dered to a third reading, the question was on their passage.

The resolutions were then passed by a vote of yeas 141, nays 56.

Mr. Bowlin moved a reconsideration of the vote but it was negatived. So the resolutions will be sent to the Senate to-morrow.

WEDNESDAY 17th.—The Senate done but little else to-day than fill up the several Standing Committees, and elect the public printer. The vote was—

For Ritchie & Heiss	- -	28
Gales & Seaton	- -	20
Jefferson & Co.	- -	1

Ritchie & Heiss were therefore elected.

In the House, the first business in order, being the resolutions of the Legislature of Massachusetts, asking for a modification of the naturalization laws, and their reference to the Committee on the Judiciary. Mr. Levin, Giles and others spoke up to the hour of adjournment. The 'Natives' wish the resolutions referred to a select committee.

THURSDAY 18th.—In the Senate Mr. Allen submitted a resolution advising the President to terminate the joint occupation of Oregon, by giving immediate notice to Great Britain.

Mr. Atchison offered resolutions of inquiry, which lie over, as to the settlement of Oregon, the erection of forts, establishing an Indian agency, and post offices.

Various resolutions, previously submitted, were agreed to.

And the Senate, after an Executive session, adjourned till Monday.

In the House, the Massachusetts resolutions were debated—and but little else done.

FRIDAY, 19th.—In the House Mr. Douglass offered a resolution for extending the jurisdiction of the United States over the American citizens in the Territory of Oregon, and that it be committed to a Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, and made the special order of the day for the second Tuesday in January next; which was agreed to.

Mr. Bowlin offered a resolution that the Committee on Naval Affairs be authorized to inquire into the expediency of employing a portion of the home squadron upon the Oregon frontier, for the purpose of surveying all its bays and harbors. And also one that the Committee on Military Affairs be authorized to inquire how much of the United States Army could be employed in opening a highway for travellers from the United States to the Oregon Territory. Also, for the organization of post offices and post roads, and of the Militia of that Territory for the purpose of supplying them with arms and equipments.

THE CONTESTED SEAT—THE MANAGEMENT OF THE CASE.

The compliment paid to Mr. Ross in the last Herald for the management of his case, and the course of that press and the Examiner in regard to the investigation which has just taken place, calls for a [illegible] to management of this case from the beginning.

On the night of, or morning after the election, in October, 1844, as soon as it was ascertained that the Democratic candidate for Senator was elected, it was determined to contest his seat. Although no cases of illegal voting could be named, it was alleged that twelve illegal votes in the county could be found, and that then Mr. Ross could get his seat. It is undeniable that it was first determined to contest, and that then, the causes for contesting were sought. It was a cool calculation upon the power of a mere party vote in the Senate, without caring how that vote was to be obtained. We have always been, and are still unwilling to believe, that the gentlemen occupying the honorable places of Senators, would forget all that is due to honor, justice, and fair dealing, merely to gain a political object, or to gratify a few politicians. The getters up of this contest, however, tho't differently. To carry out their unprincipled purposes, and produce an impression abroad, one of them immediately wrote to the editor of the Baltimore Patriot, stating that 51 votes cast for Wm. Ross had been rejected because they wanted the J., which forms the middle initial of the Whig candidates name. This was a deliberate falsehood, as no such votes had been cast, and of course none rejected. Simultaneously with this, the master spirits verbally, and the Examiner and Herald, in their columns made much clamor about 36 votes rejected at Middletown, of gross abuses committed by the judges of election at Hanvers, and the other polls, so that the impression even now exists, out of the county, that Mr. Ross was cheated out of the 51 votes, mentioned by the Patriot's correspondent, the 36 which we think were improperly GIVEN him, and that he had suffered immensely by the corruption or irregularity of the judges of election.

