THREE FACTS

For Sick Women To Consider

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing women for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

TO TEST THE MONORAIL.

Ocean City to Tolchester Instead of Tolchester to Ocean City.

The following editorial from the Baltimore American of last Monday shows that Mr. Tunis is not idle but will push his monorail. He has simply changed his plans for reaching connection between Baltimore and the sea. His original plan was to begin at Tolchester. Now he proposes to begin at Ocean City and run through to Tolchester. The American says:

The short electric road which, as announced in the American of Saturday, is to be built from Fenwick Island to Ocean City, possesses a special and peculiar interest because it is to be a monorail line, and will constitute a practical test in a new system of rapid locomotion. The monorail theory has long been under discussion and in process of experimental development. The plans that will be applied in the construction and operation of the Ocean City road are those of a Baltimore inventor, Mr. Howard A. Tunis. Experiments in the development of the various processes and contrivances that will be used in the Tunis system of monorail locomotion have for sometime been conducted in the vicinity of Baltimore, and more than a year ago there was an extensive account in the American of the theoretic process upon which this system of monorail locomotion was expected to be worked out.

The Road from Fenwick Island to Ocean City will be ten miles long—a sufficient length to afford a practical demonstration of the capacity of the system and to settle some considerations as to economy of construction and general availability for passenger and other purposes that may yet be in doubt. Economy in the cost of the construction of the road and in the outfitting of the running equipment also, it is understood, are expected to be demonstrated by those who are financing the peninsular enterprise.

Ultimately, as stated in the American, it is in contemplation to construct this monorail road from Ocean City up the Eastern Shore Peninsula to Tolchester, from where there will be only a short steamboat run across the Bay to Baltimore. The short line from Fenwick Island to Ocean City it is anticipated to have completed and in running order by the first of next July, or within a little more than two months from now. Before the longer road that will lead up to Baltimore can be built it is to be assumed that many preliminary details must be arranged. The main demand which it is expected that the contemplated road from Tolchester to Ocean City will subserve will be in the supplying of a quicker and cheaper route by which Baltimoreans may reach the seaside. If the monorail system can develop the high speeds which have been claimed for it, Baltimore may be brought by an hour or more in quicker connection with the ocean. Under the broad charter granted by the last legislature the company that will undertake the construction of the new Peninsula road will have ample authority for getting into Baltimore or for connecting with other roads that may already have an entrance.

ELEPHANT HOLDS UP TRAIN.

Squirts Water From Tank Into Cab and Drives Out Engineer

Queen, the biggest elephant with the Robinson circus, held up the train on which she was traveling at Belfast, south of Michigan City, for half an hour and fatally injured a man on the railroad platform who was watching her antics.

The big elephant was in the car next to the engine, and just as the train drew up at Belfast she filled her trunk with water from the engine tank, deluged engineer and fireman and drove them from the cab. Every time they tried to return the elephant threw a stream of water over them.

Charles Williamson, a resident of Belfast, was standing on the station platform when Queen suddenly turned a trunk full of water upon him. He was knocked from the platform and rolled down an embankment and was rescued unconcious. Three ribs were broken and one of them, it was thought, had been driven into the stomach.

No one dared to go near the car, and Queen held the engineer and fireman off till she had practically drained the tank.
