MOODY & LUSBY MOODY & LUSBY

In talking about our clothes we omit the technical terms which might confuse the average man.

We will say simply and plainly that every inch of cloth used in the making of MOODY & LUSBY CLOTHES is guaranteed absolutely, whether you pay $10.00 or as much as $18.00, you'll get "value" which will assert itself in the wear the clothes afford you. The test of time is the only real test after all. And the man who will fairly judge our garments on this basis is the most enthusiastic wearer of Moody & Lusby Suits and Overcoats.

We lay great stress on the subject of "Fabrics" it is important enough to deserve the serious thought of every man. If you buy a stylish looking suit, well put together, perhaps, but made of poor fabric, it cannot possibly retain its shape or style. It will look well for a time but a little wear will soon convince you that good cloth is just as vital as a good fit or stylish cut. Your protection against disappointment is to avoid unknown and unreliable makes.

Buy clothes which carry with them a guarantee of responsibility. Buy from a house that the established reputation is sufficient to convince you that you are safe on the quality question, both inside and outside of the garment.

The same rule applies to our Boys' and Children's Clothing. Everything has got to be right, viz.: "Cloth and Trimmings."

Come in at your earliest opportunity, for the nearer to the holliday rush the less satisfaction to you — making up your holliday list we might be of service to you by enumerating some things useful and appropriate, viz.: Suit or Overcoat for man, boy or child, Hat or Cap, Gloves, Underwear, Cardigan Jacket, Dress Suit Cases, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Neckwear, Suspenders, Silk Mufflers, Umbrellas, Cuffs, Collars, Shirts, Gum Coats, Rain Proof Coats, &c. Any of these things will make lasting and appropriate Christmas Gifts.

NAVY TRIUMPHANT

Thousands of Beautiful Ladies See The Game of Football in Philadelphia Saturday—Tickets Hard To Get And Some Sell for $25—A Great Sight.

It was a thrilling sight which greeted our eyes last Saturday when we had the privilege of seeing the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia.

The game in itself was interesting and exciting but the "trimmings" were even more spectacular and novel. The cheering by the drilled chorus of thousands of cadets accompanied by the Navy and Army bands was equal to some grand opera or cantata while the enthusiasm of everyone was at a high pitch. The display of costly and magnificent apparel was unequaled and made a show in itself of unsurpassing beauty. It is reported that seats sold for as high as $25 and many could not get them at any price.

Before the vast throng of 30,000 spectators who filled every available seat in the high stands about Franklin Field, the Navy eleven triumphed over their rivals, the cadets from the West Point Military Academy in the thirteen annual football game between these two great government institutions. The final score was 6 to 0.

The game was the most desperate that the two teams have ever played, and it was the best team that won. The game and plucky Middies went into the play with grim determination and with a marvelous grit, completely outplayed the soldier lads at every stage of the contest. both teams resorted frequently to the forward pass and other plays coming under the term of "new football," and Douglas had a slight advantage over either Beavers or Johnson.

Navy made the single touchdown that brought the laurels of victory after about half of the first period of the game had expired. Concentrating their effort right from the beginning and bending every energy to accomplish the defeat of the Cadets, the Middies kept play confined in Army's territory almost the entire time of the first half. The touchdown was made after the ball had been steadily worked down the field, Douglas carrying it over, when it was third down and only two feet away from the coveted goal line.

In passing, it might be said that Douglas was the star of the game. His kicking was excellent and his short end runs on fake kicks proved too much for the soldiers to master. But to give one man credit would be going too far. All of them played like demons and their victory was a complete surprise to Army adherents as well as sporting critics generally.

Chapter of Accidents.—Mr. Joseph H. Gears, while driving a wagon one day last week, got his foot caught between the single and double tree and crushed his foot considerably. While there was no bones broken it was very badly bruised and has caused Mr. G. much pain.

Mr. William G. Trew, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. W. Trew, of Lankford, while cutting wood one day last week, made a glance stroke and inflicted a very ugly wound on the instep of his left foot. He is doing very nicely at this writing.

Master Russell Pinkind, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pinkind, of Broad Neck, while playing with his father's axe, last Saturday afternoon in some mysterious manner fell upon it and cut entirely off the little finger of his right hand. He was brought to town where Dr. Simpers rendered medical attention.