The same system of management has been kept up ever since. During the recess of the committee of investigation, individuals were industriously circulating the report that the contestant had proven more cases than had ever been examined. The Examiner last week, stated specifically, that Mr. Ross had proven 20 votes. This week it makes wholesale business of it, by saying he has made out his cause. The course now being pursued, is precisely the same as that of last year. It is an attempt to produce an impression abroad, and upon the minds of the Senators, by the promulgation of deliberate misstatements. There is no more truth in the story of the 22 votes now, than there was in that of the 51 last year. We are satisfied that the contestant has not proven even 12 votes, without which he cannot get his seat. We challenge the Examiner to name twelve. But these gentlemen seems to forget that any thing has been proven on the other side. We are satisfied from the very best information, that Mr. Quynn has made out more cases against Mr. Ross, than Mr. R. has made against him; leaving the 11 clear majority out of the question. We have carefully watched the course of those who are managing this contest, and deem it necessary to guard those who are not conversant with the facts, against representations made to deceive.—Fred. Citizen.

INTERESTING STEAMBOAT STATISTICS—Number of Accidents, Loss of Lives, &c. A writer in the New York Evening Gazette, furnishes the following "scraps of curious information:"

The first steamboat accident in this country, happened in 1816 to the Washington, on the Ohio river. According to a letter to Congress by the Secretary of the Treasury, written in 1838, the whole number of steam engines of every kind that were then in use in the United States, was 3010; of this number, 800 were in steamboats; 350 in locomotives; 1860 in manufactories of different kinds.

The number of accidents to steam engines up to that time, causing loss of life was 260, of which number, 230 were in steamboats.

The greatest loss of life by steamboat accident was by the collision, and sinking of the Monmouth in 1837 on the Mississippi; the number of lives lost was 300.

The greatest loss of life by the explosion of a steamboat boiler was in 1838; in the case of the Oronoka on the same; the number of lives lost was 130.

The boilers of the steamboat Moselle, blew up at Cincinnati, Ohio, destroying 120 persons.

The greatest loss of life by snagging, was in the case of the steamboat St. Louis on the Mississippi in 1834, when there were 13 lives lost.

The greatest loss of life by shipwreck was in the case of Home in 1837, on the coast of N. Carolina, when 100 persons were lost.

The greatest loss of life by the burning of a steamboat up to that time, was in the case of the Ben Sherrod on the Mississippi in 1837.

The number of steamboats lost up to 1823 was 23. During the year 1837 no less than 80 steamboats were lost on the Western waters. During the ten years from 1830 to 1840 eighty steamboats were lost by explosion, in the United States, by which means 780 persons were killed outright, and 296 wounded badly, of which number 254 died from the injuries received.

On the 14th of June 1837, the steamboat Pulaski was destroyed by the explosion of one of her boilers while on the passage from Charleston to Baltimore, and 132 persons perished.

About the same time a similar accident occurred to the steamer Washington on Lake Erie, by which 20 lives were lost.

One hundred-and-seventy lives were lost by the destruction of the Lexington in 1840. The particulars of this sad disaster are familiar to every New Yorker, and therefore it would be worse than useless to repeat them.

The burning of the Erie, on Lake E[illegible] in August 1841, sent to their un[illegible] graves 175 [illegible] sympathies were al[illegible] by the destruction of the ill-fated Swa[illegible].

Accidents to steamboats are alar[illegible] frequent, and scarce a newspaper reaches us from the South or West, but chronicles the destruction of one or more. As these accidents in nine cases out of ten happen through gross carelessness, the persons responsible should be punished as the sacrifice of human life requires.

Baltimore Market.

[PRICES of GRAIN &c.—corrected weekly.]

Baltimore, Dec. 20th, 1845.

GRAIN.—The Grain market this week has been quiet and prices tolerably uniform, with light receipts in consequence of adverse winds. We quote sales of white Wheat for family flour, at 118a122c, and common white at 112a118c; good to prime reds at 113a118, and ordinary to good at 109a113c. Maryland Corn is 2 or 3 cents higher than last week—white is selling at 71a72c, and yellow at 72a74c. Md. Rye is worth 75a77c; we note a sale of Va. Rye at 78c. Oats are in demand at 43a45c. Pa. Rye 78c and yellow Corn 74 cents.

