Sir — I was duly favoured with the your's of 1st Inst & note the contents — Mr R. Adams was right so far as that I had not a vessel on his arrivall but not in saying I refused to state charge of it as I repeatedly desired him to discharge it on the Quay wt he refused to do unless I wd advance Money on Acc of the Freight wt I was eventually obliged to do as he could not pay men to discharge it untill I advanced him 4/1/0 and on acct of an accident wt the Trial met with on her passage down wt detained her, I was obliged to take up a ~~large~~ two vessels for it & other Goods the Bill of lading you have now enclosed, the money I have advanced I have charged to you and you'll charge it to him

I am &c
your very obt
