Boys & Children's Clothing

This is a genuine, bona fide sale in every particular. No working up of prices and cutting into, nor is it a lot of cheap stuff procured for the purpose of running this sale. The fact is, we have too many Boys' and Children's Suits, and have determined to let 'em go. We would like those who bought of us in season to inspect this sale and see the genuineness of it. You will probably see some of the same patterns that you bought of us earlier.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

State Fire Marshal McAfee and deputies have been in Kent for several days investigating the fire which destroyed the home of Mr. Wesley Cannon, below Pomona. A full account of this fire was given in the NEWS at the time of the fire in December. On Thursday Elmer Hynson, a colored boy about 18 years old, was brought to Chestertown and placed in Sheriff Keyser's charge. The boy admitted that he set the house afire, but charged that Mr. David Ford, who tenants Mr. Polk DeCorse's farm near Cliff City, gave him $5.00 to do the deed.

Mr. Ford come to Chestertown yesterday and voluntarily appeared before Justice Hicks to answer the charges. State's Attorney Beck represented the State and R. D. Hynson, Esq., Mr. Ford. The case was held for a further hearing.

SONS OF AMERICA

State Camp Of The Patriotic Order At Rock Hall.—Prizes Awarded To The Local Camps For Large increase Of Membership — Adjourn Until Next August.

The ninth annual session of the State camp of Maryland Patriotic Order Sons of America was called to order in Rock Hall, this week, by State President Heaps. The 51 camps of the State were represented by 115 members. The report of the State secretary and treasurer show a substantial increase both in membership and finances during the past year.

The following officers were elected at the afternoon session: State President, Prof. William James Heaps, of Winfield, Carroll county; vice-president, William J. Carter, Baltimore; master of forms, Rev. C. E. Redeker, Baltimore; secretary P. B. Englar, Taneytown; assistant secretary, A. R. Ruse, Baltimore; treasurer, James W. Lidard, Baltimore; conductor, Charles Deitrich, Baltimore; chaplain, Rev. A. B. Wood, Winfield; inspector, J. W. Chapman, Jr. Baltimore; guard, W. S. Carre, Baltimore; trustees, D. L. Harrison, Baltimore; J. Oliver Johnson, Brooklyn, Anne Arundel county; H. H. Emich, Arlington; J. F. Utermahlen, Westminster; D. A. Fletcher, Frostburg; W. E. Ringgold, Chestertown.

A number of prizes for the largest increase in membership during the year were presented by the State camp through its chaplain, Rev. C. E. Redeker. as follows: A set of officer's jewels to Camp 29, Sudlersville; a brass urn and generator to Camp 11, Westport; a silk altar flag to Camp 6, Baltimore, and a set of fine silk stand flags to Camp 41, Frostburg.

A gold emblem of the order offered by the State president for the largest number of members secured was presented to Past State President A. M. Geishert.

At night a grand demonstration and public meeting was held in front of the Chesapeake House, which the entire population of the town attended. Prof. Cooke Orell's band discoursed patriotic selections during the evening. Short patriotic addresses were made by State President Heaps, Revs. A. B. Wood and C. E. Redeker and Messrs. James H. Marine, O. Parker Baker, J. Bibb Mills, W. M. Keener, S. A. Pitt and others. At the close of business the State camp adjourned to meet at Westminster Aug. 10, 1905. Rock Hall was crowded with many visitors during all the sessions. The delegates from Chestertown were: W. E. Ringgold, A. B. Frazier, Rev. Wm. B. Coleman.

A HEROIC ACT!

A Young Man Gives His Blood to Save His Brother and Thereby Imperils His Own Life.

"That Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war," was fully illustrated in a pathetic incident which occured in this county one day last week. It was such an occurrence as seldom finds its way into the columns of a newspaper but which is deserving of a place in the annals of history.

Mr. Woodland Hurtt, a live and aggressive citizen, a devoted husband, loving father, and the son of fond parents, was taken seriously ill at his father's home near Locust Grove. He was surrounded by all that this world could give while his faithful physician, Dr. Barwick, gave him every attention. Notwithstanding all these advantages and careful nursing the patient gradually grew worse and the end of life seemed near. It was at this extremity that the patient's brother, Mr. Clifton Hurtt, stepped upon the stage of action and rendered a service that entitles him to a high place in the list of heroes.

It was agreed after consultation that it might be possible to save the patient's life if he could have the blood of some healthy person infused into his. Who was to make this sacrifice? The question had scarcely been asked before the loving heart of Mr. Clifton Hurtt responded and the incision was made and the blood transferred into his sick brother's arm. This seems perhaps to the reader as an ordinary occurence, but if the possible consequences of such an act is considered then the heroism of the brother will be appreciated. Mr. Woodland Hurtt was dying of blood poison and his brother knew that there was danger of the diseased blood entering his body, and yet he was willing to offer his life as a sacrifice for that of his brother!

This lovely and heroic truth is a counterpart to that story which comes from Peking; A great bell on which midnight is sounded was to be cast. Two attempts at casting were made and ended in failure; whereat the Emperor sent for Kurn-Yin, the official in charge of the task, and told him he would be killed if he failed again. Koai, the beautiful daughter of the imperiled man, heard of his danger, and consulted an astrologer, who told her that unless a virgin's blood were mingled with the metal, the third casting would also fail. She obtained permission to be present when the attempt was made; and just as the white hot metal was rushing from the furnace into the great mold, the devoted girl sprang forward with the cry, "For my father!" leaped into the fiery stream, added her life-blood to its composition, and won her father's success and safety.

Sad to relate this noble act of Mr. Hurtt's was unavailing and the sick brother passed away into that Haven of Rest where there is no more sickness, no more sorrow.

Mr. Clifton Hurtt has been in bed for ten days suffering from the wounds made in drawing the blood, but is improved at this writing.

Sudden Death Of Miss Hurlock.

Miss Edna Hurlock, a most estimable lady of Smyrna, met a sudden death on Sunday. She was unable to sleep that night and got up to go down stairs when she made a mistep and fell headlong to the landing below. She died the same afternoon. She was a native of Kent and was about 68 years of age. Her nephews, Messrs. Clarence S. Hurlock, David T. Hurlock, Wm. S. Hurlock, J. B. Hurlock and W. W. Hurlock attended the funeral on Thursday at Smyrna and acted as bearers.

Kent and Queen Anne's Fair.—The dates for the Kent and Queen Anne's Fair to be held at Tolchester are Aug. 30 and 31, Sept. 1 and 2. Superintendent Noland and his staff of assistants are at work booking exhibits, and making preparations. Excellent purses have been offered for the races and it is more than likely that three will be a large and representative entry list. The circuit is full of good horses this year and the race feature of the fair will be better than usual. One of the most interesting features of the Fair will be a free daily entertainment by a troup of actors in front of grand stand. Wednesday will be Children's Day.

Tournament At "Dewey."—Messrs. Shallcross and Massey are making arrangements for their Annual Tournament at Dewey Park on Wednesday September 7th.

THE new Chestertown post-office is expected to be ready for occupancy Sept. 1st.