FLOUR.—The Flour market has been in a quiet state this week, and will remain so until later news is received from Europe, which is now due. About 6000 bbls. of City Mills flour have changed hands this week at $5 75, but to-day holders generally are not disposed to operate under $5 87½. The last sales of Susquehanna flour were at $5,-75a5 81½. Rye flour is scarce—small sales of prime at $5. Corn meal at $3 87½ a 4 per bl., and $1 62½ per 100 lbs; prime Buckwheat meal at $2 37a2 50 per 100 lbs. and common do. $2 25.

Extract from Dr. Clickenner's Pamphlet.

We copy the following from Dr. Clickeners valuable pamphlet, and having had personal experience in the matter, freely endorse all he says in favor of his Sugar Coated Pills. Indeed for ourselves we will say that we will never again take any other general medicine, so long as these are at hand, and several of our acquaintances have arrived at the same conclusion.

"My Sugar-coated Pills are the result of great expense, labor, and experience. It may be suggested that I am over confident of the medicine, being my own invention; but I sincerely assure the reader that I claim no merit for it which has not secured a solid foundation on the ample experience of others. The modes I have discovered of extracting the purest essence from vegetables (which is known to myself alone) combined with the capsule of sugar (also my own invention) are the causes which make my pills more effective, and consequently more popular than any other medicine now before the public. When the experience and labor of years were rewarded by the discovery of the mode of extracting essences, I was aware that my pills must command a large sale, but I was not prepared for the almost enthusiastic reception they have met with,—a reception which has thus far rendered it utterly impossible for me to supply even half the demands of my agents, whose letters from all directions proclaim in common that "Clickener's Sugar Coated Vegetable Extract Pills are everywhere the rage, and fast driving all the old fashioned, griping and nauseating popular compounds out of the market." In short, in my Sugar-coated Pills I present the public with a medicine of powerful purgative and purifying qualities which will neither cause disgust or pain, and adding that I hold myself responsible for the contents of this pamphlet,

I remain the public's devoted servant,
C. V. CLICKENER.

NOTICE.

John W. Cheezum, surviving Adm'r. of Daniel Cheezum, vs. Ann Cheezum, formerly Ann Mullikin.	Equity side Talbot county Court, Nov. Term 1845.

The object of this suit is to procure a Decree for a sale of certain mortgaged premises in Talbot county, which were, on the twenty-fifth day of February in the year eighteen hundred and forty-two, mortgaged by the Defendant, Ann Cheezum, to John W. Cheezum and William H. Cheezum, Adm'rs of Daniel Cheezum, dec'd.

The bill states that on or about the twenty-fifth day of February in the year eighteen hundred and forty-two, the said Ann Cheezum (now [illegible] with a certain Philemon Mullikin) conveyed certain real estate, which is particularly described in said bill and its accompanying exhibits marked C., unto the said John [illegible] Cheezum and William H. Cheezum, Adm'rs as aforesaid, to receive the sum of [illegible] two hundred and seventy-nine dollars and eighty-four cents, with interest from the first of August, eighteen hundred [illegible] six dollars and forty-[illegible] and one third cents, [illegible] marked exhibit A.; and also the likewise of two hundred and seventy-nine dollars and eighty-four cents, with interest from thirty-first day of August in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-eight, and the sum of eight dollars and fifteen cents, costs of judgment, marked exhibit B. to be paid in one and two years from date thereof.

It is therefore adjudged and ordered that the complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published at Easton once in each of three successive weeks, before the 10th day of January in the year eighteen hundred and forty-six, give notice to the said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill; and warn her to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the third Monday of May next, to answer the premises and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree ought not to pass as passed.
