THE NEW UPTOWN MERCHANT

OWEN B. CROW

I have taken full possession of the old stand and am in a position to sell to the general public goods at prices that will interest them.

SPECIALS

Leas, Clifton, F F F and Patapsco Superlative flower in barrels or sacks. I advise you to place your orders at once as prices are for higher prices.

Come and examine my new line of men's ladies and children's underwear. Have you heard your merchant say that the cotton market is much higher? Yes, and so it is, but I can sell you as heavy a garment and in some lines heavier than you got last season for the money. Why can I do this? Because bought late last winter and early this spring for this fall and winter's trade, taking advantage of the cotton market.

My line of men's, ladies' and childrens' hosiery sells themselves. Not worth my time to tell you of something that most everyone knows.

Ask for the "JACK AND JILL" line of hosery for boys and girls.

A new line of boots and shoes, domestic dry goods and notions, Mens oil skin suits.

A fresh and varied line of groceries. We make a specialty of teas and coffees.

Oak and Hemlock sole leather in strips and half soles.

A variety of tin and agate ware also copper bottom wash boilers.

The celebrated Dr Hess' Stock Food for horses, cattle and sheep. Panacea for chickens, an instant louse killer.

Just received a car load of No. 1 light mixed hay, sound and right. Come see it.

We handle Baltimore A. B. C. Bread and cakes fresh daily.

Country produce wanted.

Wanted 200 bushels of good white potatoes Cash paid.

Yours for business,

Instructions to Voters.

How to Proceed to Cast a Ballot Under the Election Law.

Attorney-General William S. Bryan, Jr., has prepared the following instructions to voters as directed by Article 33, Code of Public General Laws, and amendments thereto.

1. TO VOTE. Enter room, step up to guard-rail, give name and registered residence to the judges. Wait until your name is found upon the registers, then get Ballot from the judge in charge of the ballots. See that he has written your name and number on the coupon attached to the ballot and his own name or initials on the back of the ballot itself.

2. Upon receiving your ballot, retire to one of the booths or compartments and prepare your ballot by marking with an indelible pencil after the name of every person, or persons for whom you wish to vote, and to the right thereof in the blank space provided therefor, a cross mark, for example (X); and in case of a question submitted to a vote of the people, by marking likewise in the appropriate space a cross-mark (X) against the answer you desire to give. If you wish to vote for some one whose name is not printed on the Official Ballot, you can write the name of such person in the blank space upon the ballot provided for that purpose.

3. In marking the ballot you may take with you into the polling place any written or printed memorandum or paper to assist you in preparing your ballot, except a facsimile of the ballot to be voted. You must prepare and deposit your ballot without undue delay. Before coming from behind the curtain in front of your compartment you must fold your ballot in the same way as it was folded when you received it, so that the marks you have made upon it shall be entirely concealed. You then hand your folded ballot to the judge at the ballot box, give him your name and registered address, and wait until he tears off a coupon containing your name and number, and strings it, and deposits your ballot in the ballot box. You must then leave the polling room and cannot again go behind the guard-rail during the day.

4. A voter must not go into any compartment occupied by another or converse with any other voter while engaged in a compartment, nor can he occupy a compartment more than seven minutes if others are waiting.

5. You must not take any ballot outside the guard-rail. If you spoil a ballot you must deliver the spoiled ballot to the judge in charge of the ballots and you can receive another from him. IF YOU SPOIL THREE BALLOTS YOU LOSE YOUR VOTE.

6. A voter who is physically disabled from marking his ballot, must make an affidavit to that effect if he desires assistance. The two polling clerks after such affidavit has been made, can accompany him into one of the compartments and there mark his ballot as he instructs them, marking only the names of the candidates whom he shall name. The clerks are not allowed to read the ballot to him.

7. Any voter who shall allow his ballot to be seen by any person with the apparent intention of letting it be known how he is about to vote, or place any distinguishing mark upon his ballot, or who shall make a false statement as to his inability to mark his ballot, or who shall interfere or attempt to interfer with any voter when inside the enclosed space in the polling room, or when marking his ballot, or shall endeavor to induce any voter before voting to show how he marks or has marked his ballot, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ($5) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or by imprisonment in jail for a period not exceeding sixty days, or by both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court

WHEN Mr. Smith was elected to Congress two years ago, and changed the relation of a private citizen for that of a public servant, he felt called upon to do two things: To resign the presidency of the bank at Ridgely, and to sever his connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad so far as his new duties demanded. For years there is no doubt that he had a "pass;" and so did Congressmen, judges, newspaper men, and everybody else who could by any stretch be brought under the "courtesy." No exception was made in his case when the "courtesy" was abolished last December, and the beneficiaries of a former Congressman from the First District at the Capitol found that Mr. Smith, a lifetime railroad employe, had not the "pull" in the matter of "free passes" which had endeared a few of them to his predecessor.

