THE NEW YEAR.

Hail, thirty nine, thou youngest child of time,
Smile on our States, and bless our tem'- perate clime;
From Aries mild thy youthful wardrobe bring,
Peace, roseate health, and all the bloom of spring;
Temper the summer sun's oppressive power,
Shed on the suff'ring field the genial shower;
When to old Capricorn thy short'ning days,
Bid thee retire, still may thy parting rays
Smile on our land serene, and leave behind
Thy pleasing mem'ry on the grateful mind.

Eighteen hundred and thirty eight has fled, fled forever. The sure and unerring revolutions of time have ushered in another year. There is a peculiar solemnity that attends the departure of one year, and the advent of another. We look around on the white banks of January, and they seem associated with hoary hairs, with loss of memory and of sight, and all those harbingers of a swiftly approaching eternity. We turn for consolation to our friends and relations, to the companions,—to the companions of our earliest years,—and we are again reminded by the rising mounds that cluster around our feet, that they have also been "gathered to their fathers." We too, although now revelling in the blessings of health, will be compelled to confront the visage of the "king of terrors," and should look upon ourselves, warned as we are by the pervading mortality around us, as candidates for the silent tomb. We feel that we are not forever to remain the subjects of the capricious 'king of terrors'—that there is a state of existence beyond this transitory being. We are admonished of this by the resurrection of the flowrets, by the revolving course of the seasons, by the re-appearance of the sun, and by all the analogies furnished by external nature. Vague and unsatisfactory as these analogies are to the cravings of an immortal soul—they at least prove to man the existence of another state of being. Here philosophy trembles and retires; her taper can afford no more light—it seems rather a species of lurid darkness, than of illumination. The proudest philosophers of antiquity, were here compelled to forego their inquiries. With all the gigantic graspings of their mighty minds, they could penetrate no father, and were at last coerced to submit to death, with gloomy acquiesence, as a thing inevitable. as a dispensation imposed on humanity, not to be avoided. Death is now viewed in a more awfully interesting light. The good man now beholds the snows of December, the loss of friends, their graves gathering around his footsteps, in a different view.

In tendering to our friends the compliments of the season, we feel a sort of foreboding heaviness of heart, that many who now peruse these papers and rejoice with us on the arrival of another year, will, before another annual revolution of the seasons, be cold and insensible either to the applause or censures of men, will have gone to "that bourne from whence no traveller returns."

THE MAILS.—If we resided in the middle of a dense forest we could hear as much news as we now do. At this period of the year when the National and State Legislatures are in session, and our readers are anxious to learn the nature of their proceedings; we are unable to lay any portion of their proceedings before them until it is some ten days old. Indeed it is very difficult to obtain matter of any description, wherewith to fill our columns. We have written upon almost every subject, which seemed to require it, of recent origin; but receiving no papers which contained any thing new, by the last mail, we are utterly confounded this week to know what to select as a fit subject for comment. We have been sitting in our office for several days, with one hand esconsed in our pantaloons' pocket, and the other holding the 'pen editorial' with a desperate gripe tasking our imagination to divine some point, upon which we may let off our few collected ideas. But we have sat in vain.

We were too hasty. Just as we finished the above paragraph, a servant stepped in our office with a request that we would "lend Miss Peggy Hope (an old maid, about forty years of age) D' Israeli's novel "Henrietta Temple." We sent the book to miss Peggy, with more than pleasure, because she furnished us with a subject upon which we can dilate; we will not do it, but content ourselves with a brief notice of her prospects of becoming a blooming bride.

Beautiful Miss Peggy, we fear your hopes will prove visionary and futile.—No more can you recall the rose-tint to your cheeks—no longer do your eyes sparkle with the wit and vivacity of youth! The Spring-time of life has passed, and over your womanhood "grave autumn creeps." Unfortunately for you, you live in an age, in which, a proper deference and respect is not paid to your sisterhood, and the mere mentioning an old maid's name seems to grate upon the sensitive ear of our 'knights of the clouded cane.' There is but one thing can save you from a state of "single blessedness, and that is the startling fact, that with your exit from 'lifes busy stage,' hope dies.

As a proof of Amos Kendall's wretched arrangement of mail routes, we merely state that our paper which is mailed on Tuesday arrives at Cannon's ferry (a distance of about fifty miles) in the space of ten days. This arises in consequence of the Cross mail leaving Easton only an hour or two before the mail from Cambridge arrive there. It is insufferable to be thus treated by this pampered hireling.

LOWER CANADA.

We saw a letter yesterday written at Quebec on the 20th inst., from one who has full opportunities of knowing the movements of both provinces—and the writer gives a detail of Regiments now organized and on duty, and of a military force yet to come from England, which will effectually put down the irregular and poorly sustained efforts of the uneasy patriots on the frontier of Upper Canada. The plan of Great Britian is evidently, to stop the insurrection and invasion by numbers sufficient to make short work.

