PROXY CAPTURED THE BRIDE

Lumber Merchant's Wooing Has Unexpected Ending.

The marriage of Miss Mayme M. Heninger, 1302 Linden avenue, to Mr. Joseph H. Sechler, which took place last Wednesday evening, Rev. L. A. Ferris, pastor of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating, was surrounded by not a little romance and brought to light a wooing in various particulars similar to that of which the poet Longfellow sings in his "Courtship of Miles Standish." Indeed, Miss Heninger, who is now Mrs. Sechler, can almost be heard addressing her future husband as Priscilla did John Allen in those well-known words: "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

Mrs. Sechler, who is 18 years old, is a daughter of Mr. John B. Heninger, a prominent merchant of Chilhowie, Va. Last fall her father sent her to this city to pursue a musical course at the Peabody Conservatory of Music. As the young lady is quite attractive, she soon had many admirers, and among them was a prominent lumber merchant of this city, who is considerably older than the lady. This merchant's attentions were so marked that it was thought a marriage would be the result. Some months ago he had to go to Europe, and before leaving he called his bookkeeper, Mr. Joseph H. Sechler, now the husband of the young lady, to him and requested him to see that flowers and candy were delivered to the then Miss Heninger twice a week. It is even reported that this merchant directed Mr. Sechler to deliver the flowers and candy in person during his sojourn abroad.

Of course Mr. Sechler complied with the request of his employer, and he soon found his commission a very pleasant one. But another suitor for the young lady's hand appeared in the person of a young man of Northwest Baltimore, and as the lumber merchant was absent the new Richmond congratulated himself on the progress which he was making in the young lady's affections.

All the time Mr. Sechler was faithful to his trust and no one had an idea that he would be the groom until the license was issued last Wednesday. It is said that when the lumber merchant learned that his bookkeeper had been accepted instead of himself he wrote to Mr. Heninger, who is an old friend, stating that his first thought was of Miss Mayme's happiness and that if she preferred Mr. Sechler to him he was resigned. The merchant was magnanimous enough to speak very highly of Mr. Sechler.

The pair will make their home at 1302 Linden avenue.

MONEY IN PIGS.

How a Girl Began a Profitable Industry on a Great Farm

Six years ago a daughter of Doctor W. Seward Webb, in order to show her business ability and to obtain a little additional pocket money, took a little "flyer" in stock-breeding on Shelburne Farms, Doctor Webb's country seat on Lake Champlain. She invested twenty dollars in a brood sow, and with her father's permission made arrangements with the sheppard to care for the sow and pigs.

As there was an abundance of skim milk, this was given her without cost, but all the grain feed was charged for at maket prices. From this single investment she cleared ninety-dollars the first year, two hundred dollars the second and three hundred dollars the third. By this time the stock had so increased in numbers as to outgrow its quarters, and was proving so profitable that Doctor Webb thought it advisable to buy her out. So at the end of the fourth year he took over the stock at market prices and gave her a check for seven hundred dollars, which represented the year's profit. From this start the piggery has been developed, which is the most profitable department of the place.

The past year two hundred pigs were sold, averaging from two hundred and fifty to three hundred pounds in weight, and bringing one-half cent. per pound more than the ruling market prices because of the superior conditions under which they are kept. The piggery is a model of its kind. The building is in keeping with the others on the place in exterior style, and the interior is finished with hard pine cement floors and iron troughs and fixtures

Farm Hands Strike.—A number of workmen employed on the farm and in the saw mill by Mr. Frank Seward, of near Ridgely, have demanded a ten hour system and the pay of ten cents per hour. Mr. Seward states that during the winter months he is compelled to work the men in his mill on the hour system, and he attributes this as the cause of the demand made by the men when they were put to work on the farm, The scarcity of farm help in recent years has made the few available men very independent. It is a question of serious moment to the farmer how he shall solve the labor question, as year after it becomes more complicated.

Rheumacide

Continues to make Miraculous Cures

READ THIS LETTER:
ALMOST A MIRACLE.
DILLON, S. C., Aug. 18th, 1902.
Gentlemen:—In September, 1899, I took rheumatism in a very bad form. In a month after the disease started I had to give up my work and go to bed. It continued to grow worse until my arms and hands were badly drawn, so much so that I could not use them. My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly twelve months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. Was treated by six different physicians in McColl, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, came to see me. He told me to try your "RHEUMACIDE." He got me one bottle of the medicine and I began to take it and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used five and a half bottles and was completely cured. That was two years ago, and my health has been excellent ever since. Have had no symptoms of rheumatism. I regard "RHEUMACIDE" as by far the best remedy for rheumatism on the market. I cannot say too much for it. I have recommended it to others since and it has cured them.
Will say further, that I began to walk in about six days after I began to take "RHEUMACIDE," with the aid of crutches; in about three months after I began to take it, I could walk as good as anybody, and went back to work again.
Very truly, JAMES WILKES.
