ROCK HALL ITEMS

Mrs. Mayme Satterfield and sister, Miss Dorothy Kenney have returned home from a pleasant visit to relatives in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Satterfield spent Sunday with their son in Chestertown.

Three ministers brimming full of spiritual enthusiasm occupied the M. E. Pulpit on Sunday morning and gave the large audience a rare treat. They were the Revs. Warren Burr, the home pastor, W. T. Hammond, of Wilmington, and W. V. Harris, of Piney Neck. Mr. Hammond did the preaching on the subject "The Words and Works of Jesus," using as his text, "And ye are Witnesses of these things", Lu.,24 ; 48. The sermon was soul-stirring from beginning to finish, the congregation was spell-bound and handkerchiefs were in constant use in brushing aside the flowing tears. The sermon and its effect have been the talk of the week among church goers. Some of the business men of the town declare that the discourse was the very thing they needed as they realized its uplifting influence. The singing was also an enjoyable feature, the songs and tunes being familiar, everybody could heartily join in. Appropos to the storm of Saturday evening Rev. Mr. Burr on Sunday evening preached an instructive sermon on "The Storm of Galilee" to a large and appreciative audience.

The terific wind knocked out the arrangements of the Methodists bazar and supper. The affair had to be concluded on Monday evening.

Hon. T. A. Smith's speech on the Pure Food Bill is having much circulation in these parts during the past ten days.

A former resident of this place but for a year or so past residing in a northern state, has written to one of our prominent citizens for the sum of $20 to enable him to move back here. Will the $20 bill be forwarded ? Nit.

The Odd Fellows are anticipating a big time this evening at their festival and supper.

Sportsmen these windy days are rapidly thining out the feathery tribe of flickers.

Up to this writing there is no slacking up of the steam boat hawsers. Some think it a double concocted scheme for thelpurpose of further imposing on the traveling public and shippers.

A terriffic north-west wind swooped down on us Saturday evening causing consternation among watermen, a number of whom were homeward bound from the fishing grounds. Capts. John Dowling and John Hickey reached harbor in the midst of the blow but the latter vessel was immediately blown ashore. She was floated on Tuesday Capt. B. F. Sewells yessell was blown high upon the flats in Huntingfield harbor, she was also floated on Tuesday. Capt. G. T. Sewell was caught between this place and Love Point and was compelled to let his vessell drive before the wind under bear poles. He succeeded in reaching Hail creek where he anchored and rode out the storm. He lost his pursing boats and nets on Monday. With the assistance of Thomas Colyer and a crew of men the boats and nets were found, one of the boats with the nets was picked up by the Cable Tug and towed to Sandy Point where Capt. Sewell recovered them, the other boat was found ashore in Queenstown Creek minus some of her tackling. Capt. Sewell and crew consider themselves exceedingly lucky in weathering the storm as they did, with all the hard ships they endured. It was only by sheer cool headedness and good management that the vessel was not blown on Wickes' Beach and totally wrecked with the probable drowning of the crew. Many small boats are strewn along the shores. Two gasoline boats were blown across the bay from Patapsco river. One containing a man and a lady was picked up in a disabled condition off here on Sunday morning by S. B. Colyer, J. C. Ryan and Richard Colyer who escorted them into Rock Hall where they were cared for. They were in a sorry plight from their terrible experience through the storm. The other boat was found off Huntingfield Point with one man aboard who stated that the little craft was blown from her moorings in Spring garden, his brother was aboard with him when the vessel broke loose. They also had a smaller boat in tow which broke away a number of times before reaching the bay and finally the brothers became separated, the power boat being disabled went helplesly before the gale. The Captain could not tell whether his brother was picked up by the crew of a nearby schooner or was lost. A number of vessels were capsized in the Patapsco and Capt. Frank Latterfield was rendering assistance to one in trying to upright her after the storm had spent itself. The storm played havoc with keiffer pears and apples among our fruit growers.

The venerable old couple, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crouch, who have been sick for a long time, are able to be about again.

Mrs. J. J. Crouch and Mrs. Fannie Hodges, who have been sick, are well again.

CAMP 34 RECEPTION.

The P. O. S. of A., of Chestertown, have been enthusiastically strung up for two weeks past in their preparation to tender the State officers a cordial as well as patriotic reception Tuesday evening, Oct. 9. The visiting brothers were Past President, Rev. C. E. Redeker; President A. B. Candler and State Master of Forms Mr. M. H. Taylor, Bro. Townshend, the State Vice-President, being a resident of our town.

