Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health. - How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs Alice Berryhill.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only.

Many thousands of cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as she has been.

Mrs. Alice Berryhill, of 313 Boyce Street, Chattanooga, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Three years ago life looked dark to me. I had ulceration and inflammation of the female organs and was in a serious condition.

"My health was completely broken down and the doctor told me that if I was not operated upon I would die within six months. I told him I would have no operation but would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He tried to influence me against it but I sent for the medicine that same day and began to use it faithfully. Within five days I felt relief but was not entirely cured until I used it for some time.

"Your medicine is certainly fine. I have induced several friends and neighbors to take it and I know more than a dozen who had female troubles and who to-day are as well and strong as I am from using your Vegetable Compound."

Just as surely as Mrs. Berryhill was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

If you are sick write Mrs. Pinkham for advice. It is free and always helpful.

Surplus Over $25,000,000

The surplus for the fiscal year is approximately $25,693,459, which is larger than has ever been expected.

The surplus is due principally to the enormous customs receipts and also to the increase in internal revenue receipts. Compared with a year ago, this is a great improvement. The deficit then was over $24,000,000.

The most remarkable feature of the financial showing for the end of the fiscal year is the record-breaking amount of customs receipts. The receipts passed the three hundred million mark, the exact total being $300,667,413, about $40,000,000 more than for last year.

The internal revenue receipts were $249,063,867, or about $17,000,000 more than for the previous fiscal year.

Sunday Trains Will Not Stop.

Wilmington Morning News.

It is understood that the committee of ministers to ask the Pennsylvania railroad officers to discontinue Sunday trains will not do so until the number of names upon their petitions reaches 10,000. It is also understood that the railroad company will not discontinue the trains as they have reached the conclusion that a large preponderance of sentiment in this state and on the peninsula is in favor of trains being continued.

After the petitions have been presented and the request to withdraw Sunday trains is refused it is expected that the ministers will seek to invoke the law to stop the trains. It is not thought that the trains will be stopped however. Many are wondering why an effort is being made to stop Sunday trains when all kinds of amusements are allowed to go on in and about Wilmington without a word of protest. There is a feeling, however, that the entire Sunday violation agitation will soon be dropped.

PACKERS ARE HOPEFUL.

Disappointed in spring crops on account of late frosts and the long drouth, the Baltimore packing establishments, which compose one of the leading industries of the city, are pinning all their hopes of a successful season on the prospects of good tomato and peach crops this summer.

If the present promising indications pan out, it will mean thousand of dollars in the pockets of the farmers of the State and many dollars for the local packers and their force of workers. There will be prosperity in the thousands of Baltimore homes where part of the support comes from money earned in the packing houses.

At present there are about 10,000 men, women and children working in the canning factories, and if the peach and tomato crops measure up to the predictions the growers are making, the force will be doubled or run up to 15,000 at least. Then there will be a rush for the canmakers, label-makers and boxmakers and the wharves will swarm with scores of workmen unloading the vessels from the counties.

For the consumer it will mean that prices for canned goods next winter will be cheaper. The packers will gobble up so much of the output that prices for the fresh goods are not likely to drop much below the usual price.

Tomatoes will be late, but if the weather remains normal the farmers hope to gather a full crop before the frost comes to blight them.

It happens that tomatoes and peaches come about the same time. During August, September and part of October, if the warm weather remains, the local packing houses will get a-going full blast.

For two or three years there have not been considerable peach crops. The demand will be so great this summer that the prices, it is thought, will not drop low, and for the fruit growers there will be an opportunity to make up in a measure for the losses of previous years.

While peas, berries, cherries and other spring fruits and vegetables have been scarce, there have been large supplies of pineapples. The pineapples from Havana and the Bahamas, in spite of their abundance, are commanding big prices on account of the scarcity of other fruit. Pineapples belong to the class of fruits that require much labor. The canneries are trying to keep their forces going steadily, because labor is so scarce that the workers will accept only what promises to be steady work through to the autumn.

The complete failure of the pea crop caused considerable loss to many farmers and packers. There were less peas this June than in 25 years.

Public Roads in Maryland—The United States Department of Agriculture has just issued a bulletin on the public roads of Maryland, the information contained in which, it is stated, was not only that furnished by the Maryland Geological Survey, but also was sent in by voluntary county correspondents appointed by the Department. In part the bulletin says: "In 1904 there were 16,773 miles of public road in the State of Maryland, of which 497 miles were turnpikes or toll roads. Of this mileage 480 miles were surfaced with gravel, 480 miles with stone and 250 miles with shells, making in all 1,570 miles of improved road. It will be seen from these figures that a little over 8 per cent. of the roads has been improved. By comparing the total road mileage with the area of the State, it appears that there were 1.7 miles of road per square mile of area. A comparison of mileage population shows that there was one mile of road to every 70 inhabitants, or one mile of improved road to every 756 inhabitants. The total amount expended by the counties for road purposes was $733,470.50 in 1904. To this should be added $140,000, the average annual amount paid in tolls to turnpike companies, as estimated for the years 1895, 1897 by the highway division of the Maryland Geological Survey. The total cost of all roads for the year 1904, including this sum, amounted to $873,470.50. By comparing the total amount expended with the total mileage of public road and with the population of the State, it is found that the funds collected and expended for road purposes amounted to $52.07 per mile of public road, or 74 cents per inhabitant.
