VALUE OF TRIFLES.

Results of Incidents In Careers of Well Known People.

Thorwaldsen, the great Dutch sculptor, after working for more than four months unrecognized in Rome, determined in despair to return home and lay down the sculptor's chisel forever. A chance error by a careless clerk in drawing his passport detained him twenty-four hours. During that interval of waiting Mr. Hope walked into the studio, admired his "Jason" in clay and aroused the desponding Dane's hope by ordering a copy in marble.

Thorwaldsen unpacked his tools and never afterward in his long career lacked patronage.

Rachel, the great tragedienne, was when a child a street singer and as such might have passed into womanhood and old age had not a party of critics dining together chanced to hear her loud, clear voice beneath their window. They observed the child's wonderful face and eyes and in a kindly spirit proposed to her protectors to place her in the conservatory as a pupil.

Sir Walter Raleigh would probably have remained out of favor with the court had Elizabeth on her walk to the Tower chanced to take a path less muddy. Every reader of history knows the story of how the gallant Sir Walter spread his cloak beneath the royal feet and was rewarded with his sovereign's smile and speedy restoration to favor.

Potemkin, the favorite of Catherine II. and founder of the powerful Russian family which bears his name, would doubtless have remained an obscure soldier had not a trivial incident—a chance, in fact—changed his destiny. After Catherine had deposed her weak husband and herself assumed the scepter she was accustomed to parade the streets of St. Petersburg at the head of her troops. One day Potemkin noticed that her sword bore no knot. He boldly stepped forward, braving the knout for his insubordination, and offered his. The czarina accepted it and, struck by the handsome lieutenant, asked his name and regiment and if he would not like to serve her in the palace.

LOST WORKS OF ART.

Many Gems Destroyed Through Carelessness or Stupidity.

The workman stumbled and his brawny fist went through a splendid Everett Shinn pastel.

"Drat it all!" said the pastel's owner, a millionaire collector. "Stupid people are always destroying works of art."

He discharged the workman. Then, a little calmer, he resumed:

"On New Bond street in London a Turner worth $50,000 was destroyed by a charwoman. The Turner was a water color drawing, and a painting in oils hung beside it. The owner pointed to the painting and said:

"'That picture is dusty. Rub a damp cloth over it.'

"But the charwoman by mistake rubbed her damp cloth over the water color, turning it into a blot, smudge, and thus one of the finest Turners disappeared from the world.

"A boy shot a marble from a sling in Paris. The marble went through a window of the Luxembourg gallery and utterly destroyed a Meissonier worth $17,000.

"A Macmonnies statuette was stolen from a van in Boston, and some ignorant students on Commonwealth avenue stood it up and stoned it.

"I brought from Japan on one occasion an ivory tusk that was carved from end to end with monkeys—over a hundred monkeys walking amicably together, holding one another's tails. The piece was fifteen century work, and it was valued easily at $7,000. Well, I dropped it out of a fifth story window one night after a petit souper. The better fragments are in that teak wood cabinet.

"Through carelessness or stupidity many valuable works of art are destroyed."—New York Herald.

The Chewing Puppy.

What household has not at some time had a puppy, and what woman has not been bothered by its chewing everything within reach? As soon as our puppies begin to want to chew anything we furnish them with a chewing stick, for the same reason that we give a baby a rubber ring. This stick is simply a part of a broom handle about ten inches in length. Every time he chews anything else he is punished and then given the stick, and he soon learns to chew that and nothing else. We had one puppy who would even whine for it if it was where he couldn't get it.

His Pay Was Raised.

Genius that may grow to great things must have been born in the office boy of whom the St. Louis Post-Dispatch tells this story: The "boss" was bending over a table looking at the directory. The new office boy slipped up quietly and put a note in his hand. The boss read: "Honored Sir—Your pants is ripped."

An Easy Method.

"Poor fellow! His doctor tells him the only thing that will cure him is a course of mud baths, and he can't afford to go to the mud springs."

"But surely he can go into politics and let the mud come to him."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Step Farther.

Spinks—No, I never get angry. If a man calls me a liar I simply look down on him. Blinks—Well, if he was small enough for me to look down on I think I'd take a poke at him.—Cleveland Leader.

Those who have little are not the poor. The really poor are those who want more than they have.—Woman's Life.