Large amounts of arms and ammunition have been found concealed near Quebec—a goodly quantity of ammunition and many stand of arms were discovered buried in Le Roch's burying ground. Judges Bedoned and Panet have been suspended from office on account of an illegal decision in the case of Tieda great patriot, now in jail.

We caution our readers, against the reception of $10 notes on the Bank of Baltimore; $10 Farmers' bank of Md; $5 Bank of Va. $5 Bank of Pe. Philadelphia; $20 bank of Penn Township, $3 Bank of Delaware, and also various altered notes on the Delaware Banks from $1 up to $50, a great quantity of spurious nots of the above descriptions are in circulation, and persons cannot be too cautious in recieving them, a large quantity of bad notes are also in circulation bearing on their face "Loan Company," nearly all of them frauds.

MARRIED,

By the Rev. J. L. Cox, on Tuesday the 18th ult, James Parrott Esq. clerk of Talbot County, to Miss Louisa Zollickoffer, of Baltimore city.

DIED,

In this county about the 20th Dec. last, Mr. WILLIAM HAYWARD.

At his residence, in Talbot County, on Tuesday the 18th December last, Richard Denny Esq. in the 96th year of his age.

(COMMUNICATED.)

To the Humane and Charitable.

Died in this Town on Tuesday the 25th inst., Mrs Mills, widow of the late John Mills, a worthy citizen of this county. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Mills removed to Cambridge, to support herself and two small daughters by every effort which industry would dictate. She was so far successful, that during her residence, she with her children lived reputed upon their well earned means. The mother is now taken from these children, the oldest about ten and the youngest six or seven years of age, and if an instance ever presented itself where true charity might be well directed, it is extending to these Orphan and helpless female childrne the means of present support and comfort.—These lonely Orphans' had learned a litetl through the Sunday School and their mother had instructed the eldest in the use of her needle. Will a generous community permit these little sufferers to want the means of advancing reputably in their humble life, when by a small contribution from those able to give, they can be provided for? The writer hopes and believes not. Should this Communication reach the eye of the charitable and they shall be willing to give. They are requested to leave their contribution at the store of Mrs. White & Anderson, who will hand it over to the officers of the Dorcas Society, by whose heavenly efforts, these little Orphans' are now protected.

Great excitement in BOSTON.

TREMBLING AMONG THE MEDICAL FACULTY!!!

We learn that the distinguished Dr. WATSON, 276, Washington street, and Dr. S. C. HEWETT, the celebrated bone-setter, 297 Washington street, (two of the most skillful practitioners in Boston,) have witnessed the happy effects of Goelicke's Matchless Sanative in several cases which have come under their observation, have given the general Agent of this great modern medicine, permission to refer to them through the public journals. It is with pleasure, we notice such acts of disinterested benevolence, and this noble generosity of Drs. H. and W. bespeak their genuine philanthropy.

We understand, Dr. Watson is of the opinion, that as the Sanative has created such a tremendous excitement among the Medical Faculty, it must be something extraordinary and far superior to the common nostrums of the day—and there cannot be a doubt, but when the virtues of this great specific shall be duly appreciated by Physicians, they will frankly acknowledge it to be the most valuable addition which has been made to the Materia Medica since the days of Hippocrates.

We further learn that the General Agent of the Sanative has the liberty to refer his fellow citizens to Dr. Hewet, for two very interesting cases which came within the knowledge of the Doctor. One of the cures as we learn, was effected upon a young lady afflicted with "Lumbar Abscess"—and so serious was her complaint, that she was unable to submit to Dr. H's usual mode of treatment in such cases. He advised her to try the Sanative, she did so, and before taking one phial, was entirely cured and not a vestige of her disease remains!! Another, a gentleman aged 45, pronounced by all who knew him to be in a 'confirmed CONSUMPTION,' was wonderfully restored to health by the use of only one phial of the SANATIVE—and he is now well and about his daily business as usual!

We think the open and candid course pursued by Dr's. Watson and Hewett richly entitle them to the lasting gratitude of the public—although they may have the whole phalanx of the Medical Faculty pouncing upon them.

After reading the above, and the following extracts from letters* addressed to Dr. Rowland, by his agents, who can for a moment doubt the powers of the mighty Sanative?

Amherst, N. H. Jan. 1 1838.

Dr. Rowland—I sold a phial of the Matchless Sanative to a gentleman who was in a Confirmed Consumption, pronounced PAST ANY RELIEF and confined to his room—he had settled his affairs and prepared to meet his fate. He has not taken a whole bottle, and says his health is perfect, that he is entirely well, and imputes the cure to the Sanative and to nothing else. Many others who have taken it make similar statements.

