CHESTERTOWN, MD. JAN. 16, 1904.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.—Look at the date on your paper. It shows the time to which it is paid.

BRO. TYLER, of the Easton Gazette, in his last issue pays his respects to the Brethern of the quill and thus speaks of the NEWS:

"In taking up papers one by one, at last we come to Usilton. The KENT NEWS seems like an old chum, so good-natured, so congenial, democratic, you know—but it means well. As to business, it just makes an editor's palm itch to see its columns crammed full of paying ads."

May our friend have his itching palm soothed with pay from new ousiness that will eclipse even the vastness of the Atlantic & Pacific—not the oil company.

Champion Egg Man.—J. W. Wyatt, living in East Dover, comes to the front as the Champion Egg man of Delaware. On his poultry farm, during 1903, he collected 59,487 eggs from 450 hens. He has 95 leghorn hens from which he has collected 2364 eggs in 30 days. Mr. Wyatt now has 900 leghorn hens and expects to collect 125,000 eggs during the next twelve months.

A Pretty Wedding.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jarvis, near Galena, was the scene of quite a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, Jan. 6, 7 o'clock.

The contracting parties were, their youngest daughter, Miss Anna Mae, and Thomas V. Stradley, a prosperous young farmer of Sassafras.

The parlor in which the ceremony was performed was tastefully decorated with holly and evergreen.

Promptly at the appointed time the bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, beautifully rendered by Miss Lillian Matthews, of Chestertown.

The bride and groom were preceded by Miss Gurtha Vansant, of Betterton, a niece of the bride, and Mr. Benjamin Jarvis, a brother of the bride, to an arch of evergreen, where the happy couple were pronounced man and wife by Dr. E. K. Creed, of Galena M. E. Church.

The bride wore a handsome gown of royal blue cloth, with trimmings of tucked chiffon applique and velvet to match, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid wore a beautiful gown of mode cloth with trimmings of white silk and applique.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at which about seventy-five guests participated.

The presents both beautiful and costly, but entirely too numerous to mention.

WORTHY CITIZENS.

TO THE EDITORS OF KENT NEWS—

Dear Sir: I often see in your paper something that is very interesting to me as a native of Kent county, in reference to the descendants of the Revolutionary war. At a meeting of the Society of the Daughters of the Revolution, held in this city a short time ago, it was addressed by a great-grandson of a Revolutionary soldier. I would like to call your attention to the four grandsons and the six granddaughters of the late James Hyland, who was a soldier under the late Gen. Calwalder. Their names are Capt. James H. Thompson, of Kent county; James Hyland, clerk in the Baltimore postoffice, who is an ex-president of the Society of the War of 1812; Thos. W. Hyland, Kent county; Wm. A. Hyland, Kent county; Mrs. Sarah Graves, Baltimore; Mrs. Mary Thomas, Annapolis; Mrs. Araminta Chairs, of Queen Anne's county; Mrs. M. S. Peters, New York city; Mrs. A. A McEwen, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Annie Hurtt, Baltimore, Md. My father was at the battle of Caulk's Field, Kent county, under the late Col. Griffin, and it was there that Peter Parker, the English General, was killed.

Respectfully.
JAMES HYLAND,
1308 W. Lombard St., Balto., Md.

Advertising.—Noah was the first man to advertise. He advertised the flood, and it came all right. The fellows who laughed at the advertising got drowned, and it served them right.

"The value of a publicity medium," says an experienced man, "depends on its reaching the people the advertiser wants to reach. It is far more reasonable to think a widely circulated general newspaper will go into the right hands than that of a magazine, however popular, will do the work; and this is the teaching of actual experience."

SCIATICA — GOUT

TO OFFER GAME BILLS.

The Maryland Protective Association Has Several.

CO-OPERATION AMONG STATES.

Neighboring Commonwealths Work to the Same End—That Executive Session Explained.

The Maryland State Game and Fish Protective Association's bills which are to be introduced in the Legislature will be perfected in about a week. Officials of the Organization say they do not anticipate any trouble in having the measures made laws. They claim that the game bill, which will make it unlawful to offer for sale in Maryland game, such as quail and rabbits, is in keeping with laws which have been, or are about to be, adopted in other States. The license tax of $10 for non-resident and $1 for each resident who hunts, they say, will meet with but little opposition.

In North Carolina a non-resident hunter must pay a tax of $10 in each county in which he may elect to shoot. Residents in that state pay no tax for gunning privileges. The idea of having a uniform law in this State to govern the taking of game is one of which has long been agitated by those interested in the question. The proposed dates, November 1 to January 1, will, it is argued, satisfy both the tidewater counties and the mountainous counties.

Just as soon as the proposed bills have been perfected they will be published, so that the public may understand them before they are introduced in the Legislature. Secretary Oregon Milton Dennis stated yesterday that he regretted that the meeting of the executive committee, held at the Eutaw House Thursday night, had assumed the attitude of a star-chamber session. Such, he said, was not the original intention of the board, as the association has no business coming before it that cannot be openly transacted. The reason for going into executive session, he explained, was to talk over the merits of the dozen men who had made application for the position of State Game Warden, an office of which the proper filling means a great deal to the association. The board decided in executive session not to recommend any of the applicants for the position, at least at this time. After reaching this conclusion, he said, it was the intention to hold an open meeting of the board. By some oversight, however, this was not done, and the discussion of the proposed bill to prohibit the use of magazine guns in this State, and the game and fish bills were discussed virtually in secret session, though it was not intended to do so.

Another matter discussed at the meeting of the board was a proposition to request the Virginia authorities to pass a law making crab-catchers return female crabs, when breeding, to the water. It is said that thousands of such crabs are caught and packed in Virginia, and the continued practice would soon mean a depletion of the crustaceans. In Oxford, Md., several years ago there was a crab-packing establishment which refused to handle female crabs, making the catchers return them to the water.

Mr. Dennis says the Maryland Association's fish bill will effectually cover this point in so far as Maryland waters are concerned. In matters pertaining to the preservation of fish and game, Mr. Dennis says there is now great unanimity and co-operation between the Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania authorities, and in a short while the States of Delaware and New Jersey, he believes, will be in line, as efforts to that end are now progressing favorably.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE LADIES favor painting their churches, and therefore we urge every Minister to remember we give a liberal quantity of the Longman & Martinez Paint toward the painting.

Wears and covers like gold.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed Oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy other paints in a can with a paint label on it.

8 & 6 makes 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight of L. & M., and mix six gallons pure Linseed Oil with it, and thus get paint at less than $1.20 per gallon.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L & M. and three gallons of linseed oil mixed therewith.

These Celebrated Paints are sold by
F. H. HARPER & SON, Still Pond.
