in, it is not accompaniad by the amount of sickness anticipated. But very few cases of sickness are said to exist in the Sacramento Valley. It may be that our citizens will be spared the scourge this season, as the winter inundations were not so severe as those of the preceding year. The heat is intense, notwithstanding.—At Sacramento it ranged about 145 degrees in the shade.

Provisions are plenty at the mines, and goods can be obtained in Sacramento city at San Francisco prices. Business is brisk at the former place, and improvements are rapidly going forward. Property which three months ago sold for $400, now commands $10,000 to $15,000.

The Empire City brought $600,000 in gold.

There has been no arrivals from Philadelphia at San Franciaco.

THE NEXT CONGRESS—MARYLAND IN DEMAND.—Taking the footing of the Journal of Commerce to be correct, that the Whigs have so far three majority in the House, the Union says—and look to it Maryland Democrats—

Let us gain 1 member in Mississippi and two in Maryland, and the account will then stand 5 whigs and 12 democrats—114 whigs in the House and 117 democrats; or allow us but 1 democratic gain in Maryland, and we have 1 majority, according to the preceding estimate of the Journal of Commerce. Will not our democratic friends, then, in Mississippi and Maryland, make every effort to secure these accessions?—We may be assured that the whigs will spare neither money nor exertion to carry their objects. The wolf will be on his walk. Truman Smith and his parasites will be at work. Our glorious cause is better than theirs. Our principles are sounder—our candidates more worthy of support. We call, then. upon the democrats to rush to the rescue, and to save the next House of Representatives.

SECOND CROP OF HAIR.—The Richmond Republican says that Mr. M. Wise, a farmer of Rockingham county, has discovered a certain means of restoring the growth of hair on the head. An examination of the pores of skins which had been prepared for tanning, showed that after one crop of hair had been extracted, there were a second set of roots below those which were drawn out of the upper pores of the skin, and this peculiar formation of the skin of an animal he thought not unlikely to exist in the human head. Hence it occurred to him that if the skin on the head of a person could be softened, and the lower pores so reached with the right kind of invigorating application, a new growth of hair would be produced. He had applied his remedy to the heads of several persons in Richmond, and the Republican says:—"We have ourself seen new and luxuriant growths of hair upon the heads of several of our citizens, whom we knew to be almost entirely bald a short time since. In most cases the hair has made its appearance in eight or nine days after Mr. Wise's first application—and, in one instance, only four days elapsed before the new hair began to grow."

LOWER CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—What are our old friends in the lower district about? They do not intend to allow the Whigs to carry it without a fight, we hope. Where is the gallant Humphreys, whose voice we have listened to with so much pleasure in former days? Will he not consent to meet the Whig nominee, and show him a little of the old Democratic mettle? We think it should be done. The movement in Talbot should be promptly met by the other Counties, and a ticket formed for Congress, and the Legislature, too. Taylor whiggery has lost its charm with the people, and a spirited onset may scatter the dispirited hosts, and place the flag of Democracy where it ever should be, high in the ascendant. We shall be pleased to see a full Democratic Ticket out in every County, and hope our friends will promptly gratify our wishes.—Argus.

A JUST REBUKE.—The brutal attack of the Washington Republic upon Mr. Bancroft, our distinguished American Minister to London, proves that the editors of that journal have no ambition to commend their writings to the regard of decent or intelligent men. The N. Y. Mirror, a very decided and able Whig Taylor paper, rebukes this attack in the following indignant terms:

"The Washington Republic has an article attempting to exalt Mr. Broadhead and to ridicule Mr. Bancroft. We think it signally fails in both efforts; and we cannot see that any capital is likely to be made, by abusing a man who is generally acknowledged one of the best Secretaries of the Navy we have ever had, by all the veterans of the service. The article in the Republic is both ungenerous and ungentlemanly.

LOUIS PHILLIPPE'S PROPERTY.—The Commissioner of the French Assembly, appointed to arrange the accounts of Louis Phillippe, has completed that duty, and estimates the landed property at 250,000,000 francs, which yield only 5,000,000 francs per annum. His debts are set down at 30,000,000 francs, and he has desired that each of his creditors shall receive a sum on account. He has also directed that several of his most extensive estates shall be sold, in order the more quickly to make payment.

