OUR OLIO.

ALL TOGETHER.

A teamster whose wagon had in it a load,
Was brought to a halt in a deep muddy road:
The teamster at Fortune nor scolded nor muttered,
But full of good courage, this saying he uttered:
"No motto is better in all sorts of weather,
Then 'a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether."
The well-harnessed horses were gentle and stout—
And pulling together, they pulled the load out.

Since each unto others is yoked or united,
The moral by any should never be slighted.
If you in the highway of life should be stalled,
Remember the teamster and be not appalled.
Forget not the saying his horses proved true,
And let it your courage revive and renew;
For no motto is better in all sorts of weather,
Than "a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether."

A gentleman conversing with an Irishman, stated that he had seen a telescope, with which he could see rocks in the moon.

"Arrah," says Pat; an' was it not my own father that had a telescope which would bring a pig so near, that you could see him five miles off, an' faith, an' you could here him grunt, too."

A timid old lady, in Brookfield, forbid her dress maker to pad her frocks any more with cotton —"cos you see," said the old lady, "the papers say as how the stuff will sartinly explode, and I might git blowed up, who knows?"

Blow 'em up!—Dont talk to me about your 'gun cotton,' said a gentleman, 'I'll put my wife against any invention in the world for blowing people up; if the Government could get her to sit down opposite St. Juan de Ulloa, the Mexicans would leave instanter.'

The late learned Dr. W. having married a lady by the name of Experience, who was very tall, on being asked, some time after the event, what he though of the married state, replied that he 'found by long Experience, that it was not good for a man to be alone.'

☞The fashionables of the "Quaker city," have taken to equestrian exercises. Parties of a dozen or twenty may be seen on the road any fine afternoon. Ladies wear crimped ruffles very high in the neck, with bands of velvet or ribbon, which are very pretty and comfortable.

An honest son of Hibernia was asked the other day how many children he had. "Faith," says he, "I have three sons and each of them has a sister." Quere—how many daughters has he?

There is something in a beautiful woman that leaves a deeper impression on the mind of sensibility than either pickled oysters or even stewed according to the most approved method.

"Why in such a hurry?" said a man to an acquaintance. "Sir," said the man, "I've bo't a new bonnet for my wife, and fear the fashion may change before I get home."

You may say there is a scarcity of fuel, when a cripple is obliged to chop up his wooden leg to make the tea-kettle boil.

'Mr. Post Office man I want to pay the postage on this letter.' Single or double, Miss? 'Double, sir, (with a courtesy,) I was married last week.'

It has been well remarked by a most worthy contemporary that 'to be in debt is to be nibbling at the fag end of a living purgatory.'

A Frenchman, wishing to tell a lady that she was very considerate, said, Madame, you are very considerable.'

"Why does father call mother honey?" asked a small boy of his elder brother. "Can't think, Sam, 'cept its because she's got a large comb in her head."

A 'girl' of forty fainted on being asked by a spruce widower to become the mother of his children.

'I got some boot in that bargain,' as the loafer said when he got kicked out of doors.

Why is a jewsharp like a woman?—Because it is nothing without the tongue.

There is a Mississippi volunteer in New Orleans so excellent a marksman with the rifle, that he shoots —"folly as it flies."

STANTON'S EXTERNAL REMEDY, CALLED
Hunt's Liniment,

IS universally acknowledged to be the INFALLIBLE REMEDY for Rheumatism, Spinal Affections, Contractions of the Muscles, Sore Throat and Quinsy, Issues, Old Ulcres, Pains in the Back & Chest, Ague in the Breast and Face, Tooth-ache, Sprains, Bruises, Salt Rheum, Burns, Croup, Frosted Feet, and all Nervous Diseases.

The triumphant success which has attended the application of this most wonderful medicine in curing the most severe cases of the different diseases above named,—and the high ecomiums that have been bestowed upon it, wherever it has been introduced, gives me the right to call on the afflicted to resort at once to the only remedy that can be relied on.

From the New York Mirror.

HUNT'S LINIMENT.—This invaluable Remedy of the many "ills that flesh is heir to," continues to shed its untold benefits upon all classes of society. We have seen a certificate from some of the most respectable, intelligent, and influential citizens of Westchester, where the Proprietor resides, who are above all attempts to mislead the public in reference to any medicine, remedy or preparation; and as this testimony is at once spontaneous and uniform in commending this truely excellent Medicine for Rheumatism, and various other diseases named in the advertisement, there can no longer be a reasonable doubt entertained of its extraordinary success and triumph over the maladies in question

Sing Sing, May 13, 1845.

We, the undersigned, do certifiy, that we have used Mr. George E. Stanton's External Remedy, called hunt's liniment, and have proved it to be fully equal to the character he gives it. Its healing properties are truely extraordinary; and we most confidently recommend it as one of the most certain external remedies that has yet been discovered.

Caleb Roscoe, Editor Westchester Herald; Isaac Birdsall, Inspector M. P. State Prison; Albert Lockwood, Judge Court Common Pleas; James Locke, the extensive Horticulturist; James B. Swain, Editor H. ☞The following shows a case of Rheumatism cured with only one bottle of Hunt's Liniment.—The letter is addressed to Mr. Staunton:

Yorktown, June 18, 1845.

Sir:—Having cured me of severe attack of Rheumatism, which had rendered me almost helpless, and at the same time made me suffer great pain, I would offer my testimony in favor of the properties which your External, Remedy, Hunt's Liniment is possessed of. I only used one bottle, and with that I consider I have been saved from a protracted and severe illness. I am now attending to my business regularly, which is that of a Farmer.

Your obedient servan't.,
OLIVER VAN COURTLAND.
