeys escaped, and one kangaroo was badly injured and left on the hands of the railroad people at Elkton. It is understood that the owners of the show will sue the railroad company for the damage sustained.—Democrat.

Denton's Coal Supply.—Denton, the county seat of Caroline, possibly, has the largest supply of anthracite coal on hand than any other peninsula town. We are reliably informed that the coal carried over from last season by the two firms is sufficient to supply the town for fully onehalf of the coming winter, and if it should be mild one, for two thirds of the winter. It should be remembered that Denton is now a town of over 1,000 and one of the most progressive of Eastern Shore towns. The Denton dealers are delivering coal from their present supply at $8 per ton. In New York it is from $12 to $14 per ton.

Trolley Will Connect Elkton and Newark.

Edwin R. Cochran, Jr., attorney for the Newark and Elkton Electric Railway Company, accompanied by David C Rouse, appeared before the Newark Town Council on Thursday night, last week, and asked that the company be permitted to lay tracks on Main street from the East End to South College Avenue, and on the latter thoroughfare to the P, W. & B. Railroad station.

The Council deferred action on the request.

The people of the town are anxious for a trolley road, and it is most likely that the street franchise will be granted. This is the line that is to connect with the Kent and Cecil Co.

MARYLAND TEACHERS PENSIONED.

The Maryland State Board of Education, in session last Wednesday at Baltimore, placed the names of thirty-seven retired teachers of this State upon the pension roll, as provided by the recent session of the Legislature, appropriating a sum of $10,000 annually for the purpose of paying $200 each to persons over sixty years of age who have taught for at least twenty-five years in the State with creditable records, and who are unable to teach longer by reason of physical or mental incapacity, the said sum to be paid in quarterly installments of $50 each.

Miss Martha Biddle, of Elkton, was the only Cecil Countian among the thirty-seven to be placed upon the roll. although Mr. S. J. Tammany, of Havre de Grace, formerly taught in the county. Kent had none.
