HOW WE CATCH A COLD.

A cold is sometimes contracted while remaining enactive for a while in an uncomfortable room or a cold draft and by falling to sleep under like conditions. But most colds are caught while sleeping too cold at night. Deep sleep causes sluggish circulation which renders the system susceptable to change of temperature. To prevent colds sleep under plenty of cover. To cure colds use Rydales Elixir it lessens the severity and shortens the duration of a cold and prevents pneumonia, Bronchitis and Consumption.

STICK TOGETHER.

The papers of the Peninsula could accomplish a great deal of good if they would stick together in matters of this kind.—Kent News.

"Stick together!" Two mighty small words preaching a mighty big sermon.

The above quotation from the KENT NEWS has reference to newspapers refusing whiskey advertisements. At the present time about one fourth of the Eastern Shore newspapers refuse them while the other three-fourths publish them. The Star Democrat has always taken them when they have come unsolicited, not because we especially desired them, but because the revenue derived therefrom has materially aided in meeting the expenses of the office and we have needed the money. We know that there are people who object to them—we object to them ourselves—and to these people we would say that if they will secure for The Star-Democrat advertisements or other business netting us an equal amount of revenue we will gladly drop them from our columns.

But, "stick together!" There is a more important thing affecting the newspapers of the Peninsula than this, and what a tremendous amount of good would be realized if they would only "stick together." We refer to the subject of advertising rates. Recently a firm made The Star-Democrat an offer of $7 to insert a four inch single column advertisement fifty-two times top of column next to reading matter or first ad. in column preceded by and next to reading matter on local news page, also two five line locals every week for the same period. Our rate card states that a four inch ad. fifty-two times is worth $23.25, ten lines of local fifty-two times $26—$49.25 worth of business for which we were offered $7, to say nothing of the special position requested. We wrote the firm and endeavored to show them the ridiculousness of their offer, and received a reply that other papers had accepted this price for the business. We will not mention any names, although the company's letter gave a list of those who are thus giving their space away. Suffice to say, the list includes the names of some of the leading newspapers in Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline and Talbot counties. Gentlemen of the press, did you stop to think that it costs you considerable more money to fulfill this contract than you realize from it? Could you meet all your expenses and make a living if your paper was filled with advertising at this rate? Is it right to accept foreign business at less than 3 cents an inch and charge your home merchants 10 cents? We are reminded of an old newspaper man who characterized the country publishers as "the biggest lot of suckers at large." He said, "They print stories and warnings about farmers signing trick contracts and notes, and picture the ruralist with long whiskers filled with hayseed, but permit advertising agencies and foreign advertisers to secure the publisher's name to contracts that would shame the devil." Our newspaper friend knew what he was talking about. In certain counties of Maryland, there are publishers who are selling space at "any old" rice and running legal notices for "sweet charity's sake."

Now, "Stick together!" What a grand thing it would be if the publishers of the peninsula would agree upon an advertising rate, and "stick together" in every instance. What a blow it would be to the advertising agent if he were to send a proposition to the papers of this peninsula offering them $7 for a $25 space, and every publisher would reply that his price for that business is $25, and all the agent's pitiful letters could not secure a lower price. Advertising has got to be done, and we have nobody to blame but ourselves for not getting proper rates. Let us, then, form an organization for our mutual advantage at once, and "get together" and "stick together." The Star-Democrat is heart and soul in for such a movement, and would like to hear the opinion of the editors of the Shore upon this subject.—Easton Star-Democrat.

We heartily agree with Bro. Whitman on the latter proposition and have been advocates of the "stick together" policy from our very entrance into the newspaper field. The newspapers and farmers are about the only two occupations where it is "go it alone!"

THE tailors in convention declare that "checks will continue as popular as ever." Even Mrs. Chadwick could not make them entirely unpopular.

A VIRGINIAN who in the Civil War was badly shot in the leg and had his head split open with a saber, after living to be 75 years old, has just been killed by an attack of indigestion.

"WHAT is an anecdote, Johny?" asked the teacher. "A short, funny tale," answered the little fellow. "That's right," answered the teacher. "Now, Johny, you may write a sentence on the blackboard containing the word." Johnny wrote: "A rabbit has four legs and one anecdote."

LENT this year will be ushered in on March 8, which is much later than usual. Palm Sunday will fall on April 16 and a week thereafter on April 23 will be Easter Sunday. By then spring will be fairly established and barring bad weather there will be such a fashion procession as has not been witnessed in this country for several years passed.
