CHESTERTOWN, MD., SEPT. 13, 1902.

WHEAT is quoted at 72⅝; corn 48½c.

BEDWORTH stock is now at a premium. Willie Bell is a noted man in the horse world.

THE coal strike looks to be a long ways from settlement. Families had better get their wood and gas stoves in readiness.

THE city of Newark, Del., has lost a good thing by exacting conditions which caused the trolley road to be diverted. The town is to be left in the distance. Hard bargains are not often the best bargains.

WHO was the "Queen Anne's political plunger" at the Ocean City convention? We failed to see him. The Easton Ledger says this gentleman, who was not a delegate, kept Talbot from aiding Hopper.

THE notification ceremonies relative to the nomination of Hon. James E. Ellegood for Congress, will be held in Salisbury next Tuesday at 2.30 P. M. Mr. Jacob T. Shallcross, of Kent, is one of the committee. The campaign for the district will be mapped out.

THERE never was a better opportunity for good citizens to punish bribery than now. We have heard our ministers and laity, Democrats, Republicans and Prohibitions talk about the evils of bribery and how they wished that men and not money ruled, etc. James E. Ellegood, the congressional candidate on the Democratic ticket, is this ideal. The nomination was handed to him without any promises as to money and upon a platform of anti-bribery to which he would rather adhere than be Congressman. He makes this his fight.

Every citizen who votes against him encourages by this act the use of boodle and does not help when he might to stop this great curse.

Never was there a campaign when these issues were more clearly made, and now is the opportunity for MEN to register their disapproval of bribery.

CHESTERTOWN and Kent County are proud of the continued improvement of the service on the Kent railroad. The roadbed has undergone a complete change and when we compare the road of to-day to that of only a few years ago it is like riding over asphalt when here-to-fore it was as rough as cobblestones! The new depots have been completed and will compare favorably with any local road under the Pennsylvania system. The old "Adams Express" depots were eyesores and the public hail with pleasure this decided improvement.

The afternoon train especially is a wonderful convenience and is well patronized. The time made on the latter train is equal to that of the main line and the public appreciate it. The business of the road has largely increased during the past year which evidences the fact that this improved service is appreciated. We learn that in the near future a freight train will be put in service thus leaving the morning and afternoon trains for passengers only.

Surveyors have been to Chestertown looking to the removal of the depot to foot of Cross street and it is expected that active work will be commenced this month.

WE are told that a report is in circulation to the effect that the small pox has made its appearance in Chestertown. There is no foundation for such a report. Not a single case of small pox, or any other disease akin to small pox, has been in the town or vicinity for many years.

IT IS no mere venting partisan feeling to say that William H. Jackson has been recreant to his duties as a representative of the first district of Maryland. The records show that he has done worse than nothing, because he has been persistently absent from his place at the very time when the most important questions brought before the Fifty-seventh Congress had reached a vote. The records show that on twenty-two important bills and resolutions he has voted on but one measure; that he was paired on ten and was absent and not even paired on eleven.

AS FAR AS being heard from in the proceedings of the House in open session, Representative William H. Jackson has never been in any wise a credit to his district. He has never made a speech, has taken part in no debate, has not even asked leave to print remarks he might entertain on subjects of legislation vital to all the country, nor has his voice ever been heard except in the mere introduction of some private bill.