After a short session of the Camp in the hall, these visiting officers knocked at her doors and were duly and cordially admitted as per the regulation order, and seated upon the platform on either side of the president of the camp. Soon the camp closed its business session and these gentlemen responded (for a few moments each) in special pleasantry and kindly suggestions for the good of the order.

After adjournment a few minutes were spent in hand-shaking and hearty greetings. At 8:30 all repaired to the popular dining saloon of the Loud House and indulged in ice-cream and cake. The genial faces and pleasant witticisms during this feature of the reception will last a long time within the minds of those present. At the close of this part of the program all were invited to the spacious parlor of the hostelry, and the president of the camp introduced Prof. Smythe, the vice-president, to make the reception address. Prof. Smythe's remarks were characteristic of him and enthusiastically received. During the speech making Dr. Candler, the State President, acquitted himself in a plainly genuine matter-of-fact presentation of the needs of the day, and coupling with it his kindly face and unquestioned sincerity, his audience was particularly pleased, and doubtless the suggestive incentives will greatly aid the camp. State Master of Forms Marion H. Taylor responded to his call in his humorous manner, and many broad smiles was the result of Mr. Taylor's witticisms, and he, too, was appreciated and generously applauded. When the Past President, Rev. C. E. Redeker, arose he was applauded for that alone, as he is well and favorably known by most of the members of the camp. Bro. Redeker is a recognized orator. His physique and masterful eloquence and his masterly handling of questions of interest at once challenges attention. From the standpoint of patriotism the Past President waxed eloquent, and at its close was compelled to receive the grasping hand of many in their congratulations.

The hostelry of the Loud House have the thanks of the camp for the special conduct of their part of the reception.

DEWEY PARK will be the scene of another tournament, dance and oyster supper on Saturday, October 27th. Only non-professionals can enter and 15 boys are now working hard to win the prize.

SASSAFRAS ITEMS.

Revival services opened here in the Rehoboth M. P. Church on Sabbath evening and will be held every evening this week and continue while there is any interest in these meetings. All are cordially invited to come and assist.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tarbutton have been entertaining his neice, Miss M. Atkinson, of near Millington, for the past fortnight.

Mr. Louis Dreka visited Philadelphia on Saturday and attended the baseball game and says in the vicinity of the explosion on Market street the scene was something appalling.

Dr. I. E. Jeter, of Millington, visited Sassafras friends on Thursday last.

Mrs. M. Sutton has returned to her Baltimore home after visiting Mrs. Therza Shallcross for two months.

Mr. T. Othoson and two nieces, Misses Mary and Alice Walters, are entertaing Philadelphia relatives at their beautiful home near Sassafras.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ernest entertained her sister, Miss Bessie Gunkie, of Warwick on Wednesday.

Mrs. Louis Dreka and daughter, Miss Alice, visited their cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Clark, of Middletown, on Tuesday.

The books are now open for riders at the tournament that is to be held for amateurs alone at Dewey Park on Oct. 27th. This is to be the tournament of the season.

Judging from the many tons of phosphate that have been delivered and hauled at "Foxhole" off of Capt. James E. Woodall & Son's boats. "Foxhole" has been a very busy place for the past month and the acreage planted in wheat this fall will be very large, as a great many tons of this fertilizer has passed through Sassafras enroute to the farms near here.

Mrs. W. S. Morris and daughters, Misses Linetta, Louisa and Myrtle, left two weeks ago to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Capels, at Cockeysville, Md.

Mr. James Woodward left for home, Camden, N. J., on Thursday after a visit to his nephew, Mr. Jacob T. Shallcross for the past six weeks.

Vessel Abandoned.—The schooner Wm. McKenney, at one time one of the finest and fastest vessels of her class that entered the port of Baltimore, has been adandoned. The vessel was built in 1876 for Capt. M. M. Larrimore, of Centreville Landing, and was later purchased by Capt. Daniel Friel, of Queenstown, who used her for carrying grain.

James Ireland Fowler, the 14 months old son of Charles and Florence Fowler, died on Wednesday night at the home of its grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Copper, in Chestertown. The little fellow had been sick only a few days with membraneous croup. The funeral took place Friday. J. E. Ferguson, undertaker.
