Burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and can always be easily unscrewed for rewicking.

An indicator shows the amount of oil in the font. Filler-cap does not need to be screwed down, but is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain. MARYLAND POPULATION

Kent Makes a Loss But Retains Two Members of Legislature—Queen Anne's And Harford Lose One.

The population of Maryland in the ten years from 1900 to 1910 increased 9 per cent, and now, according to the figures announced yesterday, it is 1,294,-450. By the census of 1900 it was 1,188,-044. The rate of increase was smaller than in any decade since that between 1840 and 1850, when it was 5.1. The next decade the rate jumped to 24 per cent, increase, but this was due probably to errors in the enumeration of 1840. The figures, given out show that in nine of the twenty-three counties of the State the population has slightly decreased. The only counties showing a substantial increase are Allegany, Baltimore, Garrett, Prince George's and Wicomico. Montgomery, which borders the District of Columbia on the northwest, gained only 1,688, which is disappointing. Prince George's, which binds the District on the east, gained over 6,000. The figures show a small decrease in Anne Arundel. But this is evidently an error growing out of the padded figures of 1900. The population of Anne Arundel in 1900 as first announced was 40,-818. These figures were revised afterward and reduced to 39,620. But the frauds in the census of 1900 in southern counties caused the Legislature of 1901 to order a State census to be taken, and by that State census the population of Anne Arundel was found to be 14,791. That was probably the correct figure, and the present census should be compared with the State census. This would show a gain of 4,762. It is perfectly evident to those who know the growth of Annapolis that the population of Anne Arundel has increased, and not decreased. Allegany gained nearly 9,000 and Baltimore county gained nearly 32 000. Of the 122,399 people in that county perhaps 85,000 live in the suburbs of Baltimore and are really a part of the city. By adding these suburbs to the city the population of Baltimore is nearly 650,000. By comparing the present population with the more accurate State census of 1901 we find that only five counties have decreased, and these only a few hundred each.

Under the new census three counties will each gain a Delegate in the Legislature—namely, Alleghany, which will now have six; Caroline will have three and Garrett will have three. Harford and Queen Anne's will each lose a Delegate. Harford will have three and Queen Anne's two.

It is not likely that any change will be made in the State's representation in the lower house of Congress. The present ratio of representation is one member for 194,182. If the new ratio is put up to 235,000, Maryland will still retain her six Congressmen. It is not likely the ratio will be higher than 225,000.

Among the figures are the following:

	1910	1900
Kent County	16,957	18,786
Queen Anne's County	16,839	18,364
Caroline County	19,216	16,248
Cecil County	23,759	24,662
Talbot County	19,620	20,342

RIGHT TO WHEAT DECIDED

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 28—The jury in the case of Thomas H. Kaylor against his tenant, W. Scott Rinehart, returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after a short deliberation.

An interesting point was at issue in this case. It was the first time the contention involved was ever raised here and probably never before in the State, as no similar case has reached the Court of Appeals. The question was whether a tenant renting a farm for a money rent has the right, after his tenancy expires, to return to the farm and gather a crop of wheat planted during the tenancy. The jury, by the verdict, says he has that right.

Rinehart rented the Kaylor farm, near Hagerstown, from March 1, 1909, to February 28, 1910, for $800 in money. Nothing was said in the written lease about the wheat crop. He planted the wheat in the fall of 1909 and harvested it last summer. Kaylor replevied the wheat when it was in the shock.

MONDAY WILL BE OBSERVED.

As December 25th, Christmas Day, comes on Sunday this year, some question has arisen as to whether the day would be celebrated on Saturday or Monday in the suspension of business. It has been decided however, that Monday will be observed, and places of business, including stores, banks, postoffices, courts, etc., will all be closed at least a portion of the day. The same is true of Monday, January 2nd, as New Year's Day also falls on Sunday.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM---it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.