ORDER OF THE SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—W. H. Gobright, Esq. Grand Secretary for Maryland, reports there were, on the 1st of May, Grand Divisions, 35—Subordinate Divisions, 4,398—initiated, 111,520—suspended, 18,049—expelled, 15,947—deaths, 1,260—violated pledge, 14,821—reinstated, 4,771—violated second time, 1,510—contributing members, 221,458—cash received, $7,45 00—paid for benefits, $200,886 68—cash on hand, $336,614 13.

☞H. G. S. KEY, ESQR., is strongly recommended by two writers in the Upper Marlboro Gazette, as a suitable candidate for Congress, to oppose the Whig nominee. Mr. Key, we believe, could be elected, but let our friends there agree upon either him or another, still the hope for success is well worth the effort. Let us, in any event, have but one suitable candidate against Bowie.

YANKEE SULLIVAN.—The Syracuse Raveille says that "this distinguished gentleman has already arrived in that city, and that Tom Hyer is expected this week.

NEW NATIONAL NAME.—The Richmond papers are strenuously urging the adoption of "Virginia" as the name for the entire Union.

EDUCATION.

Night School for Young Gentlemen.

MR JAMES W. CONNER, having been repeatedly solicited to open a NIGHT SCHOOL FOR YOUNG GENTLEMEN, who have not the opportunity to attend day schools, now offers his services to such as may be disposed to patronize him.

He will commence on Monday Night October 1st 1849.

The number of students is limited to twenty five. The terms are moderate and made known on application.

The Course of studies will comprise all that is necessary for the practical duties of life.

Cambridge—Sept. 5th 1849.

As the portrayment of the advantages resulting to Young Men from evening applications to study, may awaken an interest in their minds in behalf of Mental culture, I have submitted for their perusal and calm reflection the following dissertation.

Education is one of the deepest principles of independence. In arbitrary governments, where the people neither frame the law nor select those who legislate, the more ignorance the more peace. But in a government where the people fill all the departments of sovereignty, intelligence is the life of liberty. An American citizen would surely resent his being debarred the use of his musket; but he would deprive himself of a stronger protection, if he should want that learning which is necessary to a knowledge of the privileges which he is entitled to enjoy under the constitution. When man reflects that the radiant smiles of intelligence lead to the gates of glory; that the independence which it inspires prepares the soul of her residence for every noble enterprise of humanity and greatness; that the effulgence beaming forth from cultivated minds, stays and beats back all mad enthusiasm and irritation of spirit, which may be calculated to extinguish for ever the splendor, the wealth, the power and glory of a nation; how ambitious he should be to reach the highest intellectual attainment.

We may expect our national character will become more energetic, if our citizens are more enlightened. We may then hail the age as not far distant, when will be heard, as the proudest acclamation of man:—I am an educated American.

Having detailed to a measurable extent the utility of buying up the fleeting moments of our pilgrimage, and devoting them to the intellectual elevation of mind, I now desire to exhibit some of the immediate results which may be realized by all who may be disposed to avail themselves of the benefits of the inductive principle employed in education; which is so universally practised in Germany, and which will be portrayed in my system of instruction. This system adapts itself to the capacities of any age, and consequently at any stage of progression in the respective branches of a thorough education.

In its application to the study of Orthoepy and Orthography, accuracy is secured, not in the dull monotony of former times, but upon principles which are clear and lucid, and which are very early and ineffacibly impressed upon the mind.

By this inductive principle is acquired at one and the same time, the Orthography, syllabication, and signification of words, with wonderful quickness and precision. It is probable that instructors are not generally aware, (I allude to those who desire slavishly to adhere to the old systems by which they were taught) of the facility with which such exercises discipline the mind, and give to it a correct understanding and use of English words. In the application of this principle, the insight into the signification of the words of our language, and their etymological formation, which is afforded by an acquaintance with the Latin and Greek, is most rapidly and permanently achieved, without even the labor of acquiring those languages. But an aspiring young gentleman, when once initiated into this mode of mastering the English language, will be eager to carry it out in the study of other languages, and in all the departments of his studies.

