ROCK HALL ITEMS

Mr. J. A. Casey, our baker, is now as happy as a "sun flower" for the reason that he is in a position to serve his patrons and the public with promptness with everything in his line. Mr. Pall his late baker, who has been in the bakery business at Oakland, came to the conclusion that Rock Hall was a town of no mean importance to a man of his calibre and returned here two weeks ago and re-engaged his service to Mr. Casey. Mr. Pall while away did not forget the M. E. board of Stewards of which Miss Nellie Casey is financial secretery, he collected $5.00 and forwarded the same for use of Rev. Burr. Mr. Pall holds affiliation with no church but he believes in doing good as opportunity offers.

The M.E. Sunday school is planning a big Rally Day service to be held on the 23rd or 30th of this month.

A body of teachers are canvassing the neighborhood with a view of recruiting all the non Sunday school attending children and adults for membership. Say boys and girls lets make the occasion a genuine rally, a real reorganization, stearing clear of fads, or spasmoticism.

Messrs. Joiner brothers have purchased the Warren house and successfully moved the same from Alexander's corner to Green Lane.

Mr. Edward Proctor who left here with a dredging company last fall has been spending a visit with his daughter and friends. Ned looks well and has been well pleased with his position and intends to stay with the company as long as possible.

Mrs. A. Alexander has just returned from a fall millinery inspection tour in Philadelphia, New York and other cities and in a few days her display of feminine fancies will make glad the hearts of the fair sex. Pater familias? Oh, he will shingle out the cash.

Messrs. Editors you made a big hit in publishing with last weeks NEWS such a magnificient supplement. The staid old NEWS is becoming more and more like the city dailies.

Hook and line fishing is the most profitable occupation with our watermen, fish are in abundance, no trouble for two in a boat to catch 40 or 50 bunches per day.

The fine weather of the past two weeks has enabled our farmers to forge right ahead with their farming operations. Some are done cutting off corn and land ready for seeding wheat.

Oystermen are in the dumps, no sale for oysters, too hot to catch them for bedding, crab depredations on the bedding grounds are fearful and the prospect for the remainder of the month is gloomy. Oysters are very small which makes it difficult to comply with the cull law.

The public school opened on Monday with a full corps of teachers and a large number of scholars. The Professor looked rather jaded at the close of school in the afternoon while the assistants had all the appearance of bouyancy. Professor says he will get used to it in a few days and be as young as any of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Larrimore, of Sparrows Point, are taking a short vacation at the home of Mrs. L's parents, Capt. and Mrs. G. T. Sewell.

Quite a number of our citizens visited the city this week to witness the Jubilee exercises. Comments are pro and con concerning the affair.

Capt. J. C Ashley, made another raid on the tongers on Wednesday and ran in about 20 for unlawfully culled oysters.

Miss Susie E. Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Casey returned home last week after spending a few days at Niagara.

Miss Sadie Ehlers, Mr. Will Pinkerton and Mr. Harry Siegle have been visiting Miss Susie E. Casey, of Rock Hall.

Mrs. A. Alexandria, of Rock Hall, has returned home after a visit of ten days with friends and relatives in New York and Long Branch.

CLIFF LOCALS.

The oyster season opened bad for the tongers, the bars are well covered with oysters but they are so small that there is no sale for them and the men are putting them out on shore in hopes of a demand when weather gets colder. The traders seriously object to them as it takes so long to open a gallon. The oystermen joke each other on the size. One will say, "Whats all that crying I hear", another will answer, "the little baby oysters in Jake's boat crying for their mother." If the oysters are allowed to remain on the bars another year there will be a plenty and more, but the indications are that all, immaterial of size will be sold and next year left to take care of itself.

The oysters at and below Piney point are in poor condition with no sale and chances are they will get a little more growth. Several of the tongers go on the hunt for large oysters but get very discouraged as they seldom get three bushels to the boat while on the hills some boats have taken thirty bushels to the boat. There have been no inspectors and probably will not be till there is nothing to inspect.

The Sun and other papers were written to before the season opened asking them to advocate the early appointment of inspectors, so as to be on hand when the season opened but they said not a word, and the tongers believe that they the city people interested want the bars so depleted that the next legislature will give planters a wider range than the barren bottoms. They can soon have depleted natural bars if that is their intention.

The results of the fruit crop has been a serious disapointment to most of the growers, fully one half rotted and the other half shipped before ripe making low and unsatisfactory prices.

The farmers complain about the high price of labor the men wanting $1 50 per day for pulling blades and cutting off corn. Now as a general thing these men work hard from sun up to sun down and if a little piece of a field is left will finish it for $1 50, and they work with a steady stroke to keep up with the forman in the city. The laborers get $1.75 for eight or nine hours presence and doing same work, therefore the farmer gets his labor cheaper. That this price is hard on the tenant there is no doubt but it was equally hard on the laborer the hot long days of May, June and July at 60 cents per day. The corn and grain harvests are the only chance of the country laborer to get a raise of some cash.

Mr. John D. Carter being out of business has taken in the greater part of the Jubilee week in Baltimore and probably participate in the Fireman's parade with the old Volunteer Fire Association from Philadelphia, of which he is a member. Prof. Stratton also took a day or two off.

Quite a number are hook and line fishing for market and are doing better than the tongers. They catch from three to fifteen bunches a day and fine fish at that.
