THE end of the Homestead strike is not yet apparent. The Carnegie company has secured many new workmen and state that the different departments can be filled as fast as the necessary repairs are completed. The workmen in the Duquesn Steel mill at Pittsburg went out on Saturday in sympathy with the Homestead men. They number about 780. The town of Homestead is now policed with a force of deputy Sheriffs and the Militia is simply held in readines in case of any new outbreak. Notices have been served on a number of the idle workmen to vacate the companies houses, and as this is in conformity with the leases under which they hold them they will have to move, to make room for other workmen. On Saturday Mr. H. C. Frick, the superintendent of the works, was assaulted in his office and seriously wounded with a pistol and knife. The assassin was arrested and gave his name, as Bergmann, and his home as New York. He is about 21 years of age and came from Russia about six years ago. It is thought he is an Anarchist, and was sent from New York, although he denies that anyone save himself is responsible for his actions. When arrested he had a small dynamite shell in his mouth, and had to be choked before he would give it up. The advisory board of the strikers have passed resolutions condemning the wounding of Mr. Frick and tending their sympathy. It is thought the strikers are clear of any connecteion with the assault. At last reports Mr. Frick was improving and there is little doubt of his recovery.

THE Domocrats of the county are organizing their clubs and making considerable preparation for the campaign. Harrison carried the county four years ago and our Democratic friends have this to overcome before they wheel the county into line for Cleveland. Of course the Republicans will not oppose their arrangements?

THERE seems to be no lack of Congressional timber in this district among the Republicans P. L. Goldsborough and Dr. W. A. Smith, of Dorchester; Geo. M. Russum, of Caroline; T. S. Hodson, of Somerset; B. F. Parlette, of Talbot; C. T. Westcott and Col. W. J. Vannort, of Kent, are among those prominently mentioned.

IT IS very gratifying to all American citizens to know that the assassin who attempted to kill Mr. H. C. Frick is neither an American laborer or a native American. Such deeds are not looked upon with the slightest degree of toleration in this country.

AN exchange says the probable cause for the dullness of the season at noted watering places, is the difficulty people experience in mortgaging their property for enough to pay their hotel bills.

THE President has issued a proclamation declaring October 21st, the 400 anniversary of the landing of Columbus, a National holiday.

Prohibition Papers and Speakers not Such Maligners of the Post-Office Department After all.

Messrs. Editors.

There appeared in the columns of THE AMERICAN UNION recently a communication charging certain Prohibition papers and speakers with misrepresentation of the Post-Office Department in alleging that in many instances Post-Offices were kept in saloons. The communication was supported by a letter from the 1st Asst. Postmaster stating that the Department knew of no instance of the kind and that whenever information of any such violation of the Postal Laws and Regulations was sent to the Department the necessary action for remedying the trouble would be taken. Whether the communication referred to was aimed at the undersigned or not I cannot say, but I did recently publicly make such a charge and I did so upon the authority of The Voice in which I had seen the fact stated and supported by the publication of a long list of such Post Offices. I therefore communicated with the Voice to know whether my statements were true and among other letters confirmatory of the charge I received the following from one of the patrons of a Post-Office in question. I omit all names for the present not knowing whether the author of the letter would be willing to have the contents of it made public over his signature. The letter reads as follows:

TO REV. GEO. W. TOWNSEND,
DEAR SIR:

In the issue of the Voice of July 21st I see a letter from you asking is it true that Post Offices are located in saloons. The Postoffice at this place is in a building where liquor is sold. I went to Washington and appealed to Wannamaker in person, he was very polite but handed me over to Clarkson the 1st Asst. Postmaster, he sent an inspector down here and that man said that "when it came to a choice between a Democrat and a saloon the saloon would get the P. O. every time." of course there was no choice made. My little boy hates to go for the mail and sometimes comes home without it because he is afraid to ask because of the drunken men in there. I could tell you more on this line and will answer for the truth of what I have stated. Our P. O. is badly attended to and in an inconvenient location. The store where we want it is convenient for all, it was well attended to when there but the store keeper when he votes does so with the Democrats.

I do not wish to make false chages and am ready to retract the charge I made when convinced that I am in error. I am not yet so convinced.

GEO. W. TOWNSEND.

Nominated by the President.

The President sent to the Senate on Thursday last the nominations of the Hon. Andrew D. White of New York and of A. Loudon Snowden of Pennsylvania to be envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary to Russia and Spain respectively.

The President also sent to the Senate the following nominations:

Truxton Beale of California (now Minister-resident and Consul-General of the United States to Persia) to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Greece, Roumania and Servia.

The following to be consuls of the United States:

John A. Barnes of Illinois at Chemnitz; Darley R. Brusk of South Dakato at Messina; Cyrus W. Field of New York at Brunswick; Carl Bailey Hurst of District of Columbia at Catania; Charles August Vortriede of Ohio at Horgen.

Delaware Dashes.

—Eleven hundred and forty-three car loads of perishable freight were shipped over the Delaware Railroad the past week.

—James McCloskey, of Wilmington still lives, notwithstanding the fact that he has four bullets in his head, two of them in his brain. His victim, Mabel Claringbould, whom he jealously tried to kill before placing the pistol to his own head, is rapidly improving.

—John M. Stevens, who resides near Frankford, one day last week found a patridge in his grass field hovering over a young chicken which she had decoyed away from its brood. When it was taken away from her she fought for it as though it were one of her own brood.

—The Delaware Iron Works at New Castle, which have been closed since July 2, will not start up again until next week, when all the repairs will have been completed. The 600 or 700 idle employes are taking advantage of the holiday for their vacations, and many of them are out of town with their families.

—The Maple Valley Trotting Association has decided to enlarge the capacity of its grand stand at the kite shaped track at Kirkwood, so as to be able to accommodate 5000 people. These improvements will be completed by August 20th, when it is expected to have Direct and Hal Pointer to go against each other.

—Two hundred tons of coal were dropped into the bay at Luce & Brother's fish pier, at Lewis, on Wednesday afternoon last. The schooner H. W. Laws was discharging a cargo of coal at the pier when the coal bin gave way, carrying the derrick with it and dropping all the coal except about two tons into the water.

—A cow owned by Joseph P. Moore, at Deeny's Corner, a few days ago gave birth to a healthy heifer calf with but one nostril on the tip of the nose, the other one being located inside its mouth. It breathes through both but keeps its mouth open. It drinks milk heartily from a bucket but when it attempts to suckle the cow it strangles.

—Rev. A. N. Relgwin, pastor of the West Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, recently preached a sermon in which he expressed his belief in the prediction that in 1897 the Jews would be restored to their country, and build the temple in which Christ will enter at his second coming. According to this view the end is approaching and the world had better hurry up in order to be ready for the reception of their savior.
