OUR CANDIDATES!

FOR PRESIDENT

BENJAMIN HARRISON,

OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

WHITELAW REID,

OF NEW YORK.

THE Philadelphia Press in commenting on the Democratie platform as framed for ex-President Cleveland has the following pertinent remarks on the subject.

"No one claims to-day that the revenue is larger than Government needs. Democratic appropriation bills passed by a Democratic House require all of it. The entire revenue from customs, $219,000,000 last year, is all protective. Tea, coffee and sugar are free. The only possible way of revising the tariff as proposed by the Demoeratic platform on the line of President Cleveland's message is to remove duties from articles manufactured here and put them on tea and coffee, both of which pay heavy duties in England, and on sugar.

Such a change would disturb and derange the conditions under which all the manufacturing of the country is done; and it would make tea, coffee and sugar dearer to every consumer. It would shake the credit of every manufacturer, and increase the cost of living to every laborer. And this is the revenue reform which the Democratic party has accepted as its national policy.

THE record made by the present board of County Commissioners in making the new levy for the present year is one that will be hard to beat. With a shortage in the taxable basis of $37,551 from that of last year, upon which to raise the required amount of funds for county expenses they have not only kept the tax rate at 92½ cents, but have increased the appropriation for public schools $1,000; giving the trustees of the poor $200.00 more than last year; appropriated $550 for new book shelves for the Clerks office, (a permanent improvement that can be removed at any time into another room;) provided for the digging of the new well at the jail costing $575 besides providing for the usual expenses of the county.

THE colored people deserve much credit for the manner in which their grand celebration was conducted on the 4th. It has been estimated that fully 1,000 people were in attendance and notwithstanding this vast crowd the best of order prevailed throughout the day, very little drunkenness was seen and only one man arrested. The music furnished by the band secured was of an excellent order, and the parade was interesting and pleasing to see. We have heard nothing but complimentary refferences of the whole affair.

AS EARLY as 1719 the English Parliament declared "that the erection of any manufactories in the colonies tended to lessen their dependence upon Great Britain." In these later days these colonies do not depend to any great extent, upon Great Britain for manufactured articles, yet the same theory holds good. Which political party then, most favors the interests of the English? Which party has all the sympathy and encouragement England can give? Which is the party of national progress and indendence?

THE PEOPLES PARTY have nominated Gen. J. B Weaver, of Iowa, for President and Gen. J. G. Fields, of Virginia for vice President. The delegates followed the example set by the two old parties in their nominations General Weaver having been before the people as a candidate for the presidency on the Greenback Labor ticket in 1880.

IT is said by those who know, that there was not enough enthusiasm left in the old straightout Democratic party in this county to ratify the nomination of Cleveland, consequently the "kickers," as they are called, took the matter in hand, hence the call for the Democratic Ratification meeting. Are the straightouts going to surrender to the "kickers?" It looks that way.

THE Free Press informs us that the "Silver States" will vote for Cleveland. The silver plank in the Democratic platform then, means Free Coinage. Why did'nt the Democratic National Convention have the courage to say so?

THE boys will whoop it up for "Cleve and Steve," at their ratification meeting but they will find it takes votes to elect them.

WITH the Peoples party, the Prohibition party and the two old parties, this campaign will be a kind of a four cornered affair.

JUDGE GRESHEM refused to be the candidate of the Peoples Party.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 4th, 1892

The President goes on in the even tenor of his way, just as if the passage of the Stewart free coinage bill by the Senate had not thrown Congress into what might almost be called a panic. If he is worried even a little bit over the situation he does not show it. The situation in the House is at present chaotic, owing to the absence of so many members and the uncertainty of getting them here. The telegraph wires have been kept hot since Saturday by both friends and opponents of free coinage, and a good many members have probably had their Fourth of July plans sadly disarranged by an impressive summons to come to Washington at once.

The free coinage bill will be taken from the Speakers table to-morrow and be referred to the committee on coinage, which will hold a meeting on Wednesday, and will, it is expected, immediately report the bill favorably. Then the music will begin, and if the Republican members are all in their seats it is believed that they can easily become masters of the situation and dictate the action of the House. Both Silver and anti-silver menare threatening to block all the appropriation bills if it becomes necessary to win. Mr. Cleveland has been appealed to by the anti-silver Democrats to bring his influence to their aid, but it is doubtful whether he will dare to do it.

The situation is such that the President may have to abandon the idea of accompanying Mrs. Harrison to the Adirondacks the last of this week, as he had intended doing. Only one of the regular appropriation bills has been sent to the White House yet, and if the silver fight begins before the others are disposed of no one can say when the rest of them will get there. Congress is not in session to-day and the breathing spell is a very welcome one to the contestants; it gives them a chance to maneuvre for position.

