Pound Net Fish Bill Killed.

Senator Foxwell's fishing bill, which came to the House from the Senate was reported to the committee on Chesapeake bay and its tributaries, who made a report without recommendation. A motion to pass the bill to its second reading was lost, and Mr. Roth's motion to lay it on the table prevailed. Motion was made to reconsider and Mr. Roth moved to lay that motion on the table and it prevailed against the plea of Mr. Bosse for fair treatment to Senator Foxwell. The bill related to pound net fishing.
