R Macnamara Esqr Banbridge } I have your esteemed favour in reply to which there were 200 handbills carefully rolled up & directed to you at B Bridge care of Mr Grosier I delivered to Mr Gillete where Mr Mc Coys Coach goes ~~out~~ from on Friday evening when my Clerk pd the Carriage & saw them entered in the Book, on enquiry Gillete says he delivered the Mr Mc Coys hand & he supposes they will be found at Dobbins B Bridge if called for to my letter enclosed in the Pancel prefer you the remainder were pasted up in this Town & Lisburn by a person sent for that purpose —

I desire what you say of the Nacks if I am to act let me know as soon as you are determined that I may make any arrangements according to which if you employ a common illiterate person such as a Country Nacks in generale are to dispose of such a Property you may afterwards have cause to repent of your choice but of those matters you are as good a judge as I may reckon at presumtion in me to give an opinion —

I inquired at Capt Conway who carried your Box to London this answer was all goods not claimed at the Vessels discarge are sent to the Kings Ware House where no doubt it will be found Mr Gill by is the Agent for the Vessel & can probably assist in finding it out if you instruct your Brother to call on him — with respect to the Glass I sold the remainder to Mr Watson but has not yet got paid but expect to get it in a few days my own opinion is that there is not a demand here worth attending to — Yours E Binnie
