W. C. ON A TRIP NORTH.

One of the most pleasant trips ever taken by an athletic organization of Washington College was taken last week by the baseball team, under the supervision of Mr. Thompson and Manager Crouch. The squad left Chestertown Thursday morning on the local train, arriving in Philadelphia about noon. They went out to Swarthmore at once, where they had lunch, and then went out walking around the grounds until 3 o'clock, when they dressed for the game. Although the grounds were wet and Washington was using a sub-catcher, they put up a pretty good game, losing 6 to 1. The Swarthmore team was much stronger that when it visited Chestertown on its Southern trip. After the game the team had dinner at the college and were very pleasantly entertained there for the night. The Swarthmore students were very agreeable and certainly did all in their power to make the stay of the boys from the Eastern shore a delightful one.

After a good night's rest the team left for Villa Nova the next morning. Here again they were treated like guests. Everything that could be done for their pleasure was cheerfully arranged. The game was called at 3.30. Again feeling the lack of their regular catcher, the pitchers were not able to appear at their best, Washington losing by the score of 12 to 2. After the game the boys were shown around and then taken care of for the night.

Early the next morning the team left for Philadelphia, taking the nine o'clock train for Hoboken. Arriving there, they went to the Meyer's Hotel for lunch. The game with Stevens was the game that the team wished to win above all others. It was their first appearance in the North and in spite of their crippled condition, an excellent game was given to the spectators, Washington fielding not being marred by a single error. What made their game in Hoboken all the more agreeable is that they were joined by several of the Alumni, Messrs. Massey, ex'95, White, '08 and Porter '09. This shows that the Alumni still look up to their Alma Mater and they had their pride gratified by seeing Washington put up a splendid contest, winning 6 to 1. After dinner at the hotel, the squad was taken to New York where they attended the theatre in a body and afterwards saw some of the sights of the great metropolis. The night was spent at Hoboken and at noon Sunday the team left for Chestertown. This has been a delightful trip and considering the crippled condition of the team, Washington is well satisfied with its showing on its first real Northern trip.

HAND OF DEATH

William E. Jarrell Dies at His Home in Chestertown—Other Deaths.

Mr. William E. Jarrell died at his home on Washington avenue at noon Saturday, aged 64. He had been confined to his room for some weeks suffering with an affection of the heart, but was apparently improving when death came suddenly.

William E. Jarrell has been recognized as one of the representative farmers and best citizens of Kent county for nearly a quarter of a century. He is a self-made man, and is literally the architect of his own fortune. Through his energetic efforts and determination to succeed he has prospered year by year, until he he became in very good circumstances financially. Not contented with confining himself to the somewhat limited scope of agriculture in its strictest form, he had branched out into other enterprises, and had been uniformly successful in those ventures. Provided that a man has perseverence and pluck in addition to industrious habits he is pretty certain of meeting with the golden reward he seeks, and so it has happened in his case.

Robert Jarrell, father of the above, was a native of Caroline county, and there spent a greater part of his life, engaged in the management of his farm. He died at the age of sixty-two years, regretted by all who had known him. First a Whig, he later became allied with the Democratic party, and was for several years judge of the orphans' court. Both he and his good wife were active members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Her maiden name was Mary A. Temple, and Queen Anne's county the place of her birth. She was summoned to the home beyond when about three-score years of age, and left eight children to mourn her loss. Anne E., is the widow of R. J. Orrell, of Caroline county; Joshua R. is a farmer in the second district of the same county; Robert is engaged in the canning business in that county; Mary T. is the wife of M. H. Gray, of Queen Anne's county; Wesley owns and operates a farm near Ridgely, Caroline county; Louisa married W. L. Cooper, of that county; Charles L. owns the old homestead, in the same locality; and our subject completes the number.

William E. Jarrell was born in the vicinity of Sudlersville, Queen Anne's county, September 8, 1845, and was reared to the life of a farmer, receiving practical training in every detail of the work pertaining to the proper management of a homestead. His elementary schooling was supplemented by two terms spent in West River Academy. He made the most of his privileges, and became a well known man on current events and general affairs in the great world. When he was about twenty-one he began clerking, and was a resident of Greensboro, Caroline county, some time. Returning home then, he worked on his father's farm one year, then removed to Queen Anne's county, where he remained four years, and thus acquired some capital with which to embark in business on his own account. In 1872 he came to Kent county and rented a farm for three years, subsequently purchasing the fine place owned by William T. Spry. Hereon he dwelt, having in the meanwhile greatly improved and beautified it. There are two hundred and thirty-five acres of land comprised within the boundaries of this valuable farm, and besides this he owned six other well-kept and fertile tracts of land, some situated in this, and some in Queen Anne's county. Altogether he is the fortunate possessor of about fifteen hundred acres, most of it being under good cultivation. At times he had dealt in farm machinery and tools, and also had a good trade in phosphates. He invested in a small sawmill a few years ago and cut oak trees into lumber. In short he was one who succeeded in about every undertaking he turned his hand to, and the reason for this is plainly that he was enterprising and used good judgment in the management of his affairs. He removed to Chestertown some years ago, buying the Stam property on Washington avenue, where he died Saturday after a long illness, having had the faithful and loving attention of his wife, son and friends.

In 1871 Mr. Jarrell married Maggie E. Clements, of this county, and their only child, W. Frank., is now living in Chestertown, in a beautiful home on Washington avenue. He is a young man of fine qualifications, and will unquestionably make his mark. Fairly interested in political matters, Mr. Jarrell was a Democrat, but never held office, with the exception of having been a trustee of the almshouse of Kent county one term. He was a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, of Chesterville, and a trustee and steward in the same. Upright and just in all his dealings with his fellows, he commanded the genuine respect of all.

The funeral services took place Tuesday noon at his beautiful home in Chestertown and was largely attended. Rev. Dr. Rood, of Chesterville M. E. Church South, had charge of the services, assisted by Dr. F. T. Little, Dr. L. E. Barrett and Rev. A. P. Prettyman. Special music was furnished by Mrs. Merrick Clements, Miss Eva Hurlock, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton and Mr. Thos. D. Bowers. The interment was in Chester cemetery the pall bearers being Messrs. Joshua R., Robert, Wesley aad Charles Jarrell, Alday Clements and James Brice. Undertaker, J. E. Ferguson.

Mrs. Susan T. E. Coates.
