11 Carloads Of Steers Have Arrived In Kent From West

Farmers Here Will Get $41.75 Per Month For Use Of Pastures ---- Will Be Killed And Canned

There was an unusual sight at the the Chestertown depot Wednesday when there arrived 11 carloads of steers from the drought-stricken fields of Minnesota. These 455 steers, under the supervision of J. D. McVean and Dr. Turner, were loaded in trucks and transported to the following farmers: Charles Lindsay, Millington, 10; Charles Crowding, Worton, 20; E. Thomas Massey, Massey, 47; M. P. Edwards, Rock Hall, 15; John Harris, Worton, 20; William Maslin, Chestertoyn, 25; Joseph Magrogan, Lynch, 20; Chas. Hughlett, Chestertown, 40; Henry Brown, Chestertown, 15: Dorsey Hines, Chestertown, 25; Wm. Butler, Worton, 15; J. Horton Silcox, Worton, 10; N. B. Walters,Kennedyville, 20; E. P. Vansant, Chestertown, 50; John Biggers, Millington, 15; Anthony Richter, Millington, 60; Edward Wilkins, Chestertown, 25; Julian Jones, Chestertown, 25.

These cattle had been on the road since Thursday of last week. They had been unloaded, watered and fed several times. The farmers in the West had been paid $13 per head. Kent farmers will get $1.75 per head per month for use of pasture. If they are moved before the expiration of the two month period the owners of the pastures upon which they graze will be paid for the full two months.

A number of farmers were watching the unloading, and expressed surprise at the excellent condition they appeared to be in. Covetous eyes were made at them as they left the car for the truck. A term in Atlanta faced the man who either sold or gave away one of the animals.

One man said he visited one State where some of the cattle were being shipped from, and when a large herd of them were driven down to a river close by, the high watermark dropped three inches by the time the animals got through drinking.

Hundreds of thousands of these animals are being purchased by the Federal Government, to be fattened in the East and then slaughtered for fresh or canned beef. A local packing house has put in a bid for canning the beef when the animals are ready for slaughter, this firm claiming that work will be given to 250 if the contract is awarded.

The meat from these animals will be distributed among those in need during the winter, and will not have any direct effect upon the meat market.

Ritchie Is Unanimously Renominated By State Democrats In Baltimore

Widow Loses Her Season's Savings

Three Hundred Dollars Is Tossed Overboard In Error

The corn cannery at Kennedyville employs much of its help from Baltimore. This cannery run by Mitchell Bros., closed a successful season last week and the city help returned last Friday. Among the number was a widow whose first name was Annie and her 17-year-old grandson. This widow boarded the steamer at Tolchester on Friday morning carrying a box with her lunch and a large pocket book containing $200 of her savings and $100 belonging to two other workers. The money was all in bills. Annie and her grandson opened the box and enjoyed the lunch before reaching the city. Afterwards the widow placed the pocketbook in the lunch box unknown to the 17-year-old boy and left the package in his keeping while she went on an errand elsewhere. Upon her return she found the boy had cleaned up the "table" throwing over the box containing the money, and old papers! She looked into the water and could see some of the notes floating on the waves. Immediately the alarm was sounded and the captain asked to stop the boat, but it proved useless. Annie fainted and upon reaching the city was carried home sorrowing over her loss. Upon hearing of the accident Mr. Mitchell offered a reward of $50 for return of the money.

It is thought a purse will be raised to recompense the hard-working widow for her loss.

Wheelers To Produce A Play Here To Aid Kent Ambulance Fund

The Board of Control of the Chestertown Amgulance announce that preliminary arrangements have been made for the production of a big local show here on October 10, 11, 12, proceeds to go to the ambulance fund.

As most of our readers are aware, the ambulance has been out of service for some time, and funds are needed for some necessary repairs before it can again be put into service for Chestertown and vicinity, and the proceeds from the coming entertainment are to be used for that purpose. The benefit is to be sponsored by the Board of Control who will have the assistance of practically all of the local onganizations and churches in Chestertown in making the affair a success, and the support of Kent and vicinity is solicited in this worthy cause. The ambulance is a big and much needed asset to this community, and it is regretted that lack of funds to make needed repairs has forced its withdrawal from the service of the community.

Capt. Woodall Gets Steamer

"Smoky Joe" Replaced By Boat From New York

Famed "Smoky Joe," after three round trips a day between Love Point and Baltimore for the past five or six years. has left the friendly reaches of the Chesapeake, where she—or he—has figured in many hescues,for New York harbor; and, in exchange, the ferryboat Pittsburgh comes to the Chesapeake to take up Smoky Joe's duties.

In case you are not familiar with Smoky Joe, that is the nickname accorded Capt. Wash Woodall's double-end steamer, the Philadelphia, which has figured, with Capt. Wash, in many rescues on the bay. Last winter, when the bay ice pack tied up all shipping out of Baltimore, Smoky Joe continued to chug out of the harbor and across the bay three times daily—the only steamer to keep her schedule on the Chesapeake Bay.

But now Smoky Joe will ply an even shorter route, io and fro over the Hudson River from New York to New Jersey. Her successor is off that route, and was brought to Baltimore this week by Capt. Woodall. The Philadelphia is 206 feet long, is a single-ender with twin screws. The trip down from New York was made through inland channels for the most part, but a few miles of invigorating sea voyage were indulged in. Capt. Wash Woodall claims Chestertown as his home, and modestly admits that he knows pretty much what he's about on any portion of the Chesapeake.

