A United Party Again.

The hot factional contest in the ranks of the Democracy of Kent is now over, and the victors as truly as the vanquished feel a sense of relief and thankfulness. The battle has raged hotly for months in nearly every district, but with some few exceptions it has only been in the shape of a good-natured family jar. Those who so far forgot themselves as to make misstatements and insinuations concerning their opponents, will now heartily repent the wrong and make amends, if they are the honest Democrats they profess to be. This will apply to both factions.

There is no sense or reason in factional contests. A party ought to have leaders of sufficient patriotism and charity for each other to understand and acknowledge the mutual claims of each and always reserve their ammunition for the common foe. But human nature is weak and selfishness is not confined to the few. Its ugly traits are in the many, not only in political parties but in social circles, in religious bodies and even in the sacred precincts of home. This is the secret of all factional feuds, disguise it as we may. It is the ambition of one man or set of men to usurp the power or esteem of others.

But, enough of this. They are facts that all understand. Let us try to learn good lessons by experience and stop the internal wrangle that has distracted and divided the party so long. The battle is over. The smoke has cleared away. Let us one and all train our guns in another direction. The enemy is watching our every movement. They are upon our very heels, and if not so already will soon be in battle array in Kent county.

There is no reason for any further division in our own ranks. We trust we may not again hear a factional utterance. At least not for a twelve month. A hard fight is before us, but a grand victory is sure to be achieved if we all do our duty. Let us no longer be factionists but DEMOCRATS—patriots, looking for victory to better the condition of the people—to lower the people's taxes and insure good order, good roads and the highest possible efficiency of the public schools.

Two years ago the losing faction behaved like true men and good Democrats that they were. They fell into line under new leaders and did their duty faithfully. The result was victory. The same action and the same glorious results will be seen this year. If the leaders, as well as the rank and file, in both factions will be as zealous and as efficient in the battle now to be waged as they were for factional victory, there will not be the slightest doubt of a successful issue. And is there any reason to suppose that this will not be the case? Certainly the issues are far greater. In the factional fight the results were simply personal. Now the issue is not personal but general, and involves the highest and best principles of county government. The Democratic masses, we are sure, will see this and will quickly follow the wise lead of patriotic men who seek the people's interests.

In conclusion, we give the editorial comment of the KENT NEWS two years ago, after we found the factional fight against the organization and the ticket nominated by the opposition:

From the Kent News, Aug. 1, 1903.

THE TICKET.

The primary contest is over and we can all calmly survey the field and guage results. Individually the candidates are popular and deserve the very best efforts of every Democrat. Not that they are perfect. Are you? No mortal man is. Some, it is true, are less perfect than others. But the very best men are sometimes most maligned when they become candidates, and, it is often the case, that those who talk loudest about the imperfections of others are themselves most sadly marred.

"The heat of the contest was remarkable in several districts yet warm as it was, it had not the bitterness that sometimes prevails, and no wounds were made which will not readily heal. In the lower district where that noble Democratic fighter, Mr. Carroll Wilson, made such a plucky fight, he has extended the hand of brotherhood to his rival, Mr. Hadaway, and will without a doubt give the ticket a hearty support. The same can be said of Wm. Steele in the first, John Medders in the second, J. C. Jones in the third and J. P. DeCorse in the seventh, all of whom would have expected their victors to work for them had the result been reversed.

"The white people of Kent county have too much at stake to waver for an instant in this battle. Let us all forget the past. Look to the future and serve the best interests of our grand old party and the county at large by giving a cheerful and hearty support to the whole ticket."

GOVERNOR WARFIELD excels all his predecessors in the number of his public speeches and school visitations. He is specially popular with the ladies.

A NAVAL BATTLE between government war ships and the land fortifications was "on the boards" for the first of the present week, but it must have been very quiet, as we heard none of the "bellowing thunder" on this side the bay. The object of the battle was to determine the weak points in the defense of the Chesapeake. Which were the victors will never be made public.

CARDINAL GIBBONS prefers Baltimore and the simple life to the pomp and ceremony incident to a position at the pontificate in Rome. So says the Sun.

JAPAN is to have a grand peace jubilation as soon as the war ends. The plucky nation is certainly entitled to a first-class jollification.

KENT COUNTY HOTELS and boarding houses are all ready for the coming of summer boarders.

The Right Spirit.

The exciting political contest of last Saturday brought a great many people to town that night and the NEWS bulletin board was eagerly scanned as the returns were announced thereon.

The best feeling prevailed and candidates on both sides freely mingled and rejoiced that the factional fight was over. Numbers of the most active leaders in the fight for the anti-organization candidates were in the NEWS office and declared their purpose to give the ticket nominated their hearty support. Indeed, we have not heard of a single man who will not do this. This is the right spirit. It is only what would have been expected of the other side if the situation was reversed.

The greatest surprises were in the results of the Second and Sixth districts. The organization had the utmost confidence in their leaders in the Second, but they could not help the apprehension of defeat there, as heretofore it had always been with the opposition. The popularity of Mr. Hossinger and all the prestige of a State Senator, together with some of the best workers in the county, seemed a herculean task to overcome. So that when the news came down that the organization had a majority of nineteen in the district it was incredible to many. It showed the great strength of Mr. Andrew Medders, the organization candidate for sheriff, and the magnificent work of the leaders on that side.

