LOCAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET

In previous issues of the NEWS we have called attention to the array of sterling Democrats on the State ticket including the unopposed candidates for Judges and State's Attorney.

The local candidates named in a hard-fought primary comprises an equally strong list of Democrats, everyone of whom have a right to claim your support. Here they are:

Arthur H. Brice, of Betterton, candidate for Senator is a farmer. He is a graduate of Washington College, and a life-long Democrat. He has served as President of the Board of County Commissioners which particularly acquaints him with the needs and problems of the county. He has served two terms in the Maryland Legislature thru which he has gained an unusual knowledge of the Legislative routine and particularly fits him to ably represent Kent county in the Maryland Senate. His reputation and life in this community is beyond reproach.

Roy Strong, of Gratitude, is a candidate for the Maryland House of Delegates. Mr. Strong is a farmer with an unusual knowledge of the problems of the watermen. He is a man fully qualified to represent Kent county in the Legislature.

Wilbur Ross Hubbard, of Chestertown, is a candidate for the Maryland House of Delegates. He is a lawyer, a graduate of Yale and Georgetown Universities. Aside from his legal practice he has managed a number of farms in this locality during which time he has taken an active interest in various farm organizations and has been an active worker for those things which have greatly benefitted agriculture in Kent county.

The candidate for Clerk of the Court, Robert A. Shallcross, is widely known in Kent and always shows his strength in the big vote polled. He is especially strong among the watermen and has befriended them on many occasions. He has served in the Maryland Legislature and two terms as Clerk. He is a man of high character and interested in all civic improvements.

For Register of Wills the Democrats have named Ringgold Jones, of the Rock Hall district. He is always on the firing line for his party and loves to serve his friends This is one time when the people of Kent can show their appreciation. He is energetic, courteous and capable and will help to lessen the difficulties for many a bereaved person in settling up estates of loved ones. "Ring" is a great friend to the watermen and will have their hearty support.

Samuel C. Loller, of Worton, is a candidate for County Commissioner. Mr. Loller is one of Kent county's intelligent farmers. He is a member of the Board of County Commissioners and with Mr. Wilson and Charles D. Wood has successfully managed the affairs of the county for the past four years and through economical administration has brought about a substantial reduction in the county tax rate.

Ellsworth C. Leary, of Rock Hall. candidate for County Commissioner, is a man of ability and has interested himself in all civic enterprises that have benefitted his community in which he lives. He is serving his second term as Mayor of Rock Hall. He is president of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce and President of the Maryland Watermen's Protective Association. Mr. Leary will make an able commissioner.

Andrew W. Wilson, of Georgetown, is the third candidate for County Commissioner. Mr. Wilson is a farmer and manages a number of farms in his locality. He is a waterman and has taken the lead in working toward their interests His business ability fits him for the office which he seeks.

Walter T. Morris, Jr., of near Chestertown, is the candidate for Treasurer. He is a farmer, a graduate of Washington College,a leader in local farm organizations and one of the pioneers in 4-H Club work in the county. He has offered his services in the Maryland National Guard and risen to the rank of Supply Sargeant. He is a young man who enjoys an enviable reputation in the county and is fully capable of the trust of the office which he seeks. He is a representative of the young voters being 28 years of age.

Dr. E. A. Scott, of Galena, is a candidate for Judge of the Orphans' Court. As Chief Judge of that court is sufficient to assure him of re-election.

George R. Rasin, of Kennedyville, candidate for Judge of Orphans' Court, is a retired farmer and has served one year as judge in that court having been appointed to succeed Judge Groves, which experience fits and entitles him to election to that office. He is one of Kent's best citizens and familiarly called "Dick" Rasin.

Harry Stavely, of Fairlee, is a candidate for Judge of theOrphans' Court and recently named to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge J. Henry Thompson. Mr. Stavely has spent his entire life as a farmer and is regarded as one of our best agriculturists. He is a man of good judgment, honest and well equipped for a judge of the Orphans' Court, and deserves the support of the Democratic voters of the county.

IT WAS with some feeling of regret that we realized that Chief Judge William H. Adkins was sitting as Judge in this Court this week for the last time. His term expires in December.

Judge Adkins, who has reached his 72nd year, first came to the bench of the Second Judicial Circuit Court in 1906, appointed to fill the unexpired term of Associate Judge William R. Martin, of Easton. He completes the fifteen year term for which he was elected next month.

Two years ago, when he reached the retirement age, 70, he was permitted to complete his term by special act of the Legislature. Under present laws such an extension can not be given in the future.

He will be succeeded on the bench by W. Mason Shehan, since he will have no Republican opponent.

THE NEWS congratulates the Court upon its consideration for the taxpayers and also in its recognition of the daily activities of the jurors in relieving them when possible. The Grand Jury with Clarence Newsome as foreman did efficient work in completing their labors within two days.

KENT COUNTY Democrats are encouraged each day at the prospect of victory November 6th. The registered vote shows a Democratic majority of over 2,000!

HE DOESN'T UNDERSTAND DEMOCRATS

A large part of the sob story sent out over the air by Mr. Harry W. Nice, Republican candidate for Governor, on the night of October 8th, and repeated since, was a frank and brazen appeal for party disloyalty on the part of the Democrats of this State. In a voice tremulous with grief over the supposed sufferings of the people of Maryland because of "the long continuance in office" of Governor Ritchie, he appealed to the supporters of Dr. Conley for the Gubernatorial nomination to refuse to abide by the results of the primary into which they and the supporters of Governor Ritchie entered in good faith in the settlement of a family difference; and to support him and his associates. One wonders what plea for support he would have made to the supporters of Governor Ritchie if Dr. Conley had been nominated. On the theory upon which he asks for himself and his party associates the votes of those Democrats who supported Dr Conley, he himself cannot logically expect the votes of those Republicans who boted for Senator Goldsborough and Mr. R. Webster Smith. His appeal proves that he doesn't understand Democrats.

