TO THE LOSERS

As far back as the 1860's, after a bitter blood-spilling Civil War which tore the nation asunder and nearly burst an opening on this continent for England and France to gain another foothald, the American public realized that harmony among the several States of the Union was necessary for its preservation.

And, right here in Kent county, today, we are faced with a similar situation. A bitter primary fight has been staged within the Democratic party of Kent county. Many men today, following the final count and tallying of the votes of last Wednesday, are sorely disappointed also-rans. Many men are surprised that the Democratic voters refused to place them on the slate for the November election. Many men feel that because they were not among the chosen their friends, the party, turned its back upon them. And to these defeated candidates the world today has a slightly tarnished look about it, there's a dark-brown taste in their mouths, the rancor of the scorned seems. to them, to be upon them.

But, while all of this is evident, on the other side of the political fence the Republicans of Kent county are rejoicing that the Democratic primary was bitter; and they're hoping that the aftermath will remain with us. that the dark-brown flavor will continue and grow, until election times rolls around, in November. We liken them. the Republicans, to England and France during the Civil War which we mentioned above, who sat on the side lines cheering on the conflict, and even assisting at times to spread rancor and ill feeling among the belligerents. The Republicans of Kent are hoping that once again Kent County Democrats will forget the first principle of good sportsmanship—supporting the man who was good enough to defeat you The Republicans of Kent County are once again looking for the disgruntled and defeated candidates to "bolt" the Democratic ticket in November. The Republicans of Kent county are confident, just as England and France were confident, that Kent county Democrats will fail to bury their disappointments and ill-feeling and be good sports and DEMOCRATS in the November election.

If there is a great deal of satisfaction in "bolting" the party with which you are affiliated, and on whose primary ticket you had the pleasure of running, in order to strike revenge at the man or woman who polled more votes than you, then you are one who should never have the nerve or the effrontery to flaunt your name again on the ballot of the party which you undermined.

But, on the other hand. if you followed to the letter your pre-primary promise, of supporting the successful nominee, and worked earnestly for his election and the success of the Democratic ticket in November, you are a far better Democrat than you were when you sought the nomination and sang your praises to the voters. You are the sort of man or woman who make up successful political parties, the sort of man or woman who tries, fails, but can, with a clear conscience, bring his name again before his party and expect support.

This little lament is directed with good faith, and for the interests of Kent County Democracy in the November election, to the several candidates who went down to defeat on Wednesday. It is also directed to their friends and supporters. That these candidates who were defeated will prove themselves worthy of even allowing their names to grace the Democratic primary ballot, by falling in line behind their affiliated party for the November election. is our sincere wish. That those who do not, and we hope there won't be any, will be quickly and uncompromisingly dropped from any future consideration by the Kent County Democrats, is another of our sincere wishes.

In majority, Kent county is Democratic; and, in majority, Kent county should be governed. Those who flaunt this Democratic majority in a primary election, and then "bolt" to the Republican ticket when defeated, should never again be given the support of that majority. That Kent county will elect a full Democratic slate in November—from Sheriff to Governor—depends, in the main, upon these very men and women to whom this chatter is directed...The Losers In This Primary Election! If you are a Democrat, be a DEMOCRAT!

Is It An Asset Or A Liability?

With many people throughout Chestertown and Kent County under the impression that Washington College means little if anything to Kent County financially, these figures and facts, coming as they do at a time when this venerable institution is about to begin its 153rd year, will present a wholly different aspect in regard to whether Washington College is an asset of a liability.

The average expenditure of each student, per week, is five dollars. With an enrollment of 250 students, and figuring on a school year of thirty-six weeks, the total amount spent by students alone, for pleasure, clothes and incidentals, is $35,000 a year!

In addition to this staggering sum, the college itself operates on a yearly budget of $125,000. This amount includes teachers' salaries—the bulk of which is spent here; heat and light—for which all the coal comes from local dealers; groceries for the cafeteria—mostly bought in Kent; carpentry work, printing, household supplies for dormitories and salaries for the sizeable staff which is maintained at the college.

If the outlay of $160,000 per year means little to the businessmen of Chestertown and Kent County then this community of ours is far better off financially than even the most optimistic have supposed. Figure it out yourself — is Washington College an asset or a liability to Chestertown and Kent County?...Give it your support!

Privilege Loans Will Be Stopped

LAND BANK STATES 9 MONTHS LEFT

The attention of all farmers in this section of the State has been called by Thomas D. Bowers, secretary-treasurer of the Kent and Queen Anne's National Farm Loan Association, to a statement recently made public by Charles S. Jackson, president of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore.

According to Mr. Jackson's statement. farmers in the Baltimore land bank district have just nine months left in which to obtain special privilege loans from the bank. He said that all loans granted before May 12, 1935, are eligible to the deferred principal payment plan. whereby no land bank borrower need begin making payments on the principal of his loan until July 11, 1938, provided there is no default on any other condition or covenant of the mortgage. All land bank loans granted after May 12. 1935, will not carry the privilege of postponing the semi-annual principal payments. as they now do.

"In setting May 12, 1935, as the deadline for special privilege loans to farmers by the Baltimore land bank," Mr. Jackson said. "Congress undoubtedly believed that by this date there will be no urgent need for the deferrment of principal payments on loans of this nature closed thereafter. If the record of collections on due interest payments mean anything. the farmers in the Baltimore land bank district,(which includes Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia. West Virginia, District of Columbia and Puerto Rica) truly will not be in need of principal payment exemptions." Mr. Jackson said that according to recently compiled figures regarding interest payments on land bank commissioner loans. farmers of the Baltimore district lead the country in making such payments when due. Approximately 93 per cent of all interest payments due on land bank commissioner loans as of July 31st were paid on or before July 31st or the date of maturity. he said.

The interest charges on all loans granted after May 12, 1935, in all probability will be raised, Mr.Jackson said. At present they are 4½ per cent on all made through National Farm Loan Associations.

NEW FLOORS FOR OLD ONES
The other day I dressed off some floors that were put down in 1740. They were well preserved with paint and were tough pine, but came out beautifully, showing twelve-inch boards clean and white as the day they came from the sawyers, with numerous knots and the old hand-made nail heads two to a board in very joist, these did not help the sandpaper on the machine much but still the floors were sanded and in a reasonable time.
Your floors no doubt would sand up as well and once again be beautiful and smooth. Drop me a card and I will gladly see you about them.