So many contradictory stories have been told about the attitude of ex-Chairman Clarkson, of the Republican national committee, towards the organization of that committee, that it is a pleasure to give his real position in his own words. "I came to Washington," he says, "fully determined not to accept the chairmanship of the committee, and I so informed the forty members of the committee who voluntary tendered me their support. Mr. Campbell, the new chairman, has been my personal friend and colleague on the national committee for years, and knowing him to be a master in poltical details and thoroughly competent to make a successful chairman, I joined with other friends in urging him to accept the place, after he had several times declined it, and at last he did accept. No man has ever assumed the chairmanship of the Republican national committee with larger or better qualfications than he possesses, and the party can have implicit confidence in his ability, his judgement and discretion, his fidelty and his power to do his part to command success. Mr. Carter, the Secretary, is qualified for eihter chairman or Secretary. He is a discovery in politics, and the best politician in the United States of his age. The combination of Campbell and Carter is as strong as the party could provid,e and they are worthy of the enthusiastic and constant support of all good Republicans. The ticket this year is worthy the support of every man who has a trace of Republican blood in his veins. Mr. Blaine was the first man to speak to the country after the ticket was nominated to urge all Republicans to join in its support. The party in all its factions can do so with honor and self respect, and I shall cheerfully do my part in whatever way I can bear a hand." There is no uncertainty about this, nor is it the language of a sulker. Mr. Clarkson has agreed to serve as a member of the executive committee, and it is probable that he will have control of the campaign in New York.

The President sent another message to Congress on the Canadian waterway question, in which he tells of the failure of the Canadian Government to befog the question and insists that prompt retaliation is necessary. Senator Davis' joint resolution authorizing the President to retaliate has been favorably reported to the Senate and will probable be take up and passed this week.

Wanamaker's.

PHILADELPHIA, July, 4th, 1892.

Navy Blue and White.

The favorite Dress Goods color combine. Almost a craze Here the stuffs are in handsome heaps—hair-line stripes

narrow stripes
polka dots and figures in Canton Cloths (12½c). Brandenburgs (20c) and Sateens (20c.)

Take Canton Cloths. A counter and cascaded with them. Blue—the deepest, richest indigo; white—clear as ivory. The combination strikingly beautiful, and such as will make up into the dashingest of Outing Dresses.

Many of the Cotton Dress Goods are at less than half the early season price; many more are near to half. Six reminders 40c Anderson Ginghams (David and John), 18c.

50 and 60c Novelty Scotch Ginghams, 25c.
50 and 60c Novelty Scotch Crepes, 18c.
25c Hemstiched Organdies, 15c.
25c Yankee Novelty Ginghams, 12½c.
12½c Linden Finish Chambray, 8c.

Dozens more that may be quite as interesting to you.

18c Half-wool Challis.

Quality, style, beauty and modest prices are working hand in hand for this charming stuff. The thread, the weaving, the designs, the printing are away above the level of what you expect in an 18c Challis. Still a good assortment of the red grounds with small black figures.

Linen Finished Chambray

Wanamaker's.

One of the best 12½c Cotton stuffs of the season in both quality and style. We never before heard of a yard at less than 12½c. It's another triumph of grand retailing that brings this silkily-linen-like Cambray to you at 8 cents a yard!

Five handsome Jacqurad patterns—polka dots, polka dots and chevrons, diagonals, vine stripes, lace stripes—in five of just the colors that everyone is apt to want in a Chambray.

navy blue gray light blue pink brown

Crinkly Crape — genuine Scotch. In polka dots, plaids and stripes. 18c, has been 50 A lovely stuff for hot weather wear.

Being a Dress Goods remnant is to lose price-cast almost beyond reason. No help for it, though. We want to be quickly rid of every laggard length and that's why remnant prices are so little more than nominal. The odd length of Wool Goods right for Waist or Skirt will cost but a trifle.

Women's and Children's Suits and Wraps. Oftener that you think half the month-ago-money is enough to take your pick with.

Women's Dresses—

At $8, $10 and $12—Handsome White Dresses that have been up to $18, $25 and $36.

At $15—Women's Suits in a variety of rich stuffs, including some of the choicest of the season. Prices of some of them were up to $65.

Women's Outing Coats—

At $2—That have been up to $4.50.

At $3—All-wool, in navy blue, stone an tan.

At $3.50—All-wool, in navy blue, stone and tan. Seams all bound, handsomely trimmed.

Children's Dresses—

At $2.50—Misses and Children's White Dresses, all this season's styles and of this season's make. In the lot are Dresses that have been $7, $10 and $13.

Scotch Gingham Dresses in many styles, $2 for 4 to 12-year sizes; $2.25 for 14-year size.

Guimpe Waists at half and less early season prices.

Summer Coats for the Boys range from striped Cotton at 40c and Sateen at $1 to white Flannel, white pearl-striped Bedford Cord or Pongee at $3.50.

Blazers, 6 to 14-year sizes, $2.50—black and orange or red; white with red or blue.

Seven styles Wash Zouave Suits for the 3 to 8-year boy at $1.85 from $2.50 and $3.

Wash Sailor and Kilt Suits at $2.50 and upward.

48 styles Woolen Cassimere Norfolk Suits 4 to 10 years, go to the $5 line from $6.50 and $7.