They paid their fares to Philadelphia, and Mr. Smith paid his whenever he had to travel. During this campaign, the money which Mr. Smith has paid out for railroad fares is a serious matter to him, but he started out to see the people, having no "hired men" to send among them and no Federal office holders with sumptuous quarters in the Hotel Rennert to send them "literature" with his name in box-car type on the envelopes. As Mr. Mudd said, these things are too expensive for a poor man. Nor is Mr. Smith able to establish "headquarters" in the various counties, with a single "salary" list of $250 a week. But he is able to give the best that is in him to the public service at a salary of $5000 a year, and has not yet told a reproachful constituent as an excuse for not attending to his request that he was "in Congress for glory and because he could afford it."

DID MORE THAN VOTE.

The Salisbury Courier has printed a good humored cartoon of Representative Smith, but the assertion that Mr. Smith "talked and talked and talked" and that all his talk was limited to three minutes, with leave to print, hardly fits in with the fact shown by the following extracts from the Congressional Record:

June 22nd, 1906. The House being in Committee of the whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the Pure Food Bill (and Mr. Adamson, of Georgia, controlling the time of the Democratic side in the debate.)

Mr. Adamson; Mr. Chairman, I yield to the gentleman from Maryland, (Mr. Smith,) fifteen minutes. (Mr. Smith's speech is printed in the Record, First session 59th Congress, Pages 89838984.)

While this speech gave the House and the Country the side of the First Maryland District on this important matter, Mr. Smith's most effective work was in his personal efforts among the members of the House and with the Committee on Inter-state and Foreign Commerce As showing the interest which the Eastern Shore took in the bill, so many demands were made for copies of the speech that its general distribution, as provided for by Congress, necessarily followed.

On April 12, 1906, (Pages 5449-5159 of the Record,) Mr. Smith addressed the House, on the bill to charter the National Educational Association.

The last session of Congress was the first for years in which the Record shows that the Eastern Shore had a Representative who did anything except cast an infrequent vote.

INFORMATION WANTED.

WORTON, MD., OCT. 23, 1906.

MESSRS. EDITORS KENT NEWS:

We notice by last week's KENT NEWS that hog cholera is doing its deadly work. We also know that the NEWS is ever ready to give information to the farmer as well as to the Oysterman. Now, what we would like to know is this: Is there any law compelling persons who lose animals by contagious diseases to bury them? We believe that a great deal of hog cholera is carried from place to place by buzzards. A farmer loses hogs by cholera carries them down in the woods, the buzzards swoop down on them and fly off to other places carrying the germs of the dread hog cholera with them. Soon after another farmer's hogs are attacked and he cannot tell where the disease came from. Should not every farmer bury the victims of hog cholera? If he does not, isn't there a law compelling him to do so and thus protecting his neighbors? Please give us light upon this subject. Yours truly.

Franchise Granted.—The town commissioners of Centreville—Messrs. Wm. McKenney, Alfred Green, and Ezekiel M. Forman—Friday granted a perpetual franchise to Mr. W. J. Peall, of Wilmington, to erect an electric light, heat and power plant in the town of Centreville. Mr. Peall is a well-known promoter of public utilities and has received the franchise for erecting plants at Georgetown and Harrington.

The Maryland State Sunday School Convention was held in Baltimore City on the 11th and 12th of October. It was a great gathering. It required three large churches to accomodate its meetings. The last meeting was held in the Lyric, and was attended by about two thousand people. A trained chorus of 300 voices furnished the music. Addresses were delivered by Marion Lawrence the International Field Secretary, and Rev. Dr. Phillips, of Richmond. Governor Warfield presented diplomas to sixty five graduates. A school of Methods, beginning on the 6th, preceded the convention, and was attended by two hundred students. The Maryland Sunday School Association is doing a great work and merits a generous support.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.
