Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

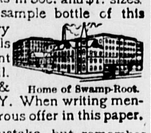

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, and the address, Binghampton, N. Y. on every bottle.

ARE WE IN IT?

Well, we guess, "yes!"

ADDRESS OF WELCOME

Delivered by Wm. F. Russell Before the Teachers' Institute for Kent County, September 24th, 1906.

The mind enriched with useful learning elevates man. Character and knowledge dignify and immortalize him.

When asked a few days ago by your affable and competent Superintendent to be with you this morning—conscious then, as I am now, of a debt of gratitude that I owe to our public school system, and at the same time recollecting much wholesome instruction, direction and guidance that was freely given to me by good and kind teachers in the old school house and in days that have passed—I could not find it in my heart to refuse to act in accordance with his polite invitation; and while I am constantly a very busy man, nevertheless, I am almost glad that he asked me. I thank him for the honor and beg to assure you that I am pleased to be here.

This is a great Republic in which we live, the state of Maryland is a fine old state and Kent county a grand old county, because this to us is home.

I believe in free education. I believe in our public school system, and am always ready and willing to defend and maintain it to the best of my ability. I believe in liberal appropriations for educational purposes.

I believe that it pays a county, that it pays a state and that it pays a nation to educate her sons and to educate her daughters, the men and women of tomorrow, into whose hands we are to hand down this beautiful land of the free, this matchless home of the brave, as our fathers and our mothers, God bless them! have handed it down to us.

"What constitutes a State?
Not high-raised battlements or labored mound,
Thick wall or moated gate;
Not cities proud with spires and turrets crowned,
Nor bays and broad armed ports,
Where, laughing at the storm, rich navies ride,
No! men, high-minded men,
Men who their duties know,
But know their rights; and knowing dare maintain,
Prevent the long-aimed blow,
And crush the tyrant, while they rend the chain.—
These constitute a State."

The true American home with its Confidence and its love, the true American pulpit with its honor and its glory, the true American school house with its character and its learning are three great, three noble and three mighty forces that are daily at work and constantly accomplishing much good.

You therefore, kind teachers, are helping to make the County, you are helping to build the State, you are helping to form the Nation.

We consequently have no murderous epithets to hurl at you this morning; it is not our intention even to try to open the flood-gates of vituperation or to make any special criticisms whatever. We do not believe you deserve them.

We do believe, however, that our state school officials and our county school officials have a right to expect and to demand at your hands good, competent and faithful service. You on the other hand, have a right to expect kind and courteous treatment and to demand a good and sufficient compensation, a remuneration commensurate with your ability and with the service you perform. Dollars and cents, however, can never in themselves and alone adequately compensate you for the work you are doing. Your true reward is to be found in the esteem of your friends in the affections of the many boys and girls that daily crowd your class rooms, in the praises of your own blameless hearts, and better still when you have put aside your books and closed your school-house doors and retired to the bosom of your constituents to receive that most cheering and gratifying of all human rewards, their cordial greeting of "well done, good and faithful servants."

Yes, we are quite aware that you have your responsibilites, your difficulties, your disappointments and your sorrows.

Into each life some rain must fall, and yet there is sunshine in your work.

Do not the little tots with their slates and with their pencils, the little tots with their smiles of innocence and joy make you see the sunshine?

"Have you tasted of the sweetness
Of their little dewey lips
Would you change it for the nectar
We are told the fairy sips?"

Do not the boys with their dirty faces, the boys with their muddy shoes, the boys with their fun—the girls with their neatness, the girls with their sweetness the girls with their beauty, again and again make you see the sunshine?

Does not your father with his sacrifice, your mother with her love, your sister with her kindness, your brother with his devotion and your friends with their faithfulness make you agree and say that life is sweet?

Does not your industry with its accomplishment, your advice with its appreciation, your heart with its impulses, your mind with its knowledge, your will with its freedom and your soul with its longing make you realize that there is at least some joy in your profession?

It is in view of these thoughts and in view of these things, that it is to us a supreme pleasure to stand here and bid you welcome. We welcome you individually and we welcome you collectively. We welcome you without exception and we welcome you without reserve.

We welcome you to our lovely town
Where the old majestic Chester rolls
And fishermen on their journey down
Watch the tide that ebbs and flows.

We welcome you to our streets and to our modest little parks. We welcome you to our stores, to our offices and shops. We welcome you to our churches and we welcome you to our homes.

For you there is no bolt and no bar;
Our gates are open and our doors ajar.

We welcome you for the worthiness of your calling and the manner in which we firmly believe you are discharging the duties of that calling; and just here we wish to emphasize the thought that the world as a rule gives its admiration not to the man or to the woman who does something that no one else ever attempts to do, but to the man and to the woman who does best that which others merely do well, or perhaps that which others carelessly and indifferently do.

We welcome you on account of the important relation you bear to the public welfare, and on account of the important part you play in our modern civilization.

We welcome you because you are an earnest and an intelligent body of workers and because we consider you our friends.

This is the simple little greeting we bring It is Chestertown's welcome. Hospitality is Queen, and the scales of Justice are to be held in upright and even hands.

It is our wish that your deliberations may be seen blushing in the bright diversities of success, amusement and thought; and we cherish the hope that this coming together, this friendly association and this Institute may be a means of good to the minds and hearts of all.

Then as time rolls on and change takes place, and the close of your pilgrimage is in view, may you be permitted to look back upon these scenes and upon the days you have spent in our school houses with unmeasured satisfaction and with much delight.

In loving but sad remembrance of Mr Samuel Walker who departed this life six months ago today.

He has gone into that happy land
Where all sweet flowers bloom
And there with other flowers stand
That faded just as soon.

WIFE.

Like a star that is lost when the daylight is given,
He faded away to shine bright in heaven,
Oh blessed sleep that will not break
For tears nor prayers nor love's sweet sake!

Oh, perfect rest that knows no pain,
No throb, no thrill of heart or brain.
Oh, life sublime beyond all speech
That only the pure through dying reach.

DAUGHTER.

The Dodging Period

of a woman's life is the name often given to "change of life." Your menses come at long intervals, and grow scantier until they stop. The change lasts three or four years, and causes much pain and suffering, which can, however, be cured, by taking

WINE OF CARDUI

Woman's Refuge in Distress

It quickly relieves the pain, nervousness, irritability, miserableness, fainting, dizziness, hot and cold flashes, weakness, tired feeling, etc. Cardui will bring you safely through this "dodging period," and build up your strength for the rest of your life. Try it.

You can get it at all druggists in $1.00 bottles.

"EVERYTHING BUT DEATH

I suffered," writes Virginia Robson, of Easton, Md., "until I took Cardui, which cured me so quickly it surprised my doctor, who didn't know I was taking it."