Yours respectfully, &c.

THOMAS M. BENDER.

Orland Post Office, Maine, March 30, 1838.

Dear Sir—The Matchless Sanative has had a wonderful effect in several cases in this town. I sold a phial to a man who had been sick with Consumptive and Rheumatic complaints for 4 or 5 years, and who was unable to dress himself when he commenced taking it. He has recently sent me word that he felt quite well, could dress himself without any trouble, and thinks he shall, wholly recover.

Yours, in haste,

R. TRUSSEL, P. M.

Rush Post Office, Monroe Co. N. Y. March 14, 1838.

Dear Sir—In 48 hours after I received the package of Sanative, I sold all of it—and have come to the conclusion that it must be all that it is recommended to be. It is sufficient to say, that the benefit derived from a short use of it, has convinced the most prejudiced of its utility. The enclosed money you will pass to my account, and I wish you to send me more of the Sanative as soon as convenient.

Respectfully, &c.

JOHN B. CROSBY, P. M.

Haverhill, Mass. March 26, 1838.

Dear Sir—Numerous cases have come to my knowledge in which the Sanative has proved very beneficial—and one case in particular, in which it performed a wonder. I can procure you a good certificate from the patient if you wish. Please credit me with the enclosed money, and forward me more of the Sanative by the bearer.

Yours truly,

THOS. G. FARNSWORTH.

Dear Sir—The Matchless Sanative is very highly esteemed in this quarter, and is getting into general use.

Yours &c.

SAMUEL EVERTS, P. M.

Westfield Post Office, N. Y. Feb 16, 1838.

Dear Sir—Several pressing cases demand the Sanative at whatever expense it can be sent to me. It has effected some astonishing cures already, and I cannot wait for the package you say is on the way. I wish you would send me half a dozen phials by MAIL and I will put the extra price of postage, on the Sanative. Dont fail to send by the mail, as it will come by weight at $1 per ounce as postage, and I shall expect it in 12 days from date.

Yours, &c.

ORRIS NICHOLS, P. M.

Hartford, Ct. April 12, 1838.

Dear Sir—My daughter, who had a distressing [illegible] e deal of matter, and who was [illegible] with palpitation of the heart, has taken a phial of the Sanative and is now WELL. Others also bear testimony to its good effects.

Yours respectfully,

C. R COMSTOCK.

Plymouth, Mass. Feb. 6, 1838.

Daar Sir—I have abundance of matter to tell you concerning the Sanative, where it has performed cures when those who have bought it, had scarcely any faith in its efficacy. We have one person now able to attend to her domestic concerns, who was at the time she commenced taking it, confined to her chamber and prostrated on her bed. I will tell you more when I see you

Respectfully, &c.

ISAAC B. RICH.

Beaver Post Office, Pa. March 1, 1838.

Dear Sir—Since I last wrote you, I have seen several persons who have been using the Sanative, and in every case it has proved itself, worthy the name it bears. A young man, Robert McIlhery had been wasting away in a seated consumption for the last two years—and by using this medicine about six weeks, his cough, pains, &c. left him entirely, and he is now so well as to be about his ordinary business.

Indeed sir, from the rapidity of the sales, the value of the Sanative may be safely determined. I am wholly out, have daily calls for it, and wish you would forward me more as soon as possible.

Yours, &c.

"☞ The above powerful and invaluable medicine is doing wonders in this section of the country, as well as in others. Applications for it have been made in various places in this vicinity. A young lady in this town has been restored from a consumption and confirmed in health by the use of it—No mistake. She had been visited by various physicians, but all to no purpose. One phial of this medicine produced the long desired effect.

A few more bottles of this efficacious medicine may be found at the Post Office if applied for soon.

From Timothy George, Esq. Orrington Me

"My wife has been considered of a consumptive habit for two years, attended with a severe cough, but has always or generally attended to her domestic concerns until the forepart of last winter, when she had a sudden and severe attack of pain in her side, and distressed for breath. I immediately called upon one of our best Physicians, who attended carefully upon her, and I was well satisfied with his treatment of her case, though her distress was partially alleviated, there was no hope of her recovery, her Doctor told her that she had the consumption, and that her LEFT LUNG WAS PARTIALLY CONSUMED, and seemed to despair of her recovery, as well as myself; we calculated she could not continue but a short time, he left her nothing but sleeping powder to command her rest, when providentially I fell in with those Sanative Drops, and though she was altogether faithless the first drop she took gave her some relief, she continued taking them exactly according to the directions, her appetite was soon restored to a child's appetite, and she continued gradually to recover so that I do not know but her health is now as good as it has been since we married, say ten years

N. B. She took about one and one half bottles when she called herself well.
