Where Gamblers Are Made.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The following article was recently published in the Gospel Messenger, of Elgin, Illinois, and I will be pleased to see it in THE ADVOCATE. Yours Truly
D. R. G.

Where Gamblers Are Made.

At a mass meeting in the Second Presbyterian Church of this city (Portsmouth Ohio), on a recent Sabbath afternoon, in the presence of over two hundred men, a converted gambler an ex-saloonkeeper made the following statement, which has created a profound impression, and I herewith transmit it to your paper that it may do good in a wider sphere:

"I have been in the saloon business, with a gambling room attached, for the last four years, and claim to know something about what I am going to tell you. I do not beleive that the gambling den is near so dangerous, nor does it do anything like the same amount of harm, as the social card party in the home. I give this as my reasons: In the gambling room the windows are closed tight, the curtains are pulled down; everything is conducted secretely for fear of detection, and none but gamblers, as a rule, enter there. While in the parlor all have access to the game, children are permitted to watch it, young people are invited to partake in it. It is made attractive and alluring by given prizes serving refreshments. For my part, I never could see the difference between playing for a piece of silver molded in the shape of money and silver molded in the shape of a cup or a thimble. The principle is the same, and whenever property changes hands over the luck of curds, no matter how small is the value of the prize, I beleive it is gambling.

"Perhaps you have never thought of it, but where do all the gamblers come from? They are not taught in the gambling dens. A 'greener,' unless he is a fool, nevet enters a gambling hell, because he knows he will be fleeced out of all he possesses in less than 15 minutes. He has learned somewhere else before he sets foot inside of such a place. When he has played in the parlor, in the social game of the home, and has become proficient enough to win prizes among his friends, the next step with him is to seek out the gambling-room, for he has learned, and now counts upon his efficiency to hold his own. The saloon men and gamblers chuckle and smile when they read in the papers of the parlor games given by the ladies, for they know that after those men will become patrons of their business. I say, then, the parlor game is the college where gamblers are made and educated. In the name of God, men, stop this business in your homes. Burn up your decks and wash your hands.

"The other day I overheard two ladies talking on the street. One said: 'I am going to have a card party, and am going to the store to buy a pack of cards. Which are the best kind to get?' The other replied: Get the Angel Card. It has an angel on the back.' "Think,' said he, "of dragging the pure angels of heaven into this infernal business."

After he had taken his seat another converted ex gambler, who led the men's meeting in the Second Presbyterian Church the following Sabbath, arose and said: "I endorse every word which the brother before me has just uttered. I was a gambler. I learned to play cards, not in the saloon, not in my own home, but in the homes of my young friends, who invited me to play with them and taught me how."

THE Maryland College of Music, Baltimore, Alfonse W. Schenuit director, well known to the readers of the NEWS by advertisement last year, had its commencement last Tuesday night at Ford's Opera House. The program embraced piano solos and duets, violin solos, and vocal solos and chorusses. The chorus consisted of about fifty voices. The college teaches all branches of vocal and instrumental music and elocution.
