ROCK HALL NOTES.

As per announcement in last week's NEWS our public School commencement exercises, took place Monday evening before a large assembly of patrons and friends of the School, as was anticipated and as is always the case with our young people, the Graduates, and other participating in carrying out the splendidly arranged program, did credit to themselves, and honor to the faculty. Rev. J. W. Parris of the M. P. Church offered the prayer and benediction in place of Rev. Warren Burr, who was unable to present on account of illness.

The graduates were the happy recipients of beautiful bouquets, and other tokens of esteem from their friends and admirers. The Hall was handsomely decorated with flowers, festoons &c.

Many of the patrons and friends, accepted the kind invitation of the principal to visit the school on Monday and inspect the work of the pupils during the year and were charmed with the splendid exhibition. Mr. Greenwood and his most efficient assistants, are truely deserving of the high appreciation manifested on the part of the patrons for their untiring zeal in the molding and up-lifting of the mental faculties of those committed to their instructions, and they go forth to enjoy their well earned vacation with best wishes of all. The graduates go out with the best wishes and prayers of very many for a glorious future. They are Misses Edna Durding, Gertrude Kramer, Myrtle Durding, Edna Judefind, Lois Leary and Mr. Wilmont Crosby. May those who have not reached the highest pinacle afforded by our school here, return at the expiration of their vacation to renewed vigor and vim in their educational pursuits, with a determination to make the commencet of 1906 the grandest of them all. School Superintendent Melvin and Professor Bowers were present at the exercises and made a splendid impression on all present by their eloquence in addressing the faculty and graduates.

Messrs. Editors your manly utterance in last week's NEWS in reference to the late primary contest and its results made a favorable impress upon the readers of the KENT NEWS in this section, some had looked for something quite different, and were agreably disappo nted.

Mr. B. Howard Haman and company are making an earnest effort in behalf of the Haman Oyster and Good Road Bill. The oystermen of Calvert, Talbot and other sections of the State are also hustling to fortify and improve the oyster industry. The oystermen of Kent are taking things easy. Hadn't we better get a move on? Now is the time to agitate and formulate, and not wait till next winter, Messrs. Gibbs and Crane would like to be well informed as to our interests and desires. It is a foregone conclusion that something must be done by the next Legislature to get the oyster bars and the industry in a healthier condition, existing conditions are inadequate. Why not have Mr. Haman make a tour of Kent and thoroughly explain his bill. He would be glad to come here for such a purpose. Can't we extend the glad hand to him? Yes surely.

Our farmers are in the midst of harvest now, wheat seems to be well filled and a good crop is expected.

During an electrical storm on Monday afternoon lightning struck the store of Mr. S F. Wickes, during slight damage to weatherboarding and crockery.

Mr. L. E. Smith has procured for his own and his best girl's enjoyment, as fine a rig as can be found in the county.

Mr. Charles McCormick, of Pennsylvania, is the guest of Mr. Arthur Greenwood.

DEATH OF MRS. J. C. ALSTON.

The many friends of Mrs. J. C. Alston were saddened when they learned of her untimely death which occured at her late home near town at 8 30 o'clock Thursday evening. Deceased was in the 38th year of her age. Mrs. Alston had been unwell for a long time, and for the past three months had not been able to leave her room.

The deceased who spent her girlhood days in Still Pond, Md., was the daughter of G. W. and Helen Covington, and a sister of Mrs. W. E. Barnard of this town. She was united in marriage to J. Cowgill Alston in December 1892, and since that time has resided near town.

Mrs. Alston was a member of the M. E. Church, and as long as her health permitted attended regularly. The husband and relatives have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. The funeral services will be private, and will be conducted by the Rev. C. T. Wyatt, D. D., at her late home, on Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock, and the remains will be taken to Still Pond, Md., and interred in the M. E. Cemetery at that place.—Middletown Transcript.

Colored Camps.—The Colored Rescue League met in Bethel A. M. E. Church this week and decided to stand by their anti-camp resolutions until Kent county shall be rid of this nuisance. The camp in progress near town was condemned and termed a disgrace to the community. In justice to this latter reference we would state that the reported camp is advertised as a "revival."