Governor's Acceptance Speech Is Climax Of Largest Convention Ever Held

Air Of Harmony Throughout Party Encourageing Sign For November Election

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and his mates were renominated unanimously at the Democratic Convention in Baltimore Thursday. Senator Tydings presided and made a great speech.

Samuel A. Lewis, a Conley delegate from Frederick, after referring to the fine showing of the Doctor said that if he had his way personally, he would make the choice of Ritchie unanimous by the convention and was greeted with a burst of cheering and handclapping.

"I would rather see Ritchie Governor for the next four years," he said, "making it nineteen years in all, yes I'd rather see him Governor than look any Republican Governor in the face."

From that point on, and especially after Senator Ward rose to second the move that the indorsement be made unanimous, the convention assumed an air of harmony.

It went through the formal routine of adopting the resolutions necessary to conform with the legal requirements; it adopted the State platform, the principal item of which was a pledge of adherence to the emergency policies of the Roosevelt Administration; it elected a new chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, Joshua N. Warfield, of Howard county, and proceeded with the nomination of the rest of the party's State ticket.

The climax of the session, which was attended by a crowd which oldtimers said was larger than ever essembled for a Democratic State convention, was the acceptance speech of Governor Ritchie, in which he pledged himself to forget all about last week's primary and consider every loyal Democrat in good standing and entitled to the same consideration as those who backed his fifth-term ambitions.

"Today, with the primary over, I speak to the Democratic party reunited, and when the party is that way it cannot lose in this State.

"For the gentleman who opposed me and for those who supported him. as well as those who may have had some other preference, I have nothing but the kindliest feelings.

"I give my assurance that when reelected. I will be fair and square to all. I will regard all local Democrats as members in good standing of one great party, each one entitled to honest, fair treatment and a square deal."

All State and county nominees will be found elsewhere.

$16,500 Is Paid To Kent Farmers

One hundred and sixty-five checks totalling $16,500 are being distributed to the corn-hog growers of the county this week from the office of County Agent J. D. McVean. The remainder of the 211 checks to be distributed will reach here November 1 and February 1. The balance of wheat checks are expected every day.

COLLEGE ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

Mr. E. H. Brown, well-known Centreville attorney, will address the faculty and students at the college assembly on Thursday morning, Sept. 27th.

THE creation of an oyster-production credit association was welcomed by the Rock Hall Watermen's Protective Association and similar groups on the Eastern Shore. The new agency, designed to extend credit to oyster planters on the same basis crop-production loans are made to farmers, was seen as a great benefit to matermen.

Milk Dealers Face Query On Products From Out Of State

Word has gone forth from the office of W. K. Moffett, head of the Bureau of Milk Inspectors for the State of Pennsylvania and former President of Allied Dairy Farmers, that all dealers who serve the Philadelphia area must show cause, at a meeting to be held next Monday, why they must buy milk produce from without the State of Pennsylvania to serve this district.

If his inquisition of the milk dealers, which includes Suplee-Wills Jones, Abbott and others who purchase the greater portion of local dairy produce, is being held with a view to cutting down the consumption of out-of-state milk to aid Pennsylvania dairymen it will drastically affect the pocketbooks of the farmers of Kent county.

The information regarding the Monday meeting was received in Kent county by John Carvil Sutton, from the Inter-State Dairy Council. Mr. Sutton could find nothing further regarding it, other than the intention of Mr. Moffett to query all dealers regarding out-of-state milk purchases.

News--In--Brief

Local buyers have been paying from 22 to 38 cents for tomatoes this week. It has been one of the big weeks for shipments.

In another column will be found a change in the menu and price of Wesley Chapel supper from the adv. of last week. The date is Oct. 18th.

Max Sniderman, the locust post salesman, is building a modern bungalow near Rock Hall.

Prof. Louis Van Petten has accepted a position in C. A. Bacon's service department on Maple avenue. He is a trained mechanic.

Hook and line fishing in Chester River has been fine during the week. Trout and blue fish have made their appearance in the river in large schools. City Councilman R. Hynson Rogers and a party went to Clements' bar Tuesday morning, and after a few hours fishing they returned with eight trout, a dozen or more hardheads, and a number of large white perch.

John Charles Thomas, well-known singer, and a recent guest in Chestertown, has kindly consented to give a concert in Easton Sunday afternoon, October 7th, for benefit of The Children's Aid Society.

The tickets are now on sale $5.00 for special seats, $2.00 for the remainder of the lower floor, $1.50 for the gallery. Those wishing to order seats can apply to Mrs. Bexley, secretary, at the Peerless Fertilizer Company's offices.

The seats are going well and those wishing to attend should apply soon.

Wm. Oliver Baker, son of Mr and Mrs. H. M. Baker,Quaker Neck, has been awarded one of the senior scholarships at Washington College this year. The scholarships are worth $125 each. The second scholarship went to Miss Ella Barkley, of Cambridge. The scholarships are awarded each year by faculty vote to the leading man and woman student in the senior class.

Herbert R. O'Conor, candidate for Attorney General on the Democratic ticket, will be one of the speakers at the tournament to be held Saturday, Sept. 29th, on Julian Jones' field near Chestertown.
