Do You Feel This Way?

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your lazy liver to work. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. It will purify your blood. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about a cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good." Dr. Pierce's medicines are OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Their every ingredient printed on their wrappers. Made from roots without alcohol. Contain no habit-forming drugs. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

WHERE IS MY WANDERING BOY TONIGHT

Old Mother Writes Touching Letter And Is Published To Do Other Boys Good.

George Davis, a homeless boy aged 15 years employed at the bowling alleys of J. C. Hemmons, was arrested for stealing money from his employer. A letter from the boy's mother was produced at the trial. She advised him to be good, go to church, say his prayers, and not steal. Young Davis laughed when he was told of these words from his old mother. He was committed to jail to await further developments.

The following letter, in response to a letter to the boy's mother from the local justice, was received. It contains so much thought (useful for other boys who have a wayward disposition and a desire to do wrong) that we give it space:

"I received your letter this evening when I came home after working hard all day. I am a widow with George and Harry, aged eleven years and George 15 in January. George has a good home, plenty to eat and wear. I have worked for them and tried to do my best for nearly six years, but George would not listen to me, and he ran away frome home with other bad boys, thinking he could do as he pleased, but he finds out what I used to tell him, that no matter what wrong he would do, he would be found out. I always taught him to be honest, and then if he was that, he would be everything else. When he was at home he would not eat unless he thanked the Lord for what he had, let it be little or much, and went to Sunday School and Church. I refer you to Mr. and Mrs. Baulick as they live near me. My gate runs into theirs. They can tell you how I get along and raise my children right. Mr. Wilkinson, if I send for George to come home he will think I want him to do such things and may try it over. As you say you have a boy of your own. I leave George in your hands. You do what you would do if you were in my place. Maybe a short sentence somewhere will help him and I hope you will never have such worry from your boy. But whatever you do, please let me hear once in a while from him, as you know after all there is no love like a mother's love. I myself have neither mother or father to go to in my trouble, so I have to face this cold, unfriendly world. I love George and would be one of the happiest women in the world if George would only be a good boy. I would rather have it than riches tonight, and him still a bad boy. I send my love to him and tell him his little brother says be a good boy. I would not tell him about George for nothing. Tell him no matter where he is sent, he can still say his prayers and thank the Lord for what he has to eat. He has enough clothes, nice shirts and collars and plenty of other clothes if he would only be good. I never forget to pray for him and I am sure some day my prayers will be answered. If I do not live to see it, others will. My health is not very good. With it all I try to keep a home for my children. I thank you many times for letting me know about George and I will leave him with Lord and you, knowing that you will do what you think is best and learn him a lesson.

Thanking you again,
I am, respectfull,
MRS. LILLIE DAVIS.
2705 Hampden Ave., Baltimore.

PARENTS HELP THE TEACHERS.

Here is a good thing we gather by the wayside: Have you a boy or girl in school? If you have, help them to understand they must obey the rules of the school. Every one knows that the work of the average teacher is hard enough without having a lot of balky pupils to discourage discipline and block the progress of education. The worst thing that can happen to a school is to have within it a few pupils who are against all the rules of the system and whose balkiness is backed up and encouraged by misguided parents. No teacher under the sun will willingly abuse or discriminate against your boy or girl. There is no reason why any teacher should care to make his own work harder and the government of the school more difficult by such process If ever your boy or girl comes home with a tale of woe, investigate it thoroughly before concluding the public school system has been turned into a mere instrument for the prosecution of your child. The chances are 100 to 1 that your angel hasn't had enough of the stern end of the discipline. Of course it's human nature to 'jump into' the teacher. It may start a row that will disrupt the entire school and make civil war in the district. This is nothing so that your precious angel is allowed to defy authority and a horrid teacher is taught where to get off."

TOOTED ITSELF TO DEATH.

Somebody tells of one of the strangest accidents in the records of railroading which happened some time ago at Bullard, Cal., when a locomotive on the Southern Pacific tooted itself out of steam because of the inability of the engineer to stop the whistle.

"In some manner the lever that operates the whistle got out of order and could not be controlled, nor could any repairs be made. The locomotive was hauling a long freight train. Suddenly the whistle began to shriek, and nothing that the engineer could do would stop it. The whistle kept at it until the steam became so low that a new engine had to be brought from Fresno to take its place. Then they towed the still-tooting engine to the repair shops."

Tooted itself to death! There's a text for you. This may be the only case of the kind in railroad history but it can pe paralelled many times in political and in church history. Who does not know of men who have tooted themselves to death "blowing their own horn?" Tooting, tooting, and nothing could stop them. Fit only to be towed into the repair shop, and fit only for scrap iron after they got there.

O, how many men and women are on the wide stage of life today—babbling, talking vociferating, screaming, tooting—their whole life a cream, a prolonged toot. And they want the whole stage—they want the right of way on the main track—they want the whole world to look and listen. Can't shut them off. Let them toot themselves to death.—The Evangelist.
