These eleven "most beautiful girls in the world," brought from New York to Hollywood, to appear in Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities," coming Thursday, June 20 and 21 to the New Lyceum Theatre are outstanding examples of what strict attention to the producer's commandments will pay in dividends of added charm and beauty. With them is Jack Oakie, one of the leads in "Murder at the Vanities."

Taken directly from life, and from hidden sources which were even denied the police in the solving of Broadway's greatest mystery, "Now I'll Tell," by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein, will be the screen attraction at the New Lyceum Theatre for Monday and Tuesday evening; revealing the romance and thrills which were behind the dramatic killing of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway's greatest gambler.

Spencer Tracy has the leading role in the film, and is ably supported by Helen Twelvetrees and Alice Faye. Taking the confessions of Mrs. Rothstein in her best-selling book and providing living actors to reenact the scenes, "Now I'll Tell" gives a vivid picture of what actually happened in this man's death.

The story is one that will hold your interest throughout, for, as always, truth is stranger than fiction. This film is one that you see, if you like entertainment with more than a dash of reality.

For Wednesday and Thursday "Murder at the Vanities" will be the featured attraction at the New Lyceum Theatre, bringing to the screen most of the stars who played in Earl Carroll's record-breaking show on Broadway and many more.

In the cast there is, first, earl Carroll's "Most Beautiful Girls In The World"—the ones he had in mind when he put that sign over the stage entrance of his theatre in New York, and said, "Through These Portals Pass the Most Beautiful Girls In the World." Then the cast includes Carl Brisson, Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle and Duke Ellington and his famous orchestra.

Carroll had a new idea and incorporated a mystery yarn with his famous spectacle of beautiful girls; and the result is "Murder at the Vanities," which has been received with greater applause than any of his previous shows. Mystery is mixed with beauty and music, and the result is suspenseful entertainment.

For Friday and Saturday a double feature program has been arranged by Roxy Russell, which bids fair to provide much pleasure for film fans. First, there will be Tim McCoy, the famous western star, in a story of the newspaper world called "Hold The Press;" and you can be assured that there'll be action with Tim heading the cast.

The other featured attraction for these evenings will be "Half A Sinner," with Joel McCrae and Sally Blane heading the cast. This is an interesting yarn of three men and a girl who, out of work, are drifting from town to town taking life, and everything, as they find it. The plot becomes involved when they settle in a town and find that they are sincerely loved and trusted by a widow and her son. From then on there's a struggle by the four tramps to save the woman's property from grafters. And the manner in which they perform the task makes splendid fun.

The Hotel Richardson at Dover, for many years the best known hostelry in Kent county was sold at sheriff's sale Tuesday afternoon. It had been seized as the property of M. C. Barnett, Inc., on claims by the Farmers Bank. The property was purchased for $20,000 by Jas. H. Hughes, attorney for the bank, who also bid in the furniture for $2,000.

HEALTHMOBILE TO VISIT KENT FROM JULY 2-11

CHILD DOCTOR IN CHARGE

From July 2 to July 11 the Healthmobile will be in Kent county. That announcement was made this morning by Dr. R. G. Beachley, Kent health officer, at whose invitation the visit to Kent will be made.

While the Healthmobile is in Kent, according to Dr. Beachley, mothers with babies or young children not yet in school, are invited to bring the children to the Healthmobile for an examination by the doctor sent with the machine by the Bureau of Child Hygiene. A special effort will be made to interest the mothers whose children are getting ready to enter school so that any condition that needs special care can be attended to during the summer.

Particular attention is paid in all of these examinations to the general health of the child, to weight and other signs of favorable or unfavorable development, to the condition of the skin, the teeth, nose, throat, the lungs and heart and to the vision and hearing. No medicines are prescribed and no treatments given. If care is needed, the mother is told to take the child to the family doctor.

Rich Neck Aid Entertained

The Aid Society of Union M. E. Church, Rich Neck, was delightfully entertained on Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker. The Holiday Calendars were distributed at this meeting. It was also decided to hold a Bake in Chestertown June 21st. After the business meeting adjourned a social hour was spent and refreshments served.

Marines Fight Unemployment

ENROLLMENT IN CORPS LEAPS RECENTLY

The marines are delivering body punches to the unemployment situation these days. After a long period, when but few applications were enlisted, the famous corps has started to accept 2,350 youths.

The provisions of a recent act of Congress increased the strength of the corps from 15,000 to 16,000. This will leave it still 1,500 below the strength of three years ago. The remainder will be required to fill the places left vacant by discharges and other causes.

With a view to obtaining the best men, orders from headquarters in Washington direct that only those men who have attended high school, or have an equivalent education, are to be enlisted. While it is desired to secure applicants at least 68 inches in height, recruiting officers are permitted to accept 50 per cent of their quotas between 66 and 68 inches. The minimum age is 18 years, but a few boys to learn the drum and trumpet are being accepted between 17 and 18 years. Parents' consent for those who have not reached their majority and character references are required. Enlistments are for four years.

Recruits are immediately sent to the marine barracks, Paris Island, S. C., upon enlistment, for training, after which they are transferred to posts where needed. Steady employment, travel, adventure, sports, free education, uniforms, and medical attention, are some of the features offered. The nearest recruiting station is located at Room 323, 325, Post Office Building, Baltimore, Maryland, and Room, 10, Old Land Office Building, Washington, D. C.

The Linirve Comedy Co., is showing on a large lot near the college and large audiences visit them each night. A charge of five cents for a seat is made. They have some amusing features with a hot stage band. Morty LeVine gave the folks a real treat in impersonating Jimmy Durante and in changing his program every night.

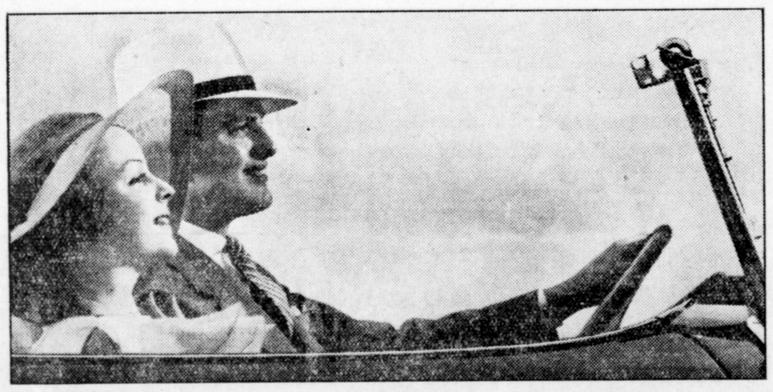
THE SMOOTHNESS OF EIGHT CYLINDERS
The economy of four



BY REDUCING four large, separated explosions into eight smaller, overlapping ones, the Ford V-8 engine develops amazing smoothness and quietness. 85 horsepower — and it uses even less gas than four cylinders.

This superlative smoothness means real economy in gas, lightning-like acceleration, better idling performance, no vibration at any speed.

Don't take our word for any of this. Take the car out on the road and drive it yourself. Feel it glide noiselessly to 40 in second gear.

Pick out a good road and watch the honest speedometer swing to 50, to 60, to 70, to 80 and the engine hold it without the slightest effort.

You'll find the New Ford V-8 the most completely satisfying car you ever have driven — regardless of price. Drive it yourself — and see!

Ford V-8

"By its sturdy dependability and economy — by its undeniable beauty — by its championship performance — the Ford V-8 has earned its place as the most popular car in America."
