TOLCHESTER FAIR!

THE EXHIBIT BY GRANGES A GREAT SURPRISE.

Kent and Queen Anne's Get Prizes—Some Good Racing—Sheriff Medders Cleans Up Fakirs—The List of Prize Winners.

The 14th annual fair aud race meeting of the Kent, Queen Anne's and Cecil Fair Association has been a great success at Tolchester this week—the best yet in the way of exhibits and conduct. A feature of the exhibits this year was that of the Kent and Queen Anne's granges. This exhibit occupied a large tent and was continually crowded. There were represented the Fairlee Grange, E. A. Corey, suyerintendent; Church Hill Grange, J. T. Anthony, superintendent, and Chestertown Grange H. P. Skipper, superintendent.

Beside the individual prizes there was a $50 prize for the best of the three exhibits. These take in all farm and household products, the ladies being auxiliary members of the granges.

Besides the cereals, and these were exceptionally fine, there were fruits and vegetables. Among the fruits were luscious strawberries. Experts pronounce the exhibits the best ever made on the Eastern Shore.

On the porches surrounding the building were exhibits of farm products from big pumpkins and watermelons to wee small crab apples. Corn that would have to get a ladder to reach on the stalks was exhibited as were wheat and oats, the straw of which is said to measure 7 feet.

J. Page Gale, superintendent of the agricultural display, had the lawns covered with farm implements. Among those who had exhibits were: Graham & Clements, of Chestertown; Kilbourn & Bramble, Fairlee; Davis & Satterfield, of Chestertown; Wm. A. Hyland, Jr., B. F. Fleming, T. Shafer, and others.

Messrs. Herman Beckenstater, associate professor of horticulture at the Maryland Agricultural College; Nicholas Schmidt, of the Maryland Eperiment Station, and Oscar Collyer, of Easton, Md., judged the grange exhibits.

First—In Queen Annes—Church Hill $30; second, to be divided between Crumpton and Barclay, $20.

First in Kent—Fairlee, $30; second Chestertown, $20.

The grand prize of $50 was divided between Queen Annes and Kent counties, which award has given general satisfaction.

In the household department the ladies and their assistants deserve much credit for the artistic manner in which their exhibits were displayed and for their promptness in making the awards. These awards were as follows:

The rain of Thursday greatly interferred with the Fair. Thousands of persons were present but only three heats were trotted. Many went in dearborns and carriages, automobiles, etc., but the roads got so bad that the latter had to quit and many were left to find any way home. There were also four boat loads.
