A TEMPERANCE course, made mandatory in the public schools by the State Legislature, is being started in Minnesota this Fall, according to the New York Times. The drys concentrated on writing the requirement into law when repeal of prohibition was passed by the Legislature last January, and, as a result of their efforts. the Liquor Control Act specifies that the Control Commissioner shall assist the State Department of Education in preparing a course showing "the effects of alcohol upon the human system, upon character and upon society." The course is to be studied by pupils in connection with their health or hygiene course. It will be taught from the seventh grade to the senior year of high school. It deals with the subject in relation to personal and public health, individual and group responsibilities for social efficiency and social progress, and individual and community safety. Personal abstinence is to be held up as desirable, and the purpose of the temperance movement in America is to be explained. The course will require about ten hours of class-room work a year.

Lambert P. Kirby of Chestertown formerly employed by the Standard Auto Supply has accepted a position with the B. F. Goodrich Company of Staunton Virginia. He will take up his duties Monday morning.