It will not be denied that by the employment of this inductive principle, a full insight into the structure and meaning of English words, will place any one on a level with him who is master of the Latin and Greek.

A few specific suggestions, designed to explain the utility of the inductive principle in all the departments of classical education, will be found in the concluding part of may essay.

THE BROADCLOTH MANUFACTURE.—The Boston Courier, says out of 3000 looms employed in Massachusetts alone in the manufacture of Broadcloths before 1846, there are now less than 380 in operation.

WHO IS HIT?—What can the Portland Transcript mean by instituting such inquiries as the following? Isn't this "a free country?"

"What is pleasanter or more perfectly agreeable than to see a friend who owes you a little bill, which he never has the money to pay, going off on expensive excursions, rides, parties of pleasure, or to places of amusement? It's a satisfaction to know that they have the means of enjoying themselves, even though you don't yourself. Would it not be a good idea for our legislature to exempt two-thirds of every man's income for this purpose?"

CANST THOU RESTORE A MIND DISEASED?—The effect of a bilious climate upon the human system is most strikingly exhibited in its influence upon the mind. The common objects of pleasure and enjoyment, become sources of weariness and disgust. All nature wears a sombre aspect. A constant gloom hangs over the spirits, a weight of despondency crushes every elastic feeling of the heart. Existence loses its charm, and life itself becomes a burden. As incredible as it may seem, such are often the morbid influences of a diseased liver—the effects of a bilious climate. Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue, by eradicating the disease of that organ, removes the burden which oppresses the spirits, and restores the mind to cheerfulness and health.

CHANCERY SALE.

BY virtue of a Decree of the High Court of Chancery, I will offer at public sale, to the highest bidder, at the Ceurt House door in Cambridge, on MONDAY the 15th OCTOBER next, all that valuable Estate, composed of the following tracts or parcels of land to wit: "CORK'S INDUSTRY," containing 69¾ acres, and "JOSEPH'S VENTURE," containing 37½ acres, situated on Hutson's Creek, and in Coson's Neck, and where Mrs. Mary Cook lately resided. These lands are beautifully located, and in as healthy a section of the country as can be found—convenient to navigable water with all the attendant advantages—to schools, churches and store houses, and public roads. There is a surplus of wood on the tracts, of the best quality.

The improvements, consisting of a DWELLING HOUSE and the necessary out houses, are in tolerable good condition. With little attention and expense, this Estate may be made a most delightful residence. The lands are well adapted to wheat and corn, having a kind soil, free from water, or salt, and susceptible of the highest improvement. The tract contains about a sufficiency to be put in the highest order, for a residence on salt water, and ought to command a liberal price, and persons desiring such a residence are invited to view the location. Messrs. Wm. H., Thos. R. or James A. Cook, will shew the property to any one wanting to examine the same. Possession will be given at the end of this year, with privilege of seeding wheat.

The terms of sale are one third cash—the residue on a credit of 6, 12, and 18 months, secured by Bond with security approved by the trustee, and bearing interest from the day of sale.

CHANCERY SALE.

BY virtue of authority derived from the Hon. John Johnson, Chancellor of Maryland, I will offer at public sale on next, at the store of John Mills in Bucktown, between the hours of twelve and four o'clock, P. M., that valuable farm owned by Allen Vane and wife, and the heirs of Robert Seward, known by the name of "LAYTON'S DELIGHT," but commonly called the "SCOTT FARM," containing about Three Hundred and thirty-six Acres, more or less.

SATURDAY the 6th day of OCTOBER

This farm is situated adjacent to Bucktown, is of good soil, heavily timbered, and about three miles from navigable water. It is supposed that there is timber enough upon the land to spare, to pay the purchase money. The soil is of such a texture and quality, as to be admirably adapted to the growth of Corn, and by a small addition of lime, rendered first rate wheat land. All persons desirous of purchasing can view the premises for themselves, and Mr. Bannamon Mills the present occupant will afford them every facility in so doing.

The terms of sale will be one third of the purchase money in cash on the day of sale, and the balance in equal instalments of one, two, and three years, secured by bond and surety to be approved by the trustee, and bearing interest from date.

JAMES WALLACE,
Sept. 12, 1849.—tds Trustee.