The Sixth district, which was carried two years ago by the anti-organization forces by a very narrow majority, was recognized by both sides as the battle ground from the opening of the campaign. Mr. William T. Nicholson, the anti-organization candidate, was one of the best men in the district; he is deservedly popular and has a wide circle of family connections and hosts of friends. It was difficult to oppose a man like this. But when the organization named Mr. John E. Morris it was soon seen that Mr. N. would have a big task to win, as Mr. Morris was known to be in every respect a man of very high character and popularity. In addition to this, Mr. Wm. E. Keyser was named as the organization candidate for county treasurer, who threw into the fight his personalty and earnest efforts, which in the end proved invincible. Dr. Hessey, the candidate of the anti organization people, it is true, gave all the influence of his great popularity to this district; but he lived in another district and was thus discounted in all attempts to measure up to the claims of a district man. The organization did effective work there with some of the best leaders in the county to manage the campaign, so that a week before the close it was plainly seen that the victory lay with the organization.

In the First district the strong personality of the honored member of the last Legislature, Mr. Gibbs, was manifest from the opening of the fight there, and the result shows his great popularity among the masses. He is the right man in the right place. His opponent, Capt. Benj. P. Waters, is a gentleman of high character and attainments and has heretofore refused all proffers of office. The majority of the organization in both precincts shows the effective work of the leaders.

In the Fourth district (Chestertown) the organization had to contend against one of the strongest men in the county as a candidate for sheriff, Mr. George B. McWhorter. He is not only personally a favorite with the people but had the effective support of his popular sons and many other young Democrats. Mr. Curtis E. Crane, the organization candidate for the Legislature, contested with Mr. McWhorter for the delegation here and his strong characteristic was soon apparent as a hustler unparalleled. This, added to the fact that his qualifications are beyond dispute, and his great friendship and service to the masses of the people as a large and liberal employer of labor, made him simply invincible.

In the Fifth district Mr. Charles D. Wood headed the anti-organization ticket for county commissioner. To say he is a popular man is not strong enough for his marked individuality. He has always held a high place with the people and is a consistent party man, while he had as his supporters many of the best workers in his district. Mr. William Wagner, the organization candidate, was placed in the field by his friends too late to do very effective work. Though a man of great personal popularity—being recognized by all as thoroughly with the people and for the people in all county affairs that look to the people's best interests—he had too little time in which to thoroughly canvass his district, and there was no surprise manifested when the news came in that Mr. Wood had a majority against him in the district. Capt. Kerr's candidacy for the Legislature was ineffective because of his absence from the district.

Mr. Byron's candidacy for the Legislature in the Seventh, though ever so active, was too short to avail against the strong popularity of Mr. Allie Loud, whose position as president of the board of county commissioners and a member of that body was somewhat involved.

HON. FERDINAND C. LATROBE, who was one of the committee of the State Board of Charities, and visited Chestertown last Friday and remained over night, was a welcome visitor to the NEWS office. It is freely predicted by both Democrats and Republicans that he will be the next mayor of the Monumental City, as he has been the best mayor Baltimore ever knew—and certainly the most frequently elected.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, in his efforts in behalf of peace, is gaining a world wide reputation for himself and greater honor for the American nation.

Now let's forget politics—especially factional politics—for a time at least. Talk about farming.

CONGRESSMAN THOMAS A. SMITH was in Chestertown last Saturday and never looked happier. He makes new friends wherever he goes.

WHEAT HARVEST will commence in Kent next Monday. The crop appears to be good—probably the best since 1900. The crop of the latter year was one of the best ever grown in the county, the average being not far short of twenty bushels to the acre. The crop of 1903 was also fine, but not near that of 1900.

What is the Function of a Bank : : : ?

WE ALL KNOW how indispensable a reallygood bank is. It simply acts as your agent in investing your money. You deposit your money, the bank takes these funds and lends to other people. You could lend it yourself, but the difficulty is to find safe investments. You do the wise thing to put it where it is reasonably well invested.

Now, when you go to sell property why not place it with one who is in touch with buyers, just as the bank is in touch with borrowers. I know many people who are looking for various kinds of property. You don't know them. My information is worth dollars to you if you want to sell. I don't mean I can get exorbitant prices. I can't. I don't intend to try. But my ability to handle your property better than you can, has been proven. I have sold property after the owners, having tried for years to sell, have failed.

SECOND ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF
Art Embroidery and Lace Work

FIFTEEN CASH PRIZES

The Competitive Exhibition of Art Embroidery and Lace Work held last autumn was so successful that we have decided to hold another exhibition in October of this year.

The only conditions of the competition are that pieces shown must have been worked by their exhibitors, and that no piece shown last year can be entered again. The transportation charges on all pieces must be prepaid.

Fifteen cash prizes will be given—one of $25.00, one of $15.00, two of $10.00, four of $5.00, and seven of $2.00.

All pieces will remain the property of those who worked them. Pieces shown will be marked "For Sale," if desired, at prices named by their owners.

The counties were well represented in last year's exhibition, some very handsome pieces coming from them. We hope that, this year, the entries from outside of Baltimore will at least equal in number—as well as in excellence—those from the city.

Entry cards, to be attached to exhibits, will be mailed on request. Kindly state the number of cards wanted.

Our Mail Order Department is equipped to give prompt and accurate service. The McCall Bazar of Fashions will be mailed free every month on request. Samples of Silks, Dress Goods, Wash Fabrics and so on will be cheerfully sent if you will write for them.
