Will of the Late Andrew W. Woodall.—The will of the late Andrew W. Woodall, of Georgetown, was recorded in the Register of Wills office on Tuesday. It is short, concise and to the point. It leaves everything to his wife, Alice I. Woodall, to manage, dispose of and bequeath as she sees proper. Mrs. Woodall is made executrix. The will was made September 30, 1909, and witnessed by J. Thos. Pennington and Jesse E. Ireland. Letters testamentary were granted to Mrs. Alice I. Woodall upon the estate on Tuesday, and Messrs. R. C. Morgan and A. Tindell Beaston were appointed appraisers.

MORE MISREPRESENTATION!

The Barroll organ last week in order to discredit the economy practiced on the Kent roads made a comparison with the same system in Queen Anne's which was a WILFUL MISREPRESENTATION! It is stated that the engineer there had spent but $18,000 when it was really $29,000! In addition to the $18,000 spent for labor and material the county was bonded for $11,000 additional for buying mules and wagons, making the total expenditure on roads $29,000!

Why not give the truth, whole truth and nothing but the truth and help support this economical measure rather than by misrepresentation and otherwise try to hinder its usefulness and success.