Without considering the outstanding quality of service which Governor Ritchie has given the people of Maryland, all this talk of Mr Nice and other Republican spellbinders about Governor Ritchie perpetuating himself in office, and thereby violating the State constitution, is bunk. They do not believe it themselves. If they have any sense at all they know that no man can peruetuate himself in office in Maryland. No State has a more intelligent and discriminating electorate, as, by and large, no State has had, in the last twenty-years, a better administration of its affairs. All that Governor Ritchie has done has been to offer himself for election and reelection against the best men the Republicans could offer--Nice, Armstrong, Mullikin and Broening. The people chose Ritchie each time, and by constantly increasing majorities. Why? Because after his first term they found Maryland forging ahead on almost all lines.

But, Mr. Nice may say. Ritchie was able to force his own nomination and the people had to choose between him and a Republican. Even if that were so, Mr.Nice might explain just what it proves. But as for Ritchie forcing his own nomination, it is not true. For the primaries were as open to any aspiring Democrat, in any previous campaign as they were in the one just held Therefore it ought to be clear to any sensible voter that it has been by votes of the people themselves that Ritchie has been and will again be continued in office, and not by any machinations of his own; and if actually the Constitution has been disregarded it has been disregarded by the people in whose interest it was drawn, and who must live under it, in order to retain the services of an able and incorruptible official.

Of This And That

Things Political.

Even before he delivered the splendid, but a little long, address in the Old Lyceum Theatre last Saturday night, Herbert O'Conor won the votes of the ladies gathered for supper in Emmanuel Parish House. A good-looker with manner to match, O'Conor swept the field before his older and more settled companions...He hit a popular note with me, too, when he dwelled at length on the subject of youth in politics, driving home the point that a mixture of youth and age is necessary to have a balanced representation.

W. S. Gordy, Jr., reminds me of the political orators I've read about in gooks, with his crackled voice, assurance and deliberate delivery. He still remembers, too, that it hasn't been so long since suffrage was granted to the ladies, and his speech was filled with salve for them...

George Radcliffe, both in voice and appearance, reminds me more of Randolph Hearst, the old flagwaver, than anyone else.

My roadside reporter came upon a curious gathering last Tuesday, at the Queen Anne's end of the Chester River Bridge. There. sitting on the running boards of four or five cars, was a group of ten or fifteen men; while on the bank in front of them—and holding their attention—was that old potentate of G. O. P. politics, Harry Nice.

This little highway conclave must have been in the nature of a council of war, for it occurred just prior to "Hairbreath" Harry's invasion of Chestertown and Rock Hall. Or maybe he was planning a back-to-soil movement.

We want to mention here that there's no truth to the rumor that, if the Democratic local ticket wins the election, slavery will be revived ...And we have found no foundation for the report that a Republican meeting was not held in Chestertown because of fear that a certain element of that party would monopolize the meeting place.

If we were betting on the best runner in the coming November classic we would place our fifty cents on Walter "Petey" Morris.

Congratulations are in order for John Carvil Sutton, for the superb manner in which he handled the chairmanship of the recently-held Democratic Rally...One of the defeated candidates in the Primary, John Carvil had the nerve to stand before the gathering and state that he was just that, but he could be counted upon to support the ticket. We always felt that he would, even though he had an idea that we were sniping at him in a recent column ...But we had others in mind, and they weren't candidates. John Carvil Sutton is an example to be held up before the friends of some other defeated candidates.

About Re-Baptism.

We have taken it upon ourselves to give considerable thought, at times probably when we could be doing something more profitable, to the problem of Chestertown's streets and the conglomeration of names which are appended to them. The confusion which we have seen experienced from time to time has led us to the conclusion that there ought to be a law, settling once and for all the real names of our thoroughfares.

As things stand now, Queen St. is Princess St. at one end, High St. is called Main St. and Front St.,College ave. is frequently confused with Washington ave., Water St. is designated by some as Front St., Cross St. trails off into Philosopher's Terrace, and Kent Circle is Kent St. and has a Canal running into it.

Now, all of this is confusing enough to citizens, who at times can't for the life of them tell just where they live, but to a stranger it seems like a fiendish desire to deliberately keep him guessing. Or, one might reach the conclusion that residents hereabouts are not proud of their roadways, in striving to tack on them sundry names.

We propose a convention, to gather in the local armory, composed of delegates from each street in town, and presided over by Mayor and Council. Of course Marion deK. must be present. This gathering will receive submitted names, and once and for all settle this street business by voting. Names can be secured by way of a contest, and a special baptismal ceremony can be held, with the assembled citizenry strolling from street to street while the town sprinkler furnishes the christening fluid for the ablutions. If this is not enough maybe we could arrange to crack a keg or two.

Alphonsa Harris, a respected colored woman, living in Fairlee, age 100, died on Monday, October 15th at 6 o'clock. Funeral was held at her son's home in Fairlee on Wednesday, October 17; W. T. Hicks, undertaker.

SELECT YOUR MORTICIAN
As You Choose a DOCTOR

Too many people are inclined to think of the mortician just as a business man. Too little consideration is given to his necessary qualications in embalming physiology, chemistry, physic, pathology, bacteriology, sanitary science and post mortem plastic surgery.

Few people know of the part played by the mortician in safe guarding the health of the public. Often at great personal risk, he takes the necessary steps to prevent the spread of disease. This vital service is recognized and appreciated by the medical profession and public health authorities. For your own protection you should select your mortician as you choose your doctor, according to his professional skill.
