Dragging Pains

2825 Keeley St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct., 2, 1902.

I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Mrs. Bush

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

MANY SEE YOUNG DONLAN DROWN

BALTIMOREAN LOSES HIS LIFE AT BETTERTON.

Daniel Murphy, 17-Year-Old Cousin of the Victim, Makes a Heroic, but Ineffectual Attempt to Save the Other's Life — Nearly Loses His Own Life and was Sinking for the Second Time When Rescued — Dolan's Body Not Yet Recovered.

A rare act of heroism was witnessed Sunday afternoon by hundreds of excursionists as they stood upon the wharf at Betterton and watched Daniel Murphy, a 17-year-old youth, of Richmond, Va., endeavoring to save his drowning cousin, Robert Emmet Donlan, of Baltimore. The battle for the life of the cousin nearly resulted in a double tragedy, for young Murphy had released his hold on the other boy and was sinking for the second time when rescued.

Young Donlan had gone to Betterton with his cousin, who was visiting the Donlan home, 625 North Carey street and his brother, Lullus Donlan, to visit another brother, Edmund Donlan, who was at the summer resort. The victim was 20 years old, while his two brothers and cousin are much younger, but the four boys were a happy party. The early part of the day was passed on shore, but, all being fond of water and good swimmers, it was decided that a part of the afternoon, at least, be spent in the water.

A row boat was procured and the three visitors got in, having arrayed themselves in bathing attire, and rowed out about 100 yards from shore. Edmund Donlan did not go in with the others, and, in fact did not go into the water at all. Having anchored their boat, the victim of the accident and young Murphy plunged into the water, leaving Lullus Donlan, who is younger, sitting in the boat.

STORY OF BROTHER.

The little fellow was a witness to the whole affair, and what he saw is best told in his own words.

"Just after Dan and my brother dived from the boat, I looked over toward them. I saw them both come to the surface from the dive, and the next thing that I remember was seeing Dan grab for my brother. He caught him under the arms, and by the expressions of their faces I knew something had happened. I did not know just what to do, so I screamed at the top of my voice, and in the excitement I lost one of the oars of the boat.

"That merely made matters worse. I couldn't do a thing; not even help myself, and all during that time Dan was struggling to keep Robert's head up and to get him to the boat. It was too much for him. He couldn't do it; and yet he wouldn't let go of Robert.

"I screamed again and again, and my cries attracted some people on shore, who came to our rescue in a launch. They just reached Dan in time, for he had used up all his strength. Robert fell from his arms and went under. He never came up again. Dan, too, went under, for he was so weak that he could not stand the strain, and he was just going down the second time when the people on the launch caught him. After they had Dan in the boat they came after me. I suppose my brother had a cramp in his legs, and possibly he called to my cousin or spoke to him about it when they first came up, but I did not hear him."

WHAT MR. MONAHAN SAW.

Mr. Robert Monahan, 507 West Hamburg street, who went to the rescue of the party in a launch, said he understood that young Murphy had noticed, as soon as his cousin came to the surface after their dive that he was not using his legs. This fact attracted the younger boy's notice and he went to Donlan's side immediately. Young Murphy is a good, strong boy for his age and is a good swimmer, which enabled him to hold out so long. Though he was badly off when pulled aboard the launch he showed no ill effects of his experience last evening.

Robert E. Donlan, the victim, was a very bright boy. He was employed as a stenographer with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and was well thought of by the heads of many departments. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donlan and was one of a family of six children.

Always liberal to Churches.

Every church will be given a liberal quantity of L. & M. paint. Call for it.

4 gallons Longman & Martinez L. & M. Paint mixed with three gallons linseed oil, will paint a house.

W. B. Barr, Charleston, W. Va. writes, "Painted Frankenburg block with L. & M. stands out as though varnished."

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for linseed oil, which you do in ready-for-use paint.

Buy oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents per gallon and mix with Longman & Martinez L. & M. Paint.

It makes paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. Sold by Smith & Graham, Chestertown; F. H. Harper & Son, Still Pond; J. W. Ivens, Worton; Clements & Co., Crumpton, Md.
